HEAR YE! HEAR YE! "BOULDER" SPONSORS EVENING BROADCASTS

This is station R-O-C-K, your local ten watt station broadcasting at a frequency of once a day from studios located in the chapel on the third floor of the Old Ad Building and with transmitters located in the bell tower (just so you won't break your neck twisting it to gaze into the heavenlies to discover from whence the harmonic sounds emanate). We present for your listening pleasure and enjoyment your favorite Christmas carols and hymns. Ah-ah-ah! Don't touch that dial! Stay tuned in and catch the festive spirit of this joyous season.

Yes, a broadcast sponsored by the bigger, better, etc., etc., Boulder staff, will be presented each evening from 5:45 to 7:15 p.m. beginning Monday, Dec. 9, and continuing until vacation (now only 14 days, 2 hours, 3 minutes, and 17 1/4 seconds away).

Do you possess some good records of Christmas music you would lend the Boulder staff for use on their broadcast? Would you or your group volunteer to sing a special? Do you know the whereabouts of a good reading which could be used? In summary, do you know of any sharp ideas concerning talent or program material which you would lend us? If so, contact Connie Varney NOW! Don't delay! Let's add our bit to insure this season's being a truly joyful occasion.

P.S. Better dig up a dollar if you have not as yet subscribed for a '47 Boulder! Another subscription campaign begins Dec. 9. Have you bought yours? Better hurry while they last. A limited supply only. Don't delay, buy yours today!

Are You Insured?

Recent Fires Cause Local Excitement

Two fires which might have proved disastrous were it not for quick thought and action occurred on Monday, December 2. The first started in Hazlett's barn at 4 a.m. Monday morning. Darwin Cooper suddenly awakened to find his roommate, Leonard Adams, asleep in a burning bed. Waking Adams, Cooper attempted to beat out the fire.

It is not known definitely how the fire started. However, it is believed to be caused by a mouse gnawing on a box and action occurred on Monday, December 2.

The second fire occurred in the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Fulton at 3:15 on Monday afternoon as a result of an attempt to thaw out frozen water pipes.

Thanks to quick thought and prompt action, no serious damage was done.

College Band Makes Initial Debut In Benefit Concert

There Is A Reason - - -

For parking in your assigned place and in no other. All places on the campus are assigned to someone.

For not parking behind the gymnasium or on other portions of the campus lawns. The deep ruts already made will tell you why.

For not parking beside Gaoyadeo for more than a half hour. That place is meant to be left open for cars receiving and discharging passengers so that there will be no stopping below the crosswalk, where such stopping produces an accident hazard.

For not parking behind Gaoyadeo day or night. Trucks enter that area early and late. Employee cars are assigned there. Eyclers don't like to have their front door blocked.

For not parking against No-parking signs, or opposite the Infirmary, or in the highways. Reasons are obvious to the intelligent.

For requesting that town cars stay off the campus unless there is a real reason for driving them on. The space is needed for those from out of town. This applies at dinner time and in the evening as well as in the day. If there is not room in the regular parking spaces—Triangle, Bankside, Luckey Memorial, Markee, Music Building—then obviously some cars will have to be left at home.

We are counting on the spirit of co-operation, reasonableness, and fair play of drivers, particularly those without campus permits, to make it unnecessary to turn to any such drastic action as that employed by Canisius College last week—deflating tires of offending cars.

Features Butterworth, Enos And A Cappella Choir

The Houghton College Band, under the direction of Mr. Raynard Alger, will present its first concert in the College Chapel on Friday evening, December 6, 1946 at 8:00 o'clock. The Band is featuring Mr. Harold Enos as trumpet soloist, Mr. Donald Butterworth as tenor soloist, and the A Cappella Choir. The proceeds from this concert will go toward the purchase of band uniforms.

Students should note that the boys' basketball game will be delayed until nine p.m. to enable basketball fans to attend the concert.

DAVIES FORETELLS BRITAIN'S FUTURE

The Honorable Rhys Davies, British soldier and commentator, is the speaker for our lecture series to be held on December 13. His topic, "The British Revolution", is relative to the future of Great Britain.

In World War I, Col. Davies was awarded the Distinguished Service Order, and in the last war was decorated by King George with the Order of the British Empire and with the Legion of Honor by General De Gaulle of France. During the past four years he has kept his information up to date by visiting practically every corner of the British Isles, and making frequent trips to the battle fronts from the time of the first battles of North Africa.

He is featured regularly over British Broadcasting Company in a program combining the features of our "Information Please" and "Town Meeting of the Air".

LOST OR FOUND

It is only natural for human beings to lose things. And it is only natural for someone else to find the lost articles. Therefore, it is also very natural that someone should originate the old saying, "Finders—keepers; losers—weepers."

However, such a rule of life should not be in vogue in a Christian institution. Nevertheless, we sometimes wonder at the great number of lost articles which are advertised on the college arcade bulletin board, but which apparently are never found. It seems impossible that so many items could be lost and go totally out of existence in a place as small as Houghton.

Since the "lost and found" section of the bulletin board is maintained by the student council for our use, it is our duty to use it correctly and conscientiously.

If you lose something,—

1. Place the name and description of the lost article on the bulletin board "lost" department, along with the means by which the loser can be reached. A box number without the name is not sufficient.)

2. Consult the "found" section of the bulletin board to see if your lost article has been reported found.

3. Consult the lost and found department in the Gaoyadeo Dormitory office to see if your lost article has been turned in there.

4. When the lost item has been found, be sure to cross its description from the items listed as lost on the bulletin board.

If you find something,—just follow the above directions in reverse order. If you cannot find the owner of the article you have found, turn the article over to the lost and found department in the dormitory office, where the loser probably will seek his lost article eventually.

To most Houghtonians the loss of a fountain pen, a scarf, gloves, an umbrella, or a text book is a LOSS. Therefore, as members of a college "family", let us every one, continue to keep in mind the interests of all our fellow students, and do to them what we would want them to do to us.

B. L. J.

STRIKE UP THE BAND

Along with an enlarged student body, one of the things which has contributed to Houghton's school spirit during the past two years is the re-organized college Band.

To hear the Band at a basketball game surely must put "fight" (in the sense that it is needed in an athletic contest) into the players, and it most certainly stirs up the spectators to cheer with all their might for their teams.

However, the Band proved to us in a chapel program last spring that it is not only an organization which can play rousing, blasting music of the "football-basketball" variety. It proved to a thrilled audience that it is also a concert organization.

As far as talent goes, our band has it. But for appearance sake, the Band lacks band uniforms. Therefore, on Friday night, the Band, under the direction of Prof. Raynard Alger, will present an evening concert, the proceeds of which will go for band uniforms. It's our job as a student body to support the band members in this effort.

B. L. J.

Dear Editor,

The ace player of the Frosh basketball team, Dar Cooper, saved his roommate Adams and the other residents of the Palatial Barn from being cremated. At 3:15 Monday morning Cooper was awakened, only to find his roommate, Adams' bed "afire". Adams was sound asleep. Cooper immediately began to "beat the flame to death" with his little rug. Soon Adams realizing his bed was on fire—I imagine the beating he received helped awaken him—quickly hit the deck to aid in killing the flames. Within a few minutes the Palatial residents were up and in the fight. Out the window went the flaming mattress and bed clothes—out went the flaming curtains too. Cooper saved his mates, but it necessitated killing his "flame."

But seriously, we thank almighty God for awakening Cooper and keeping him in his usual cool headed state of mind. And seriously, too, there was no water in the "building", nor fire extinguisher, which, had the fire spread more quickly, would have been essential.

Moral: "Better to beat the flame"

Than have the flame beat you."

Dear Mr. Editor,

To my mind, Houghton College has gone all out in worshipping the "almighty dollar". Exorbitant prices are being charged by social committees and especially by organizations existing within the college that should be for the enjoyment of the student body, and not for their exploitation.

Specifically, the burden of buying uniforms for the band should not be imposed on the student body as a whole to the point of discouraging attendance to the band concert, but should be included in the school budget with contributions from the band members themselves—the ones who will use them.

There are those who have to count their pennies to attend Houghton. Let us, then, keep in mind the basic principles upon which this institution was founded—High in ideals, Fundamental in belief, and LOW in expenses.

(See editorial on the band. — Ed.)

It's Your Move

by DEAN BECK

An authority on good manners states that "In a man's clothes, form, not fashion, is the first consideration. His clothes must be correct, of good material, and beautifully tailored. Proper fit in a man's clothes is a subtle thing, difficult to describe but instantly recognizable. Probably no class of people whose profession is clothes has greater artists than the tailors who make men's clothes to order."

For business and ordinary occasions a man chooses a sack suit which consists of coat, trousers, and vest. Striking patterns and materials that are gaudy or suggest a horse blanket are not in good taste. (Reserve these for sportswear.) The shirt, socks, and tie may be bright in color if the trend of the time permits. The shoes are black or brown and are kept shined. At all times suits are to be kept clean and well pressed. Such an outfit is in keeping with the tradition of Houghton for Friday night dinners.

FIRST SNOW THRILLS EVERYONE - NATIVE AND NOVICE ALIKE

It snowed today! I've been looking forward to this ever since I came up north to college. It's the softest, fluffiest stuff, and it melts if you try to handle it, but the ground is all white with snow. And is it slippery! They tell me I haven't seen or felt anything yet, but I don't see how it could get much colder. . . .

It was a very ordinary first snow squall that hit Houghton the morning of November 22, but to a few students, it was more thrilling to have a first glimpse of real snow than to listen to the powerful chords of Ray Lev's concerto.

Dot McKie from Augusta, Georgia, tried making ice cream by sweetening some snow, but found it a little watery. Pat Haughton, from West Palm Beach Florida, where the temperature never goes below 40 degrees tried to catch the snow. Learning how to remain in an upright position on ice has been a problem.

Kikue Omine from Hawaii, and Nellie Carvajal from Colombia both think the snow is beautiful, but rather cold. "Kay" expected it to be "like shaved ice", and was delighted with its soft fluffiness. She has been boasting that she wasn't going to let the ice "get her down", but she was caught off guard last night and fell down in front of the library.

Everyone, natives and novices alike seem to be quite pleased that the snow has come at last, giving hopes of a "white Christmas."

Gone, ... but not FORGOTTEN

Back again for another week—

We received greetings from Mary Nocera, Faith Winger, and Sara Ruth Davis at Montrose School in New Jersey. They say, "Busy? You bet we are—but happy in His service. Thinking of you all..."

Frank and Helen Houser are still scurrying around New York City trying to find a room, while Frank goes to Columbia University. They are trying to find a trailer, that is, if they can find a place to park it. That seems to be the difficulty now. Good luck, Frank and Helen—hit the road but not too hard.

Shirley Coates, '46, is in Geneseo State Normal School doing advanced work in Library.

Lois Hardy, '46, and Ruth McCammon, '45, are taking their master's degree at Western Reserve in Ohio. Lois' flute teacher is the first flutist in the Cleveland Symphony Orchestra. Maybe you'll be the second flutist in the Cleveland Symphony Orchestra. You're welcome. Don't mention it again!

Barbara Van Dyke, '46, is helping Rev. Mr. Mabuce in Bath, N. Y. as pastor's assistant. Barb has charge of three choirs and teaches religious education in the church.

Ethel Boyce, also from the class of 1946 is acting in the same capacity as pastor's assistant in Penn Yan. Ethel also has three choirs and when asked about herself she said, as fast as she could (as usual)—"We're very happy but extremely busy." I told her I was interviewing her for the primary interest of the STAR, and to fill up my column, so she proceeded as quickly as she could to tell me volumes about herself. It reminds me of the time she and "South" Rhodes argued "how to make a chicken lay an egg"; if you wish, I'll continue a series of paragraphs each week with "Emphasis on Ethel"—Seriously though, Ethel, it was grand seeing you and Barb again—and we surely wish a few more alumni would drop in on us more often. Come on and see us again. We'll try to find room for you to sleep, but you'd better bring a sandwich because the dining room is very full, if you don't believe it, just come around.

SOPHS WIN, 43-35

The sophs won their fourth game in the row last week when they beat a strong prep school five, 43-35. After trailing by one point in the first period, the sophs took the aggressive and were not in any immediate danger from then on. Norm Walker started the scoring for the sophs with a two pointer, but Lennox, Knotts, and Nichols combined a bucket apiece to send the preps ahead 6-2. Iggy sank one and Walker tied it up with another. At the end of the first quarter the preps were leading 9-8.

The preps could score only five points in the next frame as the sophs were pouring in thirteen points to put them ahead 21-14 at the half. In the second half Beach started a barrage that kept the sophs ahead throughout the rest of the game. Lennox kept the preps in the game by sinking timely shots but could not close in on the consistent scoring the sophs. The high scorer of the game was Walker with a total of fifteen. Beach followed with twelve, and Lennox and Nichols led for the preps with ten points each.

Sweaters or tweed coats with matching or contrasting trousers are most acceptable for daily campus wear. Slacks and slacks suits are in the foreground of the gentleman's wardrobe for summer. In keeping with this attire, one wears gay-colored socks and tie.

To those in the middle class society where formal clothes of either full dress or "Tuxedo" are not necessary, some substitution must be made. On occasion such as weddings, dinner parties, banquets and concerts, a plain navy blue or black sack suit is acceptable. The linen (shirt and handkerchief) must be white and the socks black. Gloves, tie, and hat are of a conservative hue. (If you are interested in knowing the facts of full dress or dinner coats, read Margery Wilson, The New Etiquette, pages 122-333.)

Think on These Things

By JAMES HARR

Do we need a Prince of Peace? The December issue of Christian Life and Times says: "Only eight percent of the time since the beginning of recorded history has the world spent entirely at peace, according to official statistics. In 3,521 years, only 286 have been warless. Eight thousand treaties have been broken in this time." Quite a comment on our ability to get along together, and a definite condemnation of the reliability of our "peace-making machinery".

Hold that fast which thou hast: Rev. 3:11. The principle of these words is important. It is an admonition to avoid new and untried ideas, and an appeal to the individual to adhere to the dictates of his conscience. It is a call to evaluation and conservatism.

There are three things implied by this statement: first, the person addressed has definite ideas of his own; second, there are other ideas on the same subject; third, there is a danger that the addressee may exchange his ideas for others.

Young people are susceptible to change. There is a certain age when one feels entirely contrary to his background and to the things that have been instilled in his mind from childhood. Particularly is this true after several months of college life. New angles, novel thoughts, and different approaches to the old questions are appealing; and the appeal sweeps more than a few off their feet in a current of indecision. "The words of our mouths and the meditations of our hearts" sometimes do not parallel the views held by our friends, acquaintances, and yes, even our instructors. There is a tendency to look on the old with disdain and change to the new with delight. The "thus saith the Lord" may be replaced by the "thus saith my instructor" or the "thus saith my friend."

We are all human; therefore, we are all capable of fallacy. The best of us may have a wrong idea about a particular subject, and conversely, the least of us may have a good idea about the same subject. An idea of which a person is not convinced is not good enough to cause him to change. Yes, we all have an opinion about most things, and there are many opinions that run counter to ours. There is no reason, however, for forfeiting any of our own ideas unless we are thoroughly convinced that another is not only a better one, but that it is the true one. "Hold that fast which thou hast."

A honeysuckle vine and a bee can furnish at least one good lesson. Stand there by that vine someday in your leisure hours and watch that bee when he approaches the flower from which he wants to extract nectar. You hear him buzzing by overhead; you see him fly before your face; you watch him light on the hedge; you follow him as he flies around the bushes. From the bushes he wings up over the porch, and from there he ascends to the gable. He comes down and noses around the porch post again. Slowly he begins to edge over

F. D. Lombar Outlines Food Relief Project

In response to the requests of some Houghton students for a practical method of sending food relief to Europe, President Stephen W. Paine has taken up the problem with Mr. Frank D. Lombar, the Executive Director of the War Relief Commission of the National Association of Evangelicals.

President Paine reports that progress is being made. The War Relief Commission has found a suitable channel to Europe through the medium of the relief agency known as CARE. They have succeeded in getting parcels through to evangelical agencies in European countries, including the U. S., French, and British zones in Germany. The food goes out with a definite evangelical testimony and in the name of Christ. The Commission has also been able to make two shipments of soya multi-purpose food to China.

Mr. Lombar believes that the Commission can furnish Houghton College students with some definite project, such as a group of European students, a particular European village, or the like. He will supply this information to the school as soon as possible.

President Paine will attend a meeting of the Commission Friday, December 6, in Philadelphia, and it is possible that an objective will be arranged for Houghton students at that time.

CHRISTMAS TREES

The grounds Committee requests that Christmas trees shall not be taken from school property this year, nor from any property without the consent of the owner. (Trees may be ordered from the downtown stores). Those desiring branches for decorating will please secure them at least three-fourths of a mile from the campus; and will gather them in such a way that their loss will not be noticeable. Let's keep our countryside beautiful!

ATTENTION SENIORS

All college Seniors, who plan to teach and wish to register with the Houghton College Bureau of Appointments are requested to meet in Room S23, at 10:00 a. m., Monday, December 9.

toward the vine, and in the process he circles your head. Eventually he will single out a certain flower on the vine and gradually he will begin to circle it, first in big sweeps, and in due time in smaller ones. Without apparent anxiety he hovers meditatively over the flower, and finally, after much hesitancy, he lights on it and applies himself to the task at hand. You stand there watching him, with your feet apart, your arms crossed, and with an interested smile on your face. Then it strikes you! You snap to attention; you drop your arms at your sides; your face sobers. Then you relax and smile again, nodding your head in affirmation. ## ★ ★ Sportscriptions ★ ★

By CHUCK

What a shame! What a shame! That there is no sports news? Nay, never, but that Thanksgiving comes only once a year. Ah well, such are the things we must sacrifice to pamper our parents into believing that we are acquiring an education. I fear that many are trying to acquire this education through the process of osmosis; that is if their exposure to it for the last six years is any evidence of the fact.

However, turning to the most important phase of our educational program (sports), we find that the classes are beginning to show their real merit on the hardwood. The frosh, who were placed more-or-less near the bottom of the list at the beginning of the season, are showing some cage-cooperation that is surprising more than one team to a near defeat. Their allowing the seniors but two small points in their last tilt is good evidence that they are not going to quit until the very end. Their ball-handling is much smoother and of course it is to their credit and score to have the rather rough but sharp-eyed Dar Cooper as captain of their squad.

The sophomores have had their ups and downs to say the least. In the beginning, they were the big favorites but due to an "off night", they lost their first game to the "Bodies" and consequently lost their unearned title as the probable winners of the series. Then Harr Walker, former captain of the aggregation, had to drop from the lineup. This lowered the morale of the team considerably but made them determined to fight. The next three games told a different tale from the first as they won all three and are now out front in the series tied with the seniors.

The juniors have had a more-or-less mysterious and dramatic season so far, in that they have startled everyone in their ability to take a game from the favored with seemingly little ease; namely sophs. While their aggressors knock themselves out the "Bodies" quietly continue to drop baskets in from such points as the opponent's foul line, the balcony, the shower room and several other places that make for rather difficult and chancy shots. Despite this long-range bombardment of theirs, led by chief bombardier Claudio, the "Bodies" are sticking in there and making every game count for whatever its worth.

Lastly, the seniors, a toss-up favorite with the sophs, have proved their mettle by staying decidedly in the running. Jim Fenton and the big Dave Paine, making up the best guard combination of the four teams, have skillfully been working that ball into vet-cager Dave Flower and hawk-eyed Hank Brandt; the results have been self-evident. If a close zone bottles up the center on these two lads, it little bothers them for both seem to be using some sort of Norden method of finding the inside of that rim when shooting their set shots.

A surprisingly aggressive Prep school squad has come up into our midst to threaten every team that they have played and to defeat one. Foreign to the typical brand of High School ball we see played, these boys are working the ball smoothly and deliberately, setting up good plays and following through. Their "big" man is 6 feet, Max Nichols, who will undoubtedly be a big all-around asset to next year's freshman team.

As a closing paragraph, I thought that you would be interested as to how the classes stand respectively in the series as of December 2. Here it is:

Upperclass Women Trounce Frosh In Black Stocking League Contest

The senior girls racked up another win by outscoring the frosh lasses 42-17 last Friday night. After playing a rather close first half, the seniors, sparked by "Bloss" Thornton, swept away with the score. A 6-6 tie in the first period was broken when Peg Fancher sank a field goal in the next period. Krafts put in the only basket for the frosh in the second quarter as the seniors rolled up a 15-8 score at the half.

The second half was all seniors and they pulled away until they increased their lead to 31-15 at the end of the third period. The last period showed the seniors far ahead and still scoring as they piled up eleven points to bring the final score to 42-17.

Marian Thornton was the high scorer for the evening with twenty points. Krafts was next in line with thirteen points for the frosh. Fancher and Warren accounted for eleven and ten points.

The junior girls kept their winning streak intact by defeating the frosh girls, 37-11, last Wednesday night. Rhebergen and Panich led the scoring thrust of the juniors gaining a 22-5 lead in the first half, and adding fifteen more to that to win by twenty-six points. Edie Gibb scored the only point for the frosh in the first period as the juniors were chalking up nine points. The juniors went on a scoring spree in the second period gaining thirteen points while the frosh added four to their solitary point to make it 22-5. Doris Johnson scored five times in the second half for all of the frosh scores giving them a final score of eleven. Stush Panich led the scoring with eighteen points and Winnie Rhebergen followed closely with a total of fifteen points. Johnson was high for the frosh with eight points.

Frosh Flay Juniors To Gain Initial Win

The frosh men came through with their first win of the season when they beat the juniors 50-33, last Wednesday night. The juniors were pulled down in the cellar of the season's class standings when they lost to a high scoring frosh aggregation. Dar Cooper hit the cords for twenty-four points to lead his team to a victory. Scoring six field goals in the first half and six in the second, Cooper led in the scoring field with his twelve two-pointers. The frosh led throughout the entire game after taking the aggressiveness early in the first period. Playing without the service of the Hanley twins, the juniors revamped their lineup but to no avail, they could not close the lead. Caldwell kept the frosh ahead with his scoring in the second half, and Cooper kept up his consistent scoring to hinder the junior cause. Smith and Dingman were forced out of the game for the frosh with too many fouls, and Jim Harr was lost for the juniors.

H. S. Steals Game Despite Jr. Rally

The preps won their first game of the series last week by defeating the junior team 45-33, in a very close game. Coming up from behind, the preps made up eight points to tie and finally pass their opponents to lead all the rest of the game. This, the first win for the preps, gave them a .500 percentage and a possible chance to climb to the top of the standings.

Jim Harr started the scoring splurge for the juniors, but Knotts tied it up after Burke, Nichols, and Lennox scored for the preps. The juniors came to within one point at the end of the first period by scoring seventeen points while the preps were putting in eighteen. Pulling away slowly, the preps were ten points ahead in the last frame when the juniors put on a last minute rally. Smith dropped in a two pointer and Montaldi assisted with two more. Dick Morris scored two more buckets to put the juniors up within two points but time ran out leading the preps ahead 45-43.

The line-up:

SENIORS EDGE FRESHMEN IN CLOSE BATTLE

Paine and Cooper Lead

In a very close game, the seniors came through to win by a two point margin over an alert frosh quintet, 44-42. It was a nip and tuck battle up until the final whistle when the seniors emerged from a tie to score two foul shots to put them ahead. The lead changed back and forth several times during the game until the last few minutes of the game when the seniors drew past to lead by two points.

The line-up:

FROSH

	FG	FL	PT
Cooper	5	6	16
Caldwell	1	3	5
Inch	1	1	3
Rasmussen	1	0	2
Smith	7	0	14
MacPherson	1	0	2

SENIORS

Brandt	0	1	1
Coddington	0	0	0
Kouwe	1	1	3
Flower	2	5	9
Paine	7	5	19
Fenton	4	4	12

Dave Paine started the scoring for the seniors with two field goals at the beginning of the game. Caldwell and MacPherson retaliated with six points and the score changed many times in the first period with the seniors finally pulling ahead 12-9. In the next period the frosh went ahead when Inch sank two buckets, but the seniors forged ahead again as Jim Fenton and Paine poured in the baskets. At the end of the second period the seniors were leading 23-19.

The second half saw a rejuvenated frosh team as they put the pressure on and took a 28-23 lead over hapless Jim Fenton and his cohorts. Kouwe and Flower scored for the seniors but two fast baskets by Cooper pushed the frosh into a 32-28 lead as the third period ended.

The last quarter started fast with a shot by Flower and two by David Paine. Jim Fenton, who was playing way over his head all evening, put in two more very lucky shots to pull the upper classmen to a 37-34 lead which they didn't relinquish for the rest of the fray. The freshmen however with their usual doggedness came back to tie the score as Dar Cooper dropped in six points making it less than a minute to play. Paine and Fenton were both fouled and made the free throws which was the margin of victory as the final score read 44-42 in favor of the highly favored Sages.

High scorer for the evening was Paine with 19 points followed closely by Cooper with 16. One of the best all around players in this game was James Fenton (known as Red) who not only thrilled the balcony time and time again with his beautifully arched set shots and four free throws, but also showed great promise as he worked the ball in and out like a veteran, playing a cool, decisive, ball game to lead the seniors to their ultimate victory.
