BOULDER

DEDICATION

After devoting thirty-seven years to Houghton, Professor Gary Baxter is concluding his final semester as a ceramics and sculpture teacher. Baxter has been an essential presence in the art building, spending countless hours not only teaching classes, but mentoring and encouraging students. Both art majors and non-majors have benefited from his ability to articulate the artistic concepts in an accessible way, critiquing and advising with kindness and humility. His deep appreciation for art overflows into his students. Many have also had the opportunity to get to know Baxter in a more personal way through the wood kiln firings he has held at his house; there, they not only get to participate in the unique experience of a wood firing, but Baxter's hospitality, homemade apple cider, and subtle sense of humor. Even as Baxter journeys on from Houghton, he has left a lasting impact on this school and his lessons will live on through the lives he has touched.

-Rachel Zimmerman & Christina Mulligan '18

"I always looked forward to ceramics class because I knew that I would be able to gain so much more than how to make a bowl or mug. In his kind and humble way, Gary Baxter taught me how to not only see the beauty in the world, but how to use art as a platform for my own faith and interests. His kindness and dedication to teaching will truly remain with me for the rest of my life."

-Samantha Moore '20

"I've had ceramics I and II with Baxter. Although ceramics isn't my focus he's made me feel at home in the ceramics studio from day one. He's always there to help, encourage, and grow the students in his classes, always there for advice. He's so wise and experienced in ceramics that there is never a question that he can't answer. Baxter is the reason I've taken ceramics here at Houghton and I'm so glad that I did. And not only is he an amazing professor, he's also an amazing artist. I admire his beautiful pieces and unique work, every time I walk by his office there is another piece that I am inspired by. Houghton has been so lucky and blessed to have Baxter here and we will all miss him greatly."

-Abigail Taylor '19

GARY BAXTER -- ART PROFESSOR AT HOUGHTON COLLEGE FROM 1979-2018

"I have grown from thinking a cup is just something you put a beverage into. Now I understand that each piece has a life of its own. I see the value in the relationships between the rim, the base, the handle, the wall thickness, and I understand how some glazes "speak" differently on different forms. I owe this all to professor Baxter. He awakened in me a love for ceramics..."

-Emily Stowe '20

"It has been a pleasure being a student of Professor Baxter. He is a calm and kind presence in and out of the classroom. Professor Baxter has led many, including myself, to a love of ceramics. He encourages students to explore clay in many different ways, starting by showing us the basics and then allowing us to explore our individual interests deeper. A highlight of my fall semesters at Houghton has been going to Professor Baxter's house for the annual apple cider pressing that he invites the art students/faculty and other community members to. Professor Baxter actually showed us how to make cider and let us help in the process. The pressing is always a great time of fellowship."

-Amanda Carl '19

"In the short year that I've had Baxter as a professor he's been able to impact me as an artist more than I could have ever imagined. He talks about the clay in a way that makes it seem alive. I think this is what is so special about how he teaches ceramics. He's been able to give students such a wide variety of experiences including stocking a wood fire kiln and the infamous cider pressing both held at his house every year. Yes, it makes me sad to see him leave but I am comforted by the thought of all the students Baxter has impacted over the years."

with your English and/or creative writing degree you'll say: Continue my bookish examination of the contradictions and complexities of human motivation and desire; or maybe just: Carry it with me, as I do everything that matters. And then smile very serenely until they say, Oh." --

Cheryl Strayed, Tiny Beautiful Things

"For through the law I died to the law so that I might live for God. I have been crucified with Christ and I no longer live, but Christ lives in me. The life I now live in the body, I live by faith in the Son of God, who loved me and gave himself for me. RESIDENCE LIFE

Gillette Hall

Gillette is the largest residence hall on campus. It was once known as East Hall, and was built in different sections, which makes for the most diverse rooms in any hall. Gillette used to be the center of campus, with many central offices located within it. It is still a 'campus center' of sorts with many residents and friends hosting Bible studies, parties, and study sessions throughout the building's many lounges. This year, we celebrated new residents with Radioactive Women, Thanksgiving with Gillette Thanksgiving, and our spring semester with Gillette Gala. These three events form the three pillars of Gillette identity, but we have many other programs organized by RAs and RDs including our Secret Sister program, Coffee Cart, and Coffee & Tea with the (A)RD. Gillette's size and history make it a powerful place for strong women to learn and grow together. - Rebecca Firstbrook '18

Lambein Hall

Lambein is the home of over 100 lovely ladies. We have scientist, athletes, poets, future teachers, and much more represented in our residents. When walking through the halls, movie night, study groups, baking parties, and spontaneous hall conversations can always be found. We have a strong love for Irma, who our building is named after, and Otis, our fearless elevator who helps our residents climb to the 6th floor which just happens to be the tallest floor in Alleghany County. We highlighted our building this year by doing Irma's Country Fair as a campus-wide event complete with pets, games, and a chili cook-off. Ending our year, we have the Irma awards to highlight some of the spectacular residents we are so lucky to have. As we like to say, Lambein for life. -Jessica Robinson '18

Rothenbuhler Hall

Roth is sort of like Narnia: you go through a door expecting one thing and you end up getting something far beyond your expectations. Everytime us Roth guys walk into Roth, we're not just walking into a building, we're walking into adventure and late night talks with our brothers. We're walking into an abode with a character that breaths, hums and buzzes differently from floor to floor. When we walk into Roth, we're walking into fellowship and safety. When we walk into Roth, we're walking into the definition of Quirky and I guarantee you, the Men of Roth wouldn't want Roth to be any other way. Besides, have you ever heard of a home that doesn't have a few quirks here and there - they're what makes home, home.

-Mason Sebian '19

Shenawana Hall

Shen is a home to men of many different interests and talents, but the bond of brotherhood is what brings these lives together like no other.

May it be cheering in Shen Bloc or sharing an IBC rootbeer, Shen brings the excitement and energy. That excitement is really what brings people together - it's easy to let yourself get pumped up when you're following your Shenanigans and keeping the beat. When you're in Shen, you can expect lots of laughter and fun shared between freshmen and seniors alike.

-Jared Hobson '20

Townhouses

"Life in the townhouses is really special. It's like living in a neighborhood, surrounded by your best friends. I have really enjoyed my time in Hazlett and all the memories made with close friends over the past two years. Being on staff in the townhouses has also been incredible. JL Miller is an awesome RD! I'll never forget learning and growing in the townhouses with the people I love most."
