Editorially Speaking . . . "...our laurels...

The gun goes off. From a crowded position the four runners spring to their feet and are off like the wind. Excitedly the spectators argue among themselves as to the outcome of the four-miler.

The Alpha fellow starts fast and is already far in the lead. His stride is long, his pace is rapid, but only time can tell whether he is able to endure to the end.

The Beta runner is harder to follow. At first he starts in a spurt of speed, but then he appears to be slowing down, catching his breath. Look! Suddenly he steps up again and darts ahead in another spurt. Gamma City doesn't seem to be making such a good showing. Their entrant is straggling behind. He looks as though he were out enjoying a summer walk rather than participating in a test of speed and endurance.

Dean Brandt preached at the Baptist Church in Cherry Creek Sunday morning and showed "Mr. Texas" at Refresher Course straggling behind. He looks as though he were out of the year, but now that sunny weather is here, we are inclined to rest upon our laurels, and by so doing, we run the risk of lagging far behind.

Last of all comes the trackman from Omega. His pace is even and steady. His eyes are set straight ahead, but he is by no means out in front.

Round and round they run, then come tearing down the home stretch. The last mile has been completed, and the faces of the spectators are filled with amazement. Three of the runners are abreast, trying for a place and for some of the honors presented to winners. One person, however, is out in the lead. The tape is broken and the winner declared. He is not the Alpha racer, the fellow from Beta nor even the Gamma City entrant, but yes . . . the Omega trackman. His steady, consistent, even plodding has won the race for him.

We students are now thundering down the track; that last mile is now being run. Our goal is graduation; our prize, the diploma for which we have worked so long and so hard. Just as in the race, only the person who conscientiously and consistently keeps up his studies until the end will reach his goal.

Then again, too many of us work only when the mood is upon us and, like the fellow from Beta, we go ahead in uneven spurts. But again, we will get nowhere at all at this inconsistent pace.

Our Gamma City boy really had to pour on the steam at the end of the race in order to catch up with the crowd, and it was only by a superhuman effort that he managed to do this much. But this result can by no means be guaranteed.

Let us, as the Omegan, be true to our studies, despite the beautiful weather and frequent cases of so-called spring fever.

Yes, we are coming down that last stretch; we are running that last mile. Let us endeavor to be constant to the end, therefore, so that we may at long last achieve our goal of success.

Nationally Speaking . . .

Each year the Houghton Church sends its pastor to the convention of the National Association of Evangelicals as its representative. The meeting at Cincinnati this year was one of great inspiration and challenge. The day sessions met in the Sheraton-Gibson Hotel, while the evening meetings were held in the Taft Auditorium. Representatives were present from all over America. Dr. Paul S. Rees, their efficient president, did an excellent job of

I observed that there was a glorious spirit of unity. High churchmen mingled with low churchmen, Calvinists and Arminians ate together, doctors of philosophy and factory workers sang from the same hymnal, professors of theology and mission workers spoke in the same service. Their disagreements were incidental. Their agreements were fundamental and central. The basis for this unity is the evangelical position on the Word of God. All groups and persons affiliated with the N.A.E. accept that Word as authoritative. This is the uni fying principle.

I observed a positive approach to every situa tion. I cannot remember hearing anyone speak negatively. Rather, one came home with the feeling that this group 'knew Whom they had believed" as well as what they believed and why they were Among the highlights of the convention were the messages by Jacob DeShazer of Japan, by Dr. Bob Pierce who reported on the movement of the Holy Spirit on foreign fields, by Dr. Paul Rees in his presidential address, by Dr. Bob Shuler and by

As a direct result of Graham's message a T.V. artist - with whom Mrs. Reisdorph shared a T.V. program one morning - was converted and immediately renounced his $25,000 a year job. He is booked for a service here in Houghton on the evening of May 17 and he will give us his testimony at that time.

Houghton was well represented at the Convention: Dr. and Mrs. Reisdorph, Rev. Everett Elliott, Dr. Paine, Dr. and Mrs. C. I. Armstrong and I were all there. This organization deserves our prayers as well as our support. I understand that President Eisenhower is working with the N.A.E. in sponsoring a nation-wide revival. Billy Graham is in the picture somewhere - perhaps as a speaker on a national radio and TV hook-up.

It was good to be there, and I left inspired and challenged to be a more efficient minister for the Master. My sincere thanks to the Church for making it possible for its pastor to attend.

This mild but uncomfortable disease, usually found in the early or middle teens, is called amorous illusionitis, or more familiarly-infatuation.

In its earlier stages, the symptoms are not easy to detect and may be attributed to other causes. The victim invariably develops a lack of interest in studies and an increasing in-ability to concentrate. He goes about in a rather uplifted mood and can often be caught smiling to himself for no apparent reason. He devotes a great deal of time to hair combing and expression improvement. He makes slightly irrelevant remarks during the course of a conversation, due to inattentiveness; frequently collides with objects and persons; and seems to gaze at length upon things not visible to the ordinary eye.
