A GLIMPSE AT THE FRESHMEN ATHLETES OF HOUGHTON

Rising Stars Found Among the Frosh

Last June through graduation the Purple and Gold each lost their Captains and the Purple lost the real backbone of their athletic team. The graduation of Fox, Miller, Lane, Kemp and Stevenson together with the fact that York is going to Asbury and McMahon to Canisius, leave the Purple side in a bad position so far as former athletes are concerned. At the same time the Gold will greatly miss their former Captain and all-round athlete, Everett Dyer.

Let these facts be as they may it is most encouraging to say that among the new students there are many promising athletes and at the present present it looks as though the Purple were a bit favored by fortune when the sides were divided. It is baseball that we are now chiefly interested in, so remarks will be chiefly drawn toward athletes who show promise in this sport. These Freshmen lads forced the old students into an uphill fight in order to win the old Students-New Students baseball game. This was a very promising starter.

The Purple have acquired in "Pete" Albro a real short stop and a good sticker; then there is "Germanium" VanSlyke a 200 lb "Babe Ruth", who can work in well at first or in the outfield. He has the reputation of being a hitter—that is what we want. In Wilfred Mein the Purple have a peppy little athlete, who will doubtless work in somewhere. Also there is Roderick Ayer Elmo Corsette, Francis Miller and William Todd, who show much promise and doubtless there are others who, as the various sports roll around, will win honor for themselves and the Purple.

However the Purple were not alone favored for I hear reports that the Gold have Philip Strom, one of the fastest infielders on the diamond this fall—he surely goes after the ball. Edward Dolan also promises to be a real ball player and Gordon Wilmont and Lloyd McGowan also promise to be of aid to the Gold. It has also been noted that the Gold have acquired a real comedian and possible cheer leader in Forrest Merrill. Perhaps he will prove to be to the Gold what Leon Hines is to the Purple—who knows?

There has been little chance to check up closely on our Freshmen as yet, so accept these notes as merely glimpses and watch for future developments—perhaps we have overlooked the best athletes in the bunch—time will tell.

AN EXPLANATION

In one of the articles of last week's issue of the STAR the statement was made that there are not quite as many students in school now as there were last year. This is apt to create a false impression, for there are to date more students enrolled than there were at this same time last year.

Professor Douglas Makes Discovery

Prof. Raymond E. Douglas, head of the Biological Department since 1924, while working for his M. S. degree at the University of Michigan this summer discovered the cure for coccidiosis in muskrats. This disease is a form of liver complaint caused by a protozoan animal similar to the parasite which causes coccidiosis in rabbits and chickens. Prof. Douglas, in collaboration with Dr. Woodhead of the Zoological department of the University of Michigan, found that lactose in the form of milk will cure this disease caused by an animal which he has named Esmeria fiberi. This protozoan form enters the body of the muskrat through the drinking water, Prof. Douglas discovered. This discovery is of great importance to the muskrat raisers of Michigan, where there are several hundred muskrat farms. The life of the animals is prolonged by the simple process of feeding them cow's milk.

Houghton College Represented in Fillmore Parade

Classes Enter Floats in Celebration

Six cars, gaily decorated with the colors of the different college classes represented the school last Friday in the Firemen's Day parade at Fillmore. The Seniors led the group of college representatives. Their limousine was occupied by President Luckey and four black-gowned Seniors. On the bumper of the car sat "Spider" Rathbun dressed in and surrounded by the Senior colors of crimson and black. Above the car floated the two large Houghton banners and several smaller ones. The Junior car with its flowing blue and white streamers followed. Their class banner was held aloft by two class members seated on the fenders.

The Sophomore car was equally attractive in light blue and white, with a bank of evergreen branches, interspersed with varicolored flowers on the back.

Lastly, but not least (in numbers) came three Freshmen cars, appropriately adorned in green and yellow, the first car piloted by "Frosh" Wright.

IN THE GOOD OLD SUMMER TIME ZUBER TOUR

Between the golden haze of summer days and the alluring pamphlets put out by those interested in tourists, "Eddie" Zuber '31 couldn't stand it to "plug away" all summer. So he purchased a—(three guesses)—right the first time, it was a FORD. I should have said "it is a Ford," for it still runs. Why, Eddie claims that the engine purrs like a kitten. If that is so, then I'm of the opinion that the poor little kitten has asthma. 'Nuff of such ridicule, I like Ferd's, and (as Prof. Wright would say) that's that.

Eddie started out in his Ford with his sister, Isabelle, and Ruth Van-

DR. WILLETT HOLDS REVIVAL CAMPAIGN

Services Well Attended

Dr. Willett closed the week of revivals Wednesday evening. Every service found the church well filled with earnest listeners. For so short duration unusual results were accomplished in the upbuilding of the spiritual life of Houghton.

SATURDAY EVENING

Saturday night found many too tired or otherwise engaged to attend the service at the church. But those who did attend were well rewarded. After a peppy song service and a special selection by Edith Stearns and Isabelle Hawn, Dr. Willett brought to us a driving message from Gen. 12:1: "Get thee out of thy country." Abraham is an example of marvelous obedience. God is calling each one of us to "get thee out of thy country"—that is the world of sin. The prayer of every one of us should be: "God take me in the bloom of youth and make me as big as you can in your cause and service." Is it yours?

SUNDAY SERVICES

Sunday morning at 9:30 a goodly number of students found their way to their respective class-meetings. This early half-hour is very inspiring and helpful. Many more should take advantage of it!

Those who do not attend Sunday School are missing something really worth while. Mr. Woolsey, our superintendent, is putting forth his greatest effort to make it boom. Are you doing your part by coming?

The service at the church was a combination of Revivals and Quarterly Conference. Dr. Willett read for the morning lesson Acts 4:1-13 using the last verse as his text: "Now when they saw the boldness of Peter and John, and perceived that they were unlearned and ignorant men, they marvelled; and they took knowledge of them that they had been with Jesus." Although Peter had been a coward in his early Christian life, yet after Pentecost he and John were so zealous for souls, they took on holy boldness and stood true for God. Today we so often pray for humility, patience, and meekness; but what the Church needs is men and women to pray for holy boldness. Dr. Willett gave an example of this boldness in his own life. When but a lad in school he helped a poor-old sin-sick soul to find his way back to God in a crowded railroad station.

Following this splendid exhortation Communion was served to eight well filled tables.

Sunday night the little church was crowded—the congregation included even cats. Spirited congregational singing and a vocal solo by Harriet Storms were the introductions to Dr. Willett's convicting and convincing sermon. His text found in Joshua 24:15 was "Choose ye this day whom ye will serve." Everyone must sometime make his choice—the time for that choice is today. There is no yesterday nor tomorrow with God. It is of the utmost importance that we make the right choice in the beginning of life in order that we may have no regrets later in life.

God gave Adam and Eve the power of choice, for he wanted man in his own image. We determine our own fate; God never forces us to choose the right. Why live below the level when God wants you to live up higher?

The spirit of God settled down in mighty power and four souls made their choice for God and the right. Truly Sunday was a good day in Houghton.

MONDAY SERVICE

Monday evening Doctor Willett delivered an inspiring message, portraying the three different types of character found in Christ's followers.

When Christ entered His Galilean ministry, He sought for disciples, who were men of the strongest principles, of the greatest courage, and of the best character. He wanted those who would follow whithersoever he went.

Disciples of this type were few. The majority made excuses in the attempt to postpone their Christian duty. One man desired to first go and bury his father while still another wanted to say, "farewell" to his household.

Christ is to-day pleading for followers. Will we accept Him, or will we make excuses?

When Christ demands our lives we must give them, or suffer the

PROFESSOR WRIGHT EXPOSTULATES ON STUDENT RULES

Shows Students Faculties' Viewpoint

Everyone realizes now that we have an active Student Council at work in our midst. A meeting of the entire college student body took place during Monday's extended Chapel period as the outgrowth of a lengthy session of the Student Council on last Friday afternoon. Professor Stanley Wright interpreted to the students the business of this meeting, and his interpretation may be summed up thus:

Problems which arise are often difficult to see from all sides. It is the work of the faculty, however, to see them thus, and each problem here in our college life has three viewpoints; that of the students, that of the church and that of the parents; also sometimes a fourth, that of the faculty itself.

Professor Wright then asked the question, "Why did you come here?" One of the current reasons is that education is furnished at a reduced cost, but why is that true? Because the church offers much toward the support of this institution. The pillars that induce this support, the obeying of these specific rules, must not be torn down.

The two main questions that arose in the meeting of the Student Council were concerning tobacco and association. The use of tobacco is viewed by the faculty now as it has formerly been viewed, and at present the rules in regard to association were made last spring. The second topic demanded quite a concentrated discussion, for it is apparently becoming quite a favorite course in which to major.

The greatest problem of law is the enforcement of law. The present method of carrying out the rules is, though not perfected, the best that has been found as yet, but suggestions along the executive line will be welcomed at any time. Two very much discussed rules at present are the ones which necessitate chaperones for girls in groups and signing out of town slips by the fellows. The faculty deem that these two measures are necessary as a protection for them selves against charges that might be brought by parents.

College is life in regard to respect for law and responsibility. The rules may seem exceedingly strict, but some students chose to come because of the moral standards that have been established through these rules, and therefore they should stand by them now. Parents, who send their children to school expect the authorities to exercise closer supervision than they themselves do at home.

There seems to be a lack of understanding of the proper relation of faculty and student body. If the students will recall ten years hence they will see that there were no more loyal or better friends than these men and women who constitute the faculty now.

"I will go the first or the second mile with a man in trouble, but the man who deliberately builds his house of trouble and walks into it gets no sympathy."

Collegiate Sam Says:

Hitch your wagon to a start! !

THE BEST FOUR YEARS

"To be at home in all lands and ages, to count Nature a familiar acquaintance, and Art an intimate friend; to gain a standard for the appreciation of other men's work and the criticism of your own; to carry the keys of the world's library in your pocket, and feel its resources behind you in whatever talk you undertake; to make hosts of friends among the men of your own age who are to be leaders in all walks of life; to lose yourself in generous enthusiasms and cooperate with others for common ends; to learn manners from students who are gentlemen, and character from professors who are Christians, this is the offer of the college for the best four years of your life."

—WILLIAM DEWITT HYDE.

A college education is one of the greatest advantage that a man may have, provided that it has been made up of the right elements, mixed in such proportions that he has not become unduly biased. One-sided personality may be caused by an over dose of any one thing. As President Hyde has so ably shown us, there are many things which go to make up a college education.

We who have been long at Houghton realize that college life has many sides. There is the scholastic side, which though of great importance, is not all that is to be considered. High scholarship is valued only in connection with good character. There are the spiritual, athletic, social and executive sides, which are all important. All should receive their proper consideration.

As we begin this school year, we should strive to do a year's work in a year's time and remember that the rule, "Put first things first," has led many good men to successful careers both in college and out in life.

HOOS HOO IN HOUGHTON

He is a soul of serious dignity. He is a leader holding more than one position of importance among his fellow students.

He has literary ability. Last but not least, he is noted for his eloquence.

"BE A SELF STARTER"

Be a self starter! Don't wait for the boss!
Roll up your sleeves and dig in!
The time you spend waiting will all be a loss;
You were made for a winner! Begin!

Be a self starter! Let other men wait
Until the boss tells them to go;
But you be the worker who sets his own gait,
If you wait on the crowd, you'll be slow.

Don't wait for the boss! Be the man in the lead!
The followers land on the shelves.
In shop and in office, the men that we need
Are the fellows who think for themselves.

The Open Forum

We read with interest the recent publication of an article in the Open Forum by a "verdant frosh". We note that the writer resorted to clever use of satire in reference to the rules, especially those of association. His satire is either tempered by humor or meant to perpetuate a joke on the rules of this institution. In either case we see that, as a representative of the freshman class, he is not contented with the association privileges.

Before anyone is in a position to comment on the rules of the school, it should be the legitimate thing to make oneself acquainted with some facts that they don't as yet realize. The "frosh" has been a student a little over two weeks—sufficient time we are to assume for anyone to make their decision concerning the rules.

We are aware of the fact that this column is one for all to express themselves, but still let it be remembered, "any fool can tear down, but it takes a wise man to build." Will such criticism seen last week build or even add to the value of any school?

For some reason this spirit of criticism—democratic in character we are to suppose—is prevalent. We hear much on the absurdity of rules, occasionally a virtue, and now we reach the acme when a frosh, two weeks in Houghton, tells of things we apparently didn't know.

We have had sufficient amount of criticism of that type as appeared in last week's Forum; why can't we have some constructive criticism? Is it not poor sportsmanship on the part of our critics who, on the one hand, are taking all the privileges of this school and yet are nothing more than chronic grumblers while they are here? Let us remember that as Houghton students we make Houghton what it is.

—A Houghtonite.

CELEBRITIES AT LAKE CHAUTAUQUA

Who said important people didn't visit Lake Chautauqua? While Theos Cronk '32 was at the Hotel Lebanon, Chautauqua Lake, New York, he was personally introduced to Henry Ford and Thomas Edison. Here's how it happened. Theos had become acquainted with the son of Mayor Volland of Columbus, Indiana, so when he needed a pull he had it.

A long line of people formed to meet Edison and Ford. But Ford with his love for young people, decreed that they shake hands only consequences. In surrendering ourselves to the Master we are not expected to measure our experience by that of some other Christian. Christ wants us just as we are, as he desires to mold our personal temperaments and peculiarities into individual Christian character.

Doctor Willett strongly urged each student to take on the Christian life right now, saying that today is the day of opportunity. Some students are likely to believe that their ambitions and plans will not permit them to be Christians. What a sad mistake! God's plans are always best.

TUESDAY SERVICE

The service opened Tuesday evening with a very inspiring song service. We were favored with a special selection from Mildred Stevenson and Harriet Storms entitled, "What Will You Do with Jesus?"

Dr. Willett then spoke from the text Romans 3:22, "Even, the righteousness of God, which is by faith of Jesus Christ, unto all and upon all them that believe: for there is no difference." He placed especial emphasis on the last part of the scripture, "There is no difference." God has no favorites. He deals equally with all men, judging the wicked king as severely as the sinful, common man.

Great learning will not count on that great Judgement Day. The Bible says, "God looketh upon the heart." If the educated man has a wicked heart he is more detrimental than the uneducated person. Literate men will have to face the same Judge on the same grounds as the illiterate.

WEDNESDAY SERVICE

Wednesday evening brought to a close the first Revival Service of this school year. This last service was a very impressive one. Before the song service that inspiring song "Marvelous Grace" was rendered by a double mixed quartet.

Christ commanded His disciples, "Tarry ye in Jerusalem until ye be endued with power from on high." Christ demanded those very men who lived with Him and who were taught by Him "to tarry" until they were filled with the Holy Spirit.

Young converts who walk in the light as God sheds it on their pathway will be led into the wonderful experience of Sanctification through faith.

In order to reach California one must cross the Rocky Mountains. In like manner in order to reach Heaven one must be Sanctified wholly. There is no other way.

Success has been evidenced in these meetings not only by a number of souls finding Salvation but also by a marked deepening in the spiritual life of the Christian students.

CHAPEL BELLS

Tuesday, September 24—

Dr. Willett spoke in Tuesday Chapel on that most important topic "character." He especially emphasized the fact that we are responsible for our characters.

"Character decides our destiny." If we build it well, we will receive the reward in eternity for Character is the only thing that one can take from this life.

Life is likened unto a building. The materials which one puts into this structure will determine the kind of a person that we become. Our impressions, emotions and thoughts have great effects on our character.

Many people build upon poor foundations. Some build on their ambitions. This would be excellent if their aims were only right. Napoleon's ambitions built for him his own scaffold. In exile on the lonely isle of St. Helena he had the time to reflect upon his selfish ambitions and to consider the result of his disregard for Christ. In thinking of that Perfect Man, Napoleon said, "Christ conquers with love, whereas I have conquered with force."

It is the duty of every student to build his character on the Christian ideal with Christ as the base. It is his duty to place his dependence on such an unfailing leader and Saviour.

FAREWELL CHAPEL
CHOOSING A LIFE WORK

Wednesday, September 25—

Rev. J. S. Willett, D. D. in Wednesday chapel, after expressing his sincere appreciation of the friendly cooperation of the Houghton Students, congratulated us for choosing a Christian institution in which to acquire our education. He told how we are making an investment in life of both time and money. The fact that we should become acquainted with the Bible, the greatest of all books, was emphasized. This book challenges every young man and woman. It is the basis of all true law and morality. He spoke of how this institution puts emphasis on service rather than profit. Our professors represent high ideals in life. Their personalities mean more to us than the lessons they teach.

In closing Dr. Willett left with us ten questions concerning choosing a life work. These he has collected from various sources:

1. Will the calling I contemplate give me opportunity to exercise my full powers?
 2. Will it afford me opportunity to grow and develop?
 3. Will it provide for the four-fold development of life—physically, mentally, spiritually, and socially?
 4. Will it provide a means of support for me and those who are likely to be dependent upon me?
 5. Am I willing to make necessary preparation for successful achievement in this vocation?
 6. Is this vocation already overcrowded or is the need great for workers in it?
 7. Are there any elements requisite for success in this vocation that would be distasteful to me?
 8. Do my friends think that I could succeed in this vocation?
 9. Is it a vocation in which I can engage with passionate love and devotion?
 10. Is it the calling that God would have me enter?
- How do you measure up to this criterion of success?

with the young folks, that the older folks would have to be content with a nod. Edison said nothing as he shook hands, but Ford said, "How do you do. It's a beautiful day." And Theos avers that those handshakes weren't the synthetic society kind, but real man-to-man ones. Theos' friend obtained their autographs. It must have been heart warming to have had the privilege of clasping the hands of two great men. If it had been raining "cats and dogs" that day; if I had been in Theos' shoes; and if Mr. Ford had remarked "Rather a bad day isn't it," I'm sure I would have fervently contradicted by saying: "Oh, but it's a marvelous day."

Theos also met Albert Stoessell, conductor of the New York Choral Club, who, while he is at the Lake, directs the New York Symphony Orchestra.

Dear Count;
How may I have more success in catching fish in the Genesee?
Isaac Walton

Dear Isaac;
Make the worms drink bootleg whiskey. They will grab the fish by the throat and choke them to death.

The Note That

Applesauce in its varied forms, colors and flavors and components remains the staple of diet in the dorm.

Though it may appear as sacrilege in the eyes of the Frosh, the grass needs cutting around the curbs.

Our famous gravel drives are still concentrated in a pile of the aforesaid material on the main thoroughfare of our campus.

The sprained ankle epidemic, which was so prevalent last year, has an early start this year.

The tennis back-stops have acquired a new suit of armor.

There are new lockers in the gym, especially adapted for parking vanity cases and other utilitarian objects.

Three-deep has received more than its share of casualties.

Students very willingly cooperated in advertising the school by using their class time in decorating floats. Some must have anticipated the new association rules.

The swimming pool has undergone a process of dry cleaning.

Bachelors' Paradise is again occupied by its founder.

A new steel bridge has been erected across the rivulet rambling at the foot of the campus, to replace the old swing bridge.
