Houghton is a representation of many things—the remembrance of tobogganing or cheering at basketball games, the brilliance of an autumn afternoon, the stimulus of studies, intellectual debates, quiet talks—all of these pervaded by the warmth of a spiritual atmosphere.

To guide individuals in their search for the Truth is the purpose of the faculty who are scholars, spiritual advisors, and willing participants in extracurricular activities. Not content merely to be department chairmen and teachers, these men and women extend their efforts into areas of Christian literature, research and study, and professional organizations so that their activities may, in turn, benefit the student.

Diverse in subject area, yet bound together by Christian precepts, dedicated professors are united in their aim to make Houghton more than a liberal arts college, more than an outstanding educational and cultural center—a college with an allegiance first to God, so that young men and women are able to see knowledge and learning in proper perspective.

But the faculty are more than professors. Students know them as approachable people who share willingly their experiences, their homes, their ideas, their friendship, and their time.

College is a place in which to learn. Each student seeks the atmosphere most fitting to his intellectual nature and needs. Some feel the library most conducive to learning; others, restricted by limited library space, find their intellectual stimulation outdoors or in the solitude of their rooms.

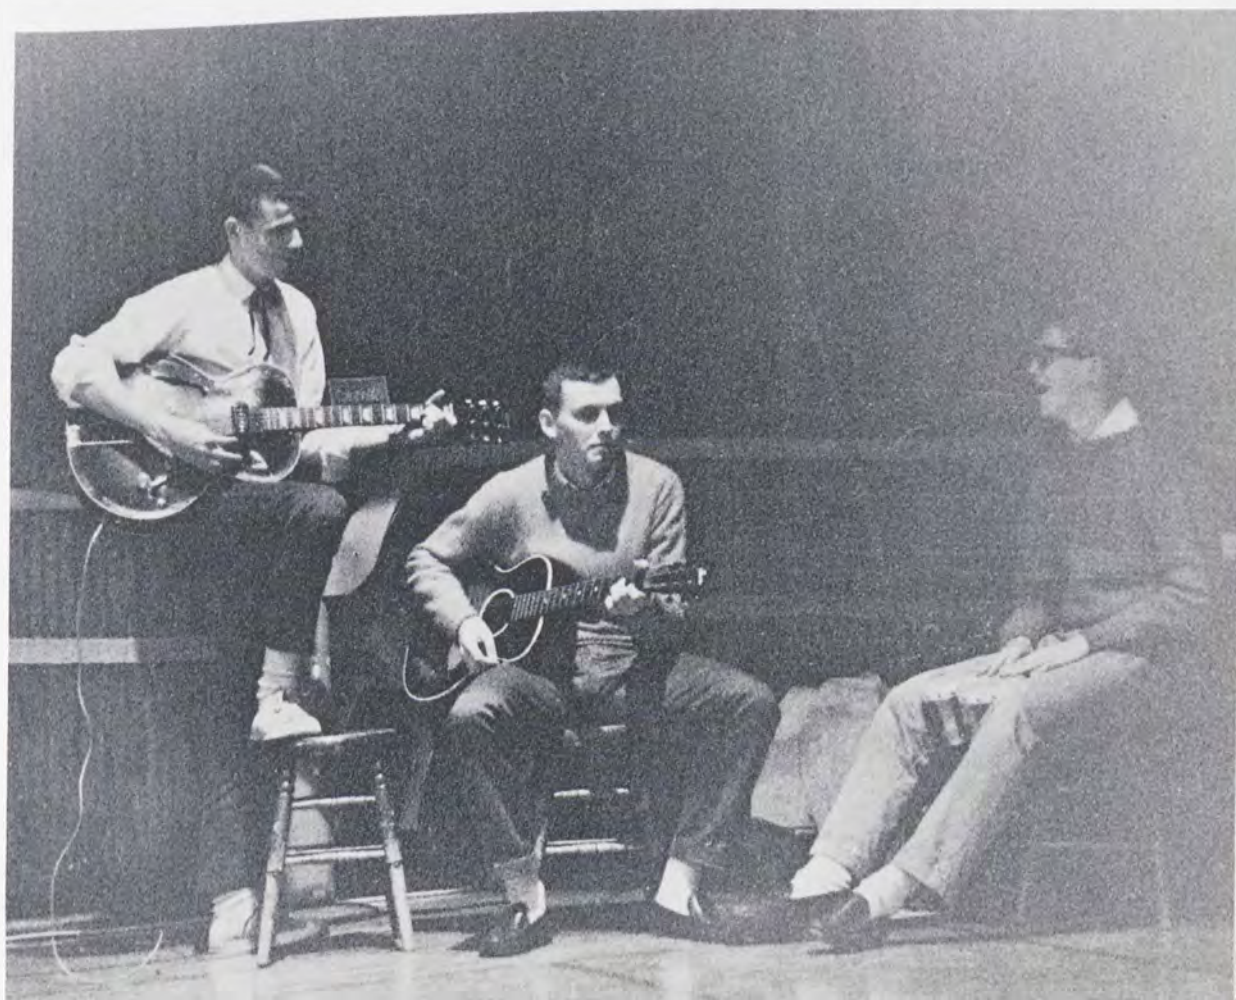

Houghtonians find relaxation in diverse ways—from the cultured atmosphere of Artist Series Concerts to the more direct methods of releasing frustration in an intramural basketball game, in chatting over an “in-between” snack, or attending lively class parties.

Athletics have their part in campus life. Class football, basketball, baseball, track and field competition create spectator interest as well as present opportunities for all to participate.

Homecoming Weekend is floats with their "Proclaim Liberty" theme, the traditional football game with Gold triumphant, and 1961 Queen, Elizabeth Mills, crowned by Representative Charles Goodell. The Alumni Banquet, Parent's Weekend, the Christmas Banquet—these are highlights of the school year.

The spiritual temper of a college campus can well be gauged by its endeavors for Christ. Torchbearers ministers weekly to patients and invalids and those spiritually indigent. F.M.F.'s arm of prayer upholds world-wide gospel messengers, and the Houghton Church strengthens individuals in their search for a more vital relationship to God.

Buildings are a vital part of any college, and the progress of a school can be seen through its expansion. But buildings are mere structures until animated by the youth who use them. With increasing enrollment, Houghton expands to provide an adequate environment for learning.

School's opening weeks are a maelstrom of activity. The anticipated pleasure of new and renewed friendships makes insignificant the form-filled ordeal of registration; the seriousness of schedule consultations disappears in the pine- and food-scented atmosphere of the Letchworth picnics. Classes begin, but studies are hampered by the purposeful absurdities of initiation and the tension-easing reprisals of honor court.

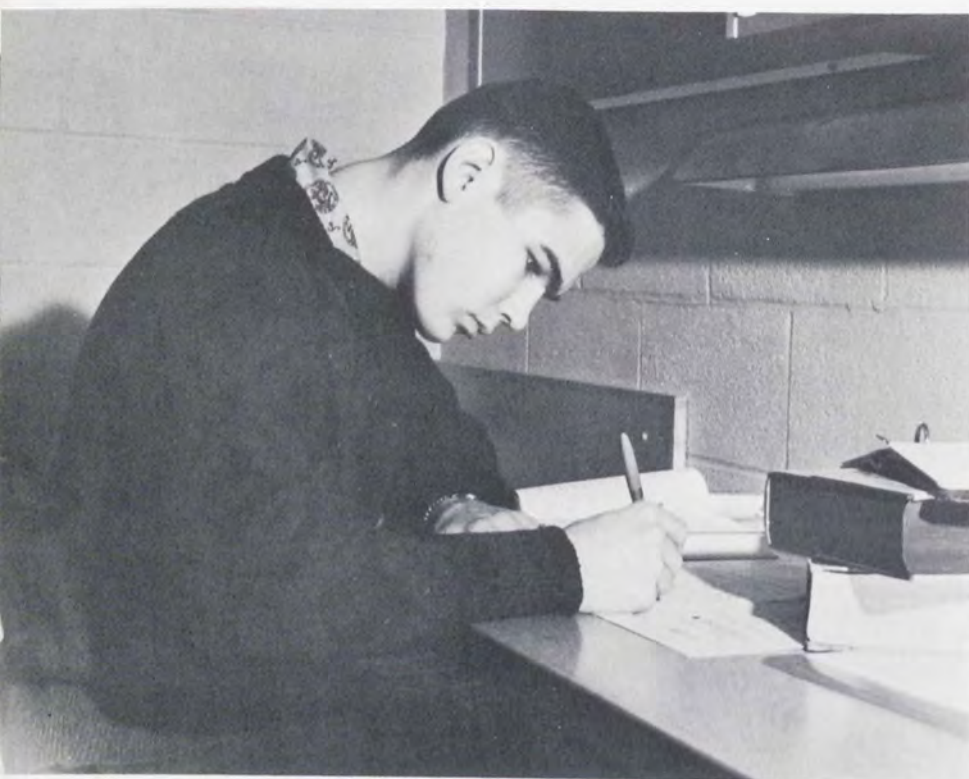

Winter makes changes in Houghton life. The classes, chapels and meals continue inalterably, but getting to them is suddenly hazardous. Sidewalk conversations and after-date strolls are cut short, and car owners face their annual problems. Activities, though, take on the spice of variety: skating, tobogganing, and snow sculpturing at the new Winter Carnival; and, viewed objectively, the season's lingering precipitation has a genuine beauty.

The inevitable social contact has a great influence on the college student. Freshmen join the interacting student body at functions in the Big Brother—Big Sister program, and progress to the more normal public appearances: breakfast or break-in-study nourishment in Luckey basement, Artist and Lecture Series evenings, and seasonal sports events.

Whether cramming till early morning, playing harmless pranks, engaging in provocative bull-sessions, or attending impromptu parties, campus life is never dull. The characteristic large-family sound sometimes erupts into peals of laughter or reverberations of mock-combat, and occasionally sinks to a low murmur. Always there is a sense of belonging, of knowing and being known.

Debates, with other colleges or for Parents' Weekend demonstrations, picture selection and copy editing for student publications, club meetings, often in faculty homes, and radio sports coverage and program planning are extracurricular pastimes which enrich the campus life, incorporating diversified experience with inculcated education.

Having balanced academics and activities with all the harmony of a Gugenheimer Band, the Seniors return from Skip Weekend and approach graduation with reluctance, uncertainty, but anticipation of the future. Now the diurnal concerns of college life fade into insignificance as each graduate's values emerge to give him insight in selecting the best from the mediocre.

Charles H. Finney, Ph.D., Fellow of the American Guild of Organists. Chairman of the Division of Music and Art

Dedication

Martin Luther's statement that "Music is a gift of God next to Theology" is the credo of a man who has given his mind and energy to performing and teaching music as a Christian service. Houghton is privileged to possess a rare individual: a man with the qualities of an excellent scholar and instructor combined with the ability of a professionally recognized musician. One who has thus integrated such achievements with a sincere Christian life deserves great respect.

To Dr. Charles H. Finney, a tireless organizer in endeavors to enrich the cultural atmosphere of the college, we dedicate the 1962 BOULDER.

Organizations

Student Senate

Representing the student body, the Student Senate plans for such school-wide activities as Parents' Weekend, Homecoming and the Winter Carnival, and procures faculty approval of these proposals. The Student Senate fulfills a vital function in presenting student opinion to the faculty, as well as explaining faculty action to the student body.

Realizing Houghton's obligation to train well-informed Christian leaders, the Senate sponsors political awareness and religious leaders' forums to promote interest in world affairs and plays a leading role in the American Association of Evangelical Students, which seeks to unify Christian schools and discusses mutual problems.

The Star

Most stars are thought by astrologers to forecast future events, but the Houghton Star not only foretells the future but relates what has passed.

The college newspaper, written and edited by student personnel, is published bi-weekly throughout the school year, traditionally appearing every other Friday evening. The format is varied, containing articles on spiritual and cultural topics, and news of sports and social affairs.

Editor Ruth Percy and Business Manager Robert Orr shared the responsibility of publishing the 1961-1962 Star. Professor Charles Davis assisted as advisor. Under their guidance, the Star was frequently a six-page paper, and new features such as "Grad-School Prospectus" and "The Agenda" were added. Star editorials pointed out the need for informed, fruitful Christian living.

A large staff of reporters, under the direction of Nancy Carrington, kept the paper supplied with rough drafts of news-worthy items.

Under the directive eye of Daniel Cutter, the Feature Staff produced quantities of informative articles on topics of general interest. Literary Editor June Steffensen saw that book reviews and related reports were submitted by her co-workers, and she and Carl Selin served as authors of the "Coffee House." The sports section on page six resulted from the channeled energies of the sports writers and their editor, Gareth Larder. Pictures of athletic events, personalities, and campus happenings were contributed by Star photographer Peter Wohlgemuth.

As stories and articles came in, they were read and corrected by Copy Editor Sylvia Evans and her staff. The typists transcribed copy into a more legible form for greater convenience.

After linotyping, the embryo newspaper returned to be examined by Carlene Head's Proof Staff.

The difficult job of fitting together the pieces of the Star puzzle was undertaken by Judith Miller and the rest of the Make-up Staff. It was also their responsibility to concoct headlines which fitted both the stories and the spaces allotted. As the pages became complete, they were transferred to the print shop. Returning as page-proofs, they were again proof-read and carried across the hall for final printing.

The Star

The last steps, folding and distribution, customarily occurred between 4:30 p.m. and 5:30 p.m. on the Friday of publication. Sandra Long, in her office as circulation manager, prepared the necessary copies for mailing. Then the entire organization paused for a few relaxed breaths before starting work toward the next Star deadline.

Memories of the 1961-62 Star included: the wall clock, alternating its buzzing, humming and scraping with the silence of its unplugged condition; the perennially closed venetian blinds and the ever-open door; the mistakes such as "coffee-louse" which didn't slip past the proofreaders; PANIC when there was a "hole" on the front page; the editor of the feature articles, sitting on the desk, pounding the phone and mumbling; pleas, threats and cajoling from harried editors—and, most of all, a feeling of comradeship and pride in being a working member of a worthy organization.

The Boulder

This Boulder is the earnest effort of the 1962 yearbook staff to present an accurate account of the Houghton campus in 1961-62. Producing it was a memorable experience.

Brain center and storm center for Boulder activities was on the second floor of Fancher Building: the room at the other end of the extension cord snaking across the Arcade during the colder months. The heater operated thusly helped de-ice the cerebral processes of Business Manager Richard Dominguez and Sports Editor Ralph Markee, while bringing to a boiling point the hard-working, long-suffering Editor David Robinson. The office became a point of departure for Literary Editor Barbara Miles, and the warmth therein induced the slumbers of weary Photographer Donald Dayton.

Faculty Advisor Richard Pocock dropped in to help with problems. A more professional WJSL beamed its 640 kilocycles through the air waves this year. For the first time, the listeners heard regularly scheduled advertisements and promotions; a beep on the hour divulged the correct time; quality was improved by more intensive training and organization.

But to those who knew WJSL, it was more: a few rooms in the confines of the Fine Arts building, and the "radio bugs" who worked there; Sam the soda machine, Sundrop, the donuts that you couldn't resist; or the extended WJSL, the part that lived in your room, that befriended you in such forms as the Morning Show, Chatterbox, and Evensong.

Students come, listen, learn and leave, all with an experience, some with a knowledge that will help them earn many a dollar toward the next school year, and, most important, the few with the recognition of the potential which lies beyond the marriage of Gospel power and radio power. This is the purpose of WJSL.

The Info

As traditional as caroling and the Christmas Banquet is the appearance of the Info on Houghton campus. A ready-made Christmas card address list, the diminutive booklet remains a valuable source of information throughout the year.

The 1962 Info was edited by Carol Friedley and her assistant, Susan Morehouse, while the directory's business affairs were handled by Carl Selin.

The Lanthorn

The best stories, essays and poems from Houghton's literary contest are published each year in the Lanthorn, directed in 1962 by Editor June Steffensen and assistant Carol Friedley.

The Lanthorn play, written this year by Noralyn Crossley, helped raise finances for business manager Rolland Kidder. Faculty advisor was Miss MacLean.

Artist and Lecture Series

The United States Marine Band, straight from "the halls of Montezuma," spiced their scheduled program with contemporary instrumental and vocal numbers and traditional Sousa marches.

The Robert Shaw Chorale and Orchestra, on the other hand, dipped into the fund of historical compositions and came up with "The Passion According to St. John" by Johann Sebastian Bach.

From his Park Street Congregational Church in Boston came Dr. Harold Ockenga to explain the examinations of Scripture made by higher and lower criticism. Book by book, he explored the textual problems of the New Testament, while Old Testament critics, viz. Wellhausen and company, were answered by recent archaeological discoveries.

Continuing the positive presentation of Christianity and science was Robert James, professor of Physics at Northwestern University. Emphasizing the failure of science to deal with man's nature, he also decried attempts to prove scientific facts by the Bible.

Inaugurating the second semester, the husband-and-wife team of Miss Rosemary Crawford and Mr. Robert Spillman offered a repertoire ranging from classical to contemporary pieces for voice and piano.

The Claremont String Quartet

Robert Shewan, Director

Oratorio Society

The largest music organization, the Oratorio Society, affords singing opportunities to college students, professors, and outsiders alike. Twice each year the group presents a major work, augmented by guest soloists and conducted by Mr. Robert Shewan. The Messiah, excellently performed in December, presented Marie Harder, soprano, Norris Greer, tenor, Walter Shaffer, bass, and Marie Anderson, contralto, as soloists and Marian Johnson as accompanist. Later in the year, another concert was given for the Bach festival which included two Bach cantatas. The results of these concerts were merited by the tedious preparation and cooperation of the many participants.

Chapel Choir

The spiritual significance of each selection is stressed as the Chapel Choir seeks to praise God with their musical talents. Under the stimulating direction of Mr. Lusk the members of the choir worked with a spirit of cooperation and diligence. Each rehearsal was begun with devotions led by Chaplain Jacqueline Tyler.

Organized originally to provide a musical program for chapel and church services, the Choir has presented Christmas, Easter, and Thanksgiving concerts and a special Bach Cantata opening the Spring Bach Festival.

College Choir

The musical ministry of Houghton College is carried to widespread churches of many denominations by the Houghton College A Cappella Choir directed by Mr. Robert Shewan. Individual choir members often arrange concerts in their home areas and other congregations apply for choir performances. The choir performs about thirty times yearly on tour; this season there were five week-end engagements in the Northeast and a ten-day spring concert tour to the Mid-west and Canada. Dr. Richard Troutman, business manager, made the travel arrangements.

The choir's main objectives are to honor Christ and win listeners to Him through God—glorifying musical excellence and spontaneous testimonies during each performance. In addition, the group fills a vital public relations function for the college, and this year made its third recording.

The group's annual repertoire includes Bach compositions, spirituals, hymns, several more difficult chorales, and an original work by a member of the college faculty; this year's piece was a motet by Dr. William Allen.

Mr. Harold McNeil, Director

Band

Developing the adaptability of playing an instrument with a group is one important objective of the Houghton College Band.

Conductor Harold McNeil emphasizes the fact that achievement of high musical standards is a prerequisite to spiritual accomplishment.

In addition to two college concerts, several high school concerts have been given in the area. Some of the compositions on the band repertoire include the Coronation Scene from Boris Gudenov by Moussorgsky, Frank's Psyche and Eros, and Death and Transfiguration by Richard Strauss.

Chamber Ensemble

Mr. Eldon Basney, Director

The Concert Ensemble, recently added to the music organizations, is an exclusive group of selected musicians. The choral octet and string ensemble have presented sacred and classical concerts on week-ends and an Easter vacation tour. The ensemble's repertoire included several hymns arranged by Conductor Eldon Basney, a Bach Cantata, and selections from the Messiah, the arias of which were sung by Mr. Norris Greer.

Helping to create a finer appreciation of music for the campus listeners and a broader knowledge of compositions for the performers, another music organization, the Houghton College Orchestra, gives two annual concerts. The Orchestra provides an opportunity to all musicians who are interested in playing genuine concert material. The full orchestra performed such compositions as the Overture to the Meistersinger by Wagner and Beethoven's Fifth Symphony during the first semester while the string section worked alone to prepare the program for the Quadrennial Bach Festival in May, which included a Brandenburg concerto, a suite, and a double violin concerto.

The combination of hard work, interest, and potential made the efforts of this year's orchestra especially rewarding. Geraldene Rumohr served as concert mistress.

English Club

The English Club, a social organization whose members have a common interest in English and American Literature, enjoys informal, conversational meetings at which members share ideas on such topics as literary criticism and what constitutes a Christian novel. Recorded readings of poetry, book reviews and lectures vary the pace. The club enjoys impromptu acting of various plays. On occasion, visiting dramatic groups are invited to perform for club programs.

Highlighting the English Club season is the annual costume banquet which is planned around a literary theme. This year the recreation hall was transformed into Alice's Wonderland for the advent of a madhatter tea party and "flamingo" croquet.

Anti-Communist Association

A student may be thoroughly alarmed by Communism but cannot fight it effectively unless aware of its background, objectives and methods. Convinced of this fact, the Anti-Communist Association, formed early in 1961, seeks to expose its fallacies through special reports and tape-recordings prepared by men who have had direct experience with Communism. Believing that Christianity has the only true answer to this Godless ideology, members report to the public on Communism through speaking engagements and radio programs.

Christian Education Club

Meetings of the Christian Education Club are geared to acquaint members with the most recent and effective methods of youth evangelism. Outstanding authorities in the field of Christian education have provided excellent file materials and workshops.

A Christian Education Conference held in February featured Reverend and Mrs. Donald B. Woodby, pastor and Christian education director at Hayden Avenue Baptist Church, East Cleveland, Ohio and Miss Peggy Miller, field representative to the British Isles for the Bible Club Movement of Philadelphia.

French Club

French meals, dramas, picnics, discours on French life, accounts of interesting experiences with Frenchmen and their language, and lively discussions centering on subjects from the independent Paris butchers to the grave national problems of France occupy members of Le Cercle Francais at their club meetings. These activities create an enthusiasm and greater interest in the French people and culture, and instill a better working knowledge of the French language.

German Club

Singularly misnomered Die Deutsch verderber—the murderers of the German language—the German Club sponsors varied activities designed to improve the speaking of German as well as provide a broader background in German culture.

Wilfried Zibell's colored slides of Germany and Switzerland, Mrs. Martin Litty's authentic German dinner, and a toboggan party in the December snows successfully integrated education with entertainment during first semester, while a scenic German film, a program of skits, and a Letchworth picnic continued the policy second semester.

Spanish Clubs

Members of each Spanish class constitute the individual Clubs de Espanol electing their own officers. Intriguing new foods and different customs are enjoyed by participants. The annual Christmas party is the scene of the traditional breaking of the pinata. La Senorita Pool planned a toboggan party with refreshments and games at her home.

Row 1: Madli Prints, Edith Teetsel. Row 2: F. Gordon Stockin, Advisor; David Galusha, William Bach, Ronald Herlan, Gerald Phelan, President.

Classics Club

The Classics Club delves into the rich resources of the past to convey the cultural heritage of the Greeks and Romans to their faithful remaining disciples. Whether in the dinginess of a cellar "catacomb" or the warmth of Dr. Stockin's home, the atmosphere lends itself to interesting lectures and discussions of philosophy, history, and literature of the classic world.

The main event of the year is the Roman Banquet, at which anxious would-be-Romans turn the clock back two-thousand years for a genuine Saturnalia complete with trimmings.

Psychology Club

The Psychology Club constitutes the extracurricular medium through which students investigate recent advances in the social sciences.

An Allegany County school psychologist demonstrated personality and intelligence testing methods at one meeting, while the psychology of music was considered at another. Tracing some maladjustments to parental causes, the film, "The Angry Boy" proposed rehabilitation.

Dramatically closing the year's activities, the club sponsored "The Three Faces of Eve" studying the phenomena of multiple personalities.

Science Club

The Science Club exposed students to specific areas of technology and experimentation. Mr. Herschel Ries, chief engineer of ELWA in Monrovia, Liberia, explained applications of science to radio missions. The philosopher's view of the scientific method was interpreted by Professor Ronald Nash. Mr. Hugh Paine lectured to club members on the topic of atomic and nuclear physics. A field trip promoted interest in industrial and scientific research.

Row 1: Jean McLintock, Faye Longenecker, Rebekah Griffiths. Row 2: Robert Shannon, Molly Wishart, Richard Munson, President; Mr. Frederick Shannon, Advisor; David Ciliberto.

Art Lab

In art lab, students from portrait painting, chalk art, and elementary drawing and painting classes experiment in colors, shapes, and design and obtain experienced assistance from Mrs. Sents. Assignments are made occasionally, but considerable freedom of choice in subject matter and medium is usually exercised. Students study accomplished artists in efforts to improve their own style.

The lab meets on the first floor of the Fine Arts building. Half-finished paintings propped on scattered easels fill the room; and a quiet, industrious atmosphere pervades as potential artists, pausing infrequently to encourage one another or to offer suggestions, intently sketch, mix colors, and apply paint to their canvasses.

Trampoline Club

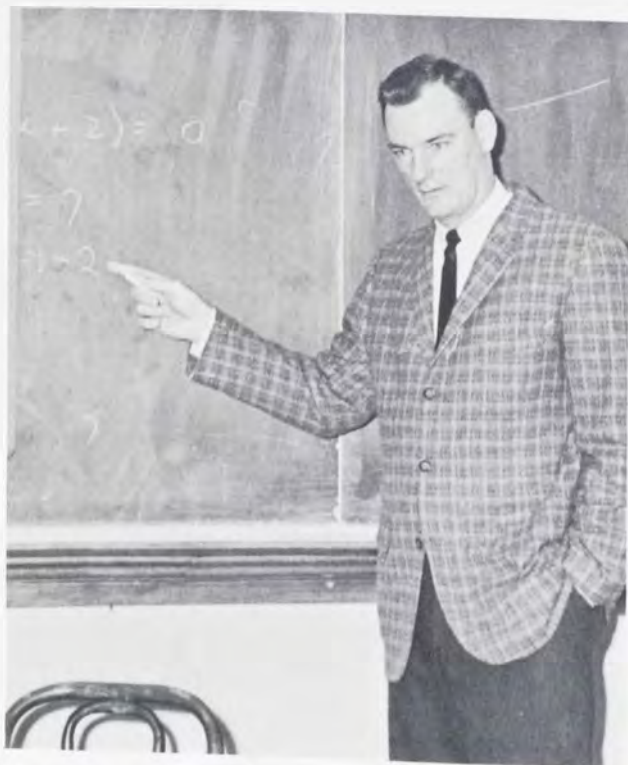

Progressing from frontdrop and backdrop to cannonball, cradle, and twist, enthusiastic collegians train themselves to proficiency in these difficult maneuvers on the trampoline. Situated in the activity room of the chapel-auditorium, the gymnastic apparatus is in constant demand as students come to work out on the equipment during their spare hours.

Education Club

The Student Education Association, chartered last year by state and national education organizations, examines the motives, opportunities, and responsibilities of careers in education.

During National Education Week the club honored Houghton's faculty with a tea in East Hall Lounge. Mrs. Arthur Lynip reported on the Hawaiian educational system, and Robert J. Hickey, supervisor of elementary education in Iroquois Central School of Elma, explained the public school administrator's expectations for new teachers. At the final monthly meeting, Dr. Stephen Paine and Rev. Edward Angell presented an intellectual and spiritual challenge to the senior education students.

Pre-Med Club

Pre-medical, pre-dental, and pre-nursing students compose the active membership of the Pasteur Pre-Medical Society, which alerts members to new developments in the medical profession and reports on aspects of the actual practice of medicine.

Monthly meetings featured such guest physicians as Dr. Maria G. Kovacs, a senior resident psychiatrist at Marcy State Hospital, and Dr. Cleora K. Handel, obstetrician and pediatrician from Buffalo. A panel of seniors accepted by medical schools discussed their experiences with admission procedures and interviews. In the spring, a club outing at Letchworth and a field trip rounded out the club program.

CLASS

Music Education Club

The Music Education Club presented several programs including a lecture on acoustics, panels, films, and Christmas caroling. A few alumni and neighboring public school music teachers took part in the meetings throughout the year. Although this club supplements the music education curriculum with social relaxation, its more serious purpose is to broaden the individual's scope of music. This year's theme was the treatment of music education as a missing field in public schools and the attainment of an effective Christian witness there.

Debate Squad

"Resolved: that labor organizations should be under the jurisdiction of anti-trust legislation."

Arguing this affirmatively and negatively, members of Houghton's debate team scored four wins and four losses during the Annual Western New York Debate Tournament at St. Bonaventure. At this tournament Doug Kindschi captured the trophy for the best negative speaker.

The team also scored numerous wins in competitions at Rochester Institute of Technology and Canisius College, as well as in the Great Lakes Novice Tournament at the University of Buffalo.

Houghton's debaters find opportunities to exercise logical reasoning, as well as correct speech methods.

Religious Organizations

College Pastors

Rev. Edward D. Angell

Preaching, counseling and visitation are work for any pastor, but doubly so for the Reverend Edward Angell and his assistant, the Reverend Richard Kaylor, as they minister in the college community. The Houghton church sponsored a spiritual emphasis week each semester. Dr. H. Mekeel and Dr. Paul Kindschi stressed the Christ-centered life and practical applications of Christianity.

In addition to pulpit responsibilities, Pastor Angell also addresses the college and academy chapels. Fusing wit and wisdom, he searches out truths of Scripture in messages such as his sequence of studies on the Holy Spirit.

Board meetings, conferences, conventions, and outside speaking engagements are mingled with moments of relaxation. He is an enthusiastic participant in the weekly bowling tournament, golf, and ping pong.

Assistant Pastor Richard Kaylor alleviates the pastor's work load greatly by his activity in visitation and committee work, as well as in sponsoring various youth groups in the community.

Student Ministerial Association

Students preparing for all areas of Christian service find in the Student Ministerial Association a laboratory of experience. Discussions of current religious thought and methods of evangelism appeal to a wide variety of students as they train for their specialized fields.

The familiar theme "He Lives" announces the weekly SMA program, "Student Pastor," broadcast over WJSL. SMA'ers, by organizing programs for presentation, train oratorical and homiletical abilities, thus benefiting both SMA members and listeners.

The opportunity to teach a Bible class at a near-by campus also opens new areas of experience to SMA'ers. Growth in Biblical knowledge is imparted to the teacher as well as to the taught.

Student Pastors

Many Houghton ministerial students accept the responsibility of applying knowledge of theological concepts, homiletical rules and Biblical exegesis to the problems of his own congregation by filling vacancies in near-by pulpits.

Though he draws on the wealth of textual knowledge he has, a student pastor soon learns that much of his work is not solved by textbooks. The God of love who comforts even in death must be shown to the bewildered sufferer who does not see him.

The student pastor is fortunate, because he early learns humility: human efforts must be superceded by divine power.

Charles Haws, Joseph Kickasola, Sedu Mans.

Ralph Speas, President

Wesleyan Youth

Wesleyan Youth is a coordinator on campus, promoting evangelism through Torchbearers, providing pastoral experience through the S M A, and emphasizing missionary interest through Foreign Missions Fellowship. Hundreds of high school students flood the campus for the Spring Youth Conference in April, when special displays and a congenial atmosphere demonstrate the advantage of a Christian college, while evangelistic services point out the necessity of Christian living.

Torchbearers

Torchbearers, a branch of the campus Wesleyan Youth, extends the Gospel to needy areas in the Houghton vicinity, evoking a response which far outweighs occasional difficulties.

Fall and spring street meetings are conducted in Hornell, Olean and Wellsville on Friday nights, while each Sunday students travel to nursing homes and teach Bible classes at the Craig Epileptic Colony in Sonyea. Torch-bearers seek God's quickening power through Saturday evening prayer meetings.

Foreign Missions Fellowship

The support of ten foreign missionaries, a three-day Missionary Conquest and representation at the Sixth International Missionary Conference at Urbana were the highlights of this year's Foreign Missions Fellowship activities.

Taking a step in faith, this year's F.M.F. cabinet, headed by David Pollock, decided to set a new goal of $13,000 for the salaries of the following missionaries, most of whom are Houghton graduates: Dr. John Edling ('44), Miss Pearl Crapo and Mr. Glenn Barnett ('48) in Haiti; Mr. Hershel Ries ('53), Mrs. Ella Woolsey ('43) and Paul and Donna Decker ('53) in West Africa; Mrs. Hazel Yontz ('46) in Borra de Cordo, Brazil; Mr. Luke Boughter in Lisbon, Portugal; Mrs. Carolyn Paine Miller ('59) in Vietnam.

Once each year S-24 is dramatically transformed by industrious F.M.F.'ers during the annual Missionary Conquest. As illustration of this year's Conquest theme, "Light into Darkness," a lighthouse in the room's center proclaimed, "Ye are the light of the world." Its beams of light illuminated maps of the darkened areas of the earth, and beneath each map was a display symbolic of the forces of evil prevalent in that region.

During Conquest Mr. Eric Fife, missions secretary of Inter-Varsity Christian Fellowship and Mr. Elwyn Davies, Canadian field director of the Bible Christian Union, led the evening service. One morning chapel heard a panel of five missionaries speaking on various aspects of work on the mission field. Nightly dormitory discussion groups provided a more intimate view of mission life and enabled students to personally interview missionaries. A total of twenty missionaries participated in the four-day Conquest program.

Every four years, the International Missionary Conference of the Inter-Varsity Christian Fellowship, of which F.M.F. is part, is held on the campus of the University of Illinois at Urbana. This year, twenty-eight Houghton students represented F.M.F. during the conference; financial assistance was provided for those wanting to go but lacking necessary funds.

Among Houghton students, F.M.F. sought to cultivate a vital concern for missions. At weekly Wednesday evening prayer meetings, students interceded as a group for specific missionaries and their current problems. For the bi-weekly missionary chapels, F.M.F. invited outstanding men to present the necessity of missions. At Modern Missions in Action, these speakers spoke of particular openings and successes in their own fields.

An ex-chaplain of World War II, returning to Houghton several years ago with a burden for the continent of Europe, established a regular prayer meeting, which has grown into the present F.M.F., becoming for many a channel of God's calling to His service.

Released Time Teachers

Each week several students leave the Houghton campus to spend an hour or so in the area public schools teaching released-time classes for religious instruction. Houghton undergraduates, particularly those majoring in Christian Education, serve as teachers in this program.

Meeting once each week with their young charges, the released-time workers learn as well as teach. They experiment with methods including flannelgraphs and object lessons, and become more skilled in the art of adapting lesson material to the needs and interests of their pupils.

In general, subject material is drawn from Bible stories, with application to the everyday life of the pupils. Explanation of Biblical truths in simple language with specific and clear illustrations helps children understand the motivation and manifestation of the Christian life, while the responsibility of this clarification challenges the teacher to deeper understanding of the same truths.

Extension Groups

Originating at Houghton College, extension teams further the Gospel through their traveling ministry. Usually functioning on Sundays as guests in nearby churches, the groups also participate in Saturday evening youth rallies.

The responsibilities recognized are two-fold: to explain the good news of redemption, and to challenge Christians to desire and experience a deeper life in Christ.

Music plays an integral part in meetings conducted by extension teams. Testimonies of personal spiritual growth, messages and meditations from the Word of God complete the presentation of the Gospel.

Football

For the third straight year Gold topped Purple in football. In former years, however, the Gladiators had won by sheer fortitude and endurance; this year a different kind of team told another story.

Led by Bill Revere, the Gold team developed an entirely new offense. In place of the hard-head power plays that had dominated the Gladiator tactics in previous years were quick traps, cross blocks, screen passes and intricate pass patterns. The accurate passing of Revere's made Gold's victory possible.

In this analysis, however, it would be impossible to forget the Gladiator forward wall. Jim Titus and Ken Boon together accounted for half of the Gold touchdowns. The inner line cooperated by giving quarterback Revere sometimes as much as ten seconds to throw.

Gold's strong point (their quarterback slot) was Purple's weakness. Seniors Bob Miller and Wayne Hill combined to quarterback for the Pharaohs. Bob threw well, but seemed over-conscious of Coach Wells' rushing line which had sidelined him in his Sophomore year. Bob was handicapped also by a lack of team confidence. Although he called a good game, he was not able to pull the squad together to present a winning team.

Purple's line, although it did have its weaknesses, performed very respectably. Co-Captain Nate Mack held up the center of the line, while Rolly Kidder and Don Housley were strong on short passes, but were unable to shake loose for the long yardage.

Defensively Gold was as potent as she was offensively. Norm Strum and Co-Captain Mark Oyer played the defensive ends and were responsible for most of the back field tags. Norm Strum so upset Purple plans that they expended two blockers on him, which not only prevented an end from going out for a pass, but pulled the blocking back out of position as well. Interior line men, Ralph Markee and Jim Stevenson, with line backers Woody Zimmerman and Dave Galusha, tied up the center so that Purple could not gain the short yardage sometimes needed.

In the four-man umbrella were Paul Titus, Jim Titus, Bud Tysinger and Co-Captain Bill Revere. Paul Titus, in addition to being the major running back offensively, accounted for more than three-quarters of all the Gold interceptions, intercepting five passes in one game alone. The remainder of the squad, while not as spectacular, effectively played their positions.

In this department Purple matched Gold man for man with the exception of the defensive end spots. Rich Dominguez and Nate Mack did a satisfactory job from those positions. George DeVinney and Dave Humbert held the center for Purple. Because of Gold's working offensive line and efficient trap plays, Gold did gain considerable yardage through Purple's line.

Jim Hamilton, Wayne Hill, Don Housley and Bob Burns played the defensive back positions for Purple. These men, whose speed matched their ability, kept the Gold score from soaring. Their task was to face a team that could throw the long pass or run around the end. Except for Purple's defensive skill, Gold would have run away with the season.

Basketball

This year's class competition resulted in some excellent displays of basketball skills and perhaps some unexpected final standings. A dismal third place was the pre-season prediction for the junior team, but much to the surprise of all, it compiled the first undefeated season in four years. It is difficult to determine which class had the next-best team, for all three classes finished in a virtual tie for second place, or last place, however you interpret it, with identical records of two wins and four losses.

The opening game of the season proved to the fans that the juniors were a team to be reckoned with. Facing the always-inspired freshmen club, the juniors rapidly realized that this team was no "easy-pickings." Led by Rapp and Fancher, the frosh built up an impressive 19 point lead at halftime. Having changed their defense alignment, the juniors stopped the frosh attack, maintained their own offense, and finally caught up and overtook the frosh, winning the game 62-49.

The pre-season favorites, the sophs, opened against the senior men. After a nip-and-tuck battle during the first half, the scoring of Johnson and Ernst became more consistent and the sophs walked away with their first victory.

The next two contests set the stage for the climactic clash for sole possession of first place.

The sophs led by Molyneaux and Johnson again squelched an inspired frosh team, while the surprising juniors maintained their winning ways by downing a competitive senior team. Thus, the stage being set, the juniors and sophomores met in one of the most exciting games of the season. The game see-sawed back and forth until the final minutes when the juniors, in a fine display of teamwork, withstood the sophs' vain attempt to win, and pulled sufficiently away from the men in green to clinch the game.

The next game provided icing on the juniors' cake as an inspired senior team upset the sophs and sent their hopes plunging. The seniors were led by the scoring and rebounding of both Robb Moses and Jim Stevenson. Wayne Hill made the seniors' attack well-balanced by his fine outside shooting.

The juniors' path to success was paved by a victory by the unpredictable frosh over the sophs. Led by fine rebounding by Rapp, consistent scoring by Fancher and Glickert, and leadership provided by their captain, Tysinger, the frosh simply out-played and out-hustled the sophs.

In the next-to-last game, the seniors, playing their last game together, gained revenge by beating the frosh. In the last game, the juniors, proving they were no fluke, developed a 19 to 1 lead over the sophs and maintained this lead, thus closing out a perfect season.

Purple-Gold

Gold retained its basketball supremacy for the third straight year, but Purple presented a spirited threat.

This year's Gold team had one main difference from the teams of the last two seasons: it was a balanced team with no one major scoring threat but rather an even potentiality. Starting in Coach Wells' highly successful pattern were guards John Ernst and Larry Johnson, forwards Bill Revere and Jim Stevenson, and center Robb Moses. All of these started on the victorious 1961 squad with the exception of Jim Stevenson. With four returning starters, Gold had an experience edge on Purple.

Some of Gold's strongest assets were not on the floor however, but on the side lines. Freshmen Doug Fancher, Bud Tysinger, and Dave Krentel teamed up with returning benchmen Dan Wagner and Dave Galusha to provide Gold with excellent reserve strength. This array of talent permitted Coach Wells to substitute liberally without weakening the squad.

The Purple team that gave Gold a real run was built around a fine, experienced nucleus. Senior Val Dunham and Juniors Rich Dominguez and Dave Mitchener teamed up with freshmen Ron Rapp and George DeVinney in the starting line-up.

On the defense, Purple really shined. Val Dunham and Dave Mitchener were the fastest men on the court and constantly harassed the opposing players. Dominguez and DeVinney were the second line of defense while Rapp clogged the center. The three big men guarded the bucket so well that a second shot was seldom allowed.

Baseball

Baseball, which in previous years had been dominated by the Purple pitching staff, made a sudden turn this year. To the amazement and happy surprise of the Gold baseball fans, a vastly improved team downed Purple in four fast games.

The Gold team was usually composed of Captain Herm Simmeth at short stop, Paul Mills at first base, Norm Strum at second base and Larry Johnson at third. Mac Cox, Vic Carpenter and Bill Revere played right, center and left fields, respectively, with Ron Merrill and Dave Galusha alternating behind the plate.

Purple

The pitching staffs of both teams were stronger than they had been in previous years. John Ernst, Dan Roth, and John Crandall pitched for Gold, while Tom DeVinney, Ken German and Don Housley hurled for Purple.

The season went 4-0, 5-2, 6-4, and 7-0 Gold. John Ernst, Gold's pitching ace, won the first three for Gold, the first all by himself and the next two coming in as relief for Crandall and Roth.

In spite of the excellent pitching efforts of Don Housley and Tom DeVinney, Gold continued to score. Bill Revere led the Gladiator batmen with three homers and a triple. The lack of any real longball batters handicapped Purple, while Gold had Paul Mills, Herm Simmeth and Larry Johnson, in addition to Bill Revere.

Hockey

Field Hockey, as expected, was won by the Purple women. The Pharaohs nabbed the 1961 championship by winning the first two of the best-out-of-three series.

The Purple squad, with June Steffenson, Audrey Stockin, Ellen Carpenter, Glenna Stephens and Gayle Gardzinir starring, easily overcame the Gladiators. June Steffenson was responsible for three-fifths of the total Purple scoring.

The Gold squad, although it possessed a fairly good first line with Char Woodard and Winnie Howe and an excellent defensive lineup with Nancy Fero and Betsy Samuelson, failed to have the impetus necessary for a winning year.

The score of the first game was 2-1, while the second—more indicative of Purple's potential—stood at 4-0.

In the class series, the "inexperienced Frosh" surprised everyone, and wound up with an undefeated season. Frosh Co-Captains Laura Clark and Carol Whiting led their team to high-score victories. They tied the Varsity squad 2-2 in the final game of the series.

The Sophomores copped the second place title. With Co-Captains Carol Young and Audrey Stockin, the Sophs edged the Juniors and Seniors 2-0. Until they were upset by the Frosh, the Sophomores dominated class play.

The Juniors, headed by Lynda Goodroe and Judy Stout, seemed to have the talent and push to take the series. With Betsy Samuelson, Linda McCarty and Judy Stout as secondaries, and Char Woodard, Lynda Goodroe and Marilyn Sims up front, the Juniors should have been the class leaders. Lack of coordination, however, spoiled their chances.

Track

The Purple track team soundly defeated Gold this year. The victory was partially soured, however, when the Gold men took ten out of fourteen first places. Purple women turned the tide by thoroughly trouncing the Gold women.

In the men's events, Gold presented an excellent performance. Vic Carpenter, Manfred Brauch and Joe Kickasola together turned in seven first place and two second place ribbons. Gold failed to back their lead men, however, and won a total of only eight second and third place ribbons. Vic Carpenter's three blue ribbons, the 100 and 220 yard dashes, and the 220 low hurdles led the team's scoring.

Purple, though they could not take blue ribbons, copped almost all of the second and third places. Purple men took first places in the broad jump, the 440 yard dash and the 880 yard relay. Val Dunham and John Cheney led the Purple scoring. A new school record was set by the Pharaoh 880 yard relay team. Val Dunham, Charlie Haws, Dave Hull and John Cheney combined for a time of 1:39.3.

In the women's events, the Gold team turned in an astonishing single first place. Mim Paine, Christie MacKintosh, Micki Lawrence and Carlene Head set a new school record in the 440 yard relay with a time of 1:00.9, undercutting the old record by 3.2 seconds. Without this outstanding performance, however, Gold's women were virtually scoreless, amassing only seventeen points.

The Pharaoh women scored fifty points for their team. Their skill entirely smashed Gladiator hopes by taking over 87.5 per cent of the first places, in addition to a majority of the second and third places. Jeanene Ross took first places in the 50, 100 and 220 yard dashes.

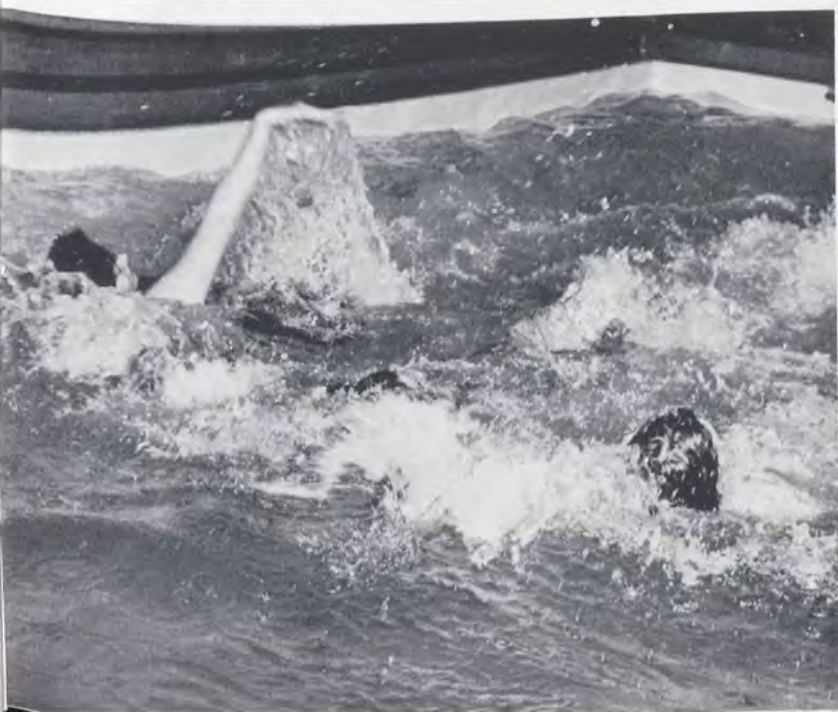

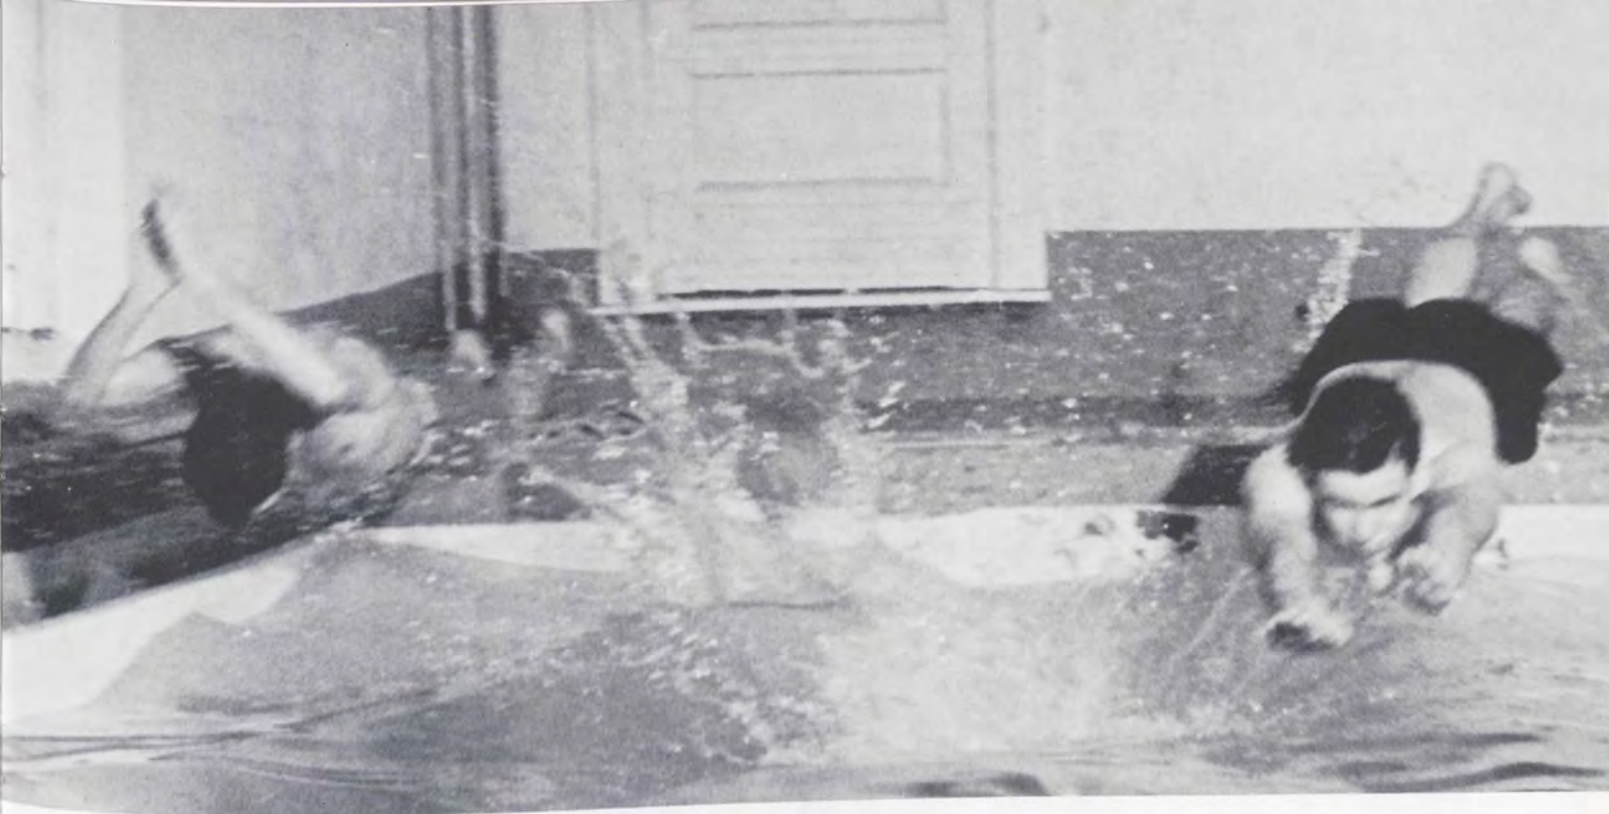

Soccer

Soccer was an "almost dead" sport at Houghton until the efforts of some of Houghton's foreign students recently sparked it to considerable recognition. The sport has shown remarkable advancement despite having to compete with football for players and equipment. This year there were extra men for the first time.

The Gold squad, led by Manfred Brauch, has won for the last two years, allowing Purple only one game a season. This year's team consisted largely of upper-class veterans, a superior team when compared to those of former years. Dick Munson, Neil Nickelsen, John Vogan, Bob Whitely, and Tom Magner usually started for Gold. With these men, Manfred led Gold to an easy victory.

Purple had another bad year in 1961. They gained a fine center forward, Pete Schreck, and an excellent goalie, Jim Buck, who managed to save the team from utter disgrace. These men were backed by veteran ball men such as John Cheney, Dave Schwedt, and Vic Hamilton. In spite of this fine array of talent, and the help of Coach Burke, Purple could not pull herself together into a winning team.

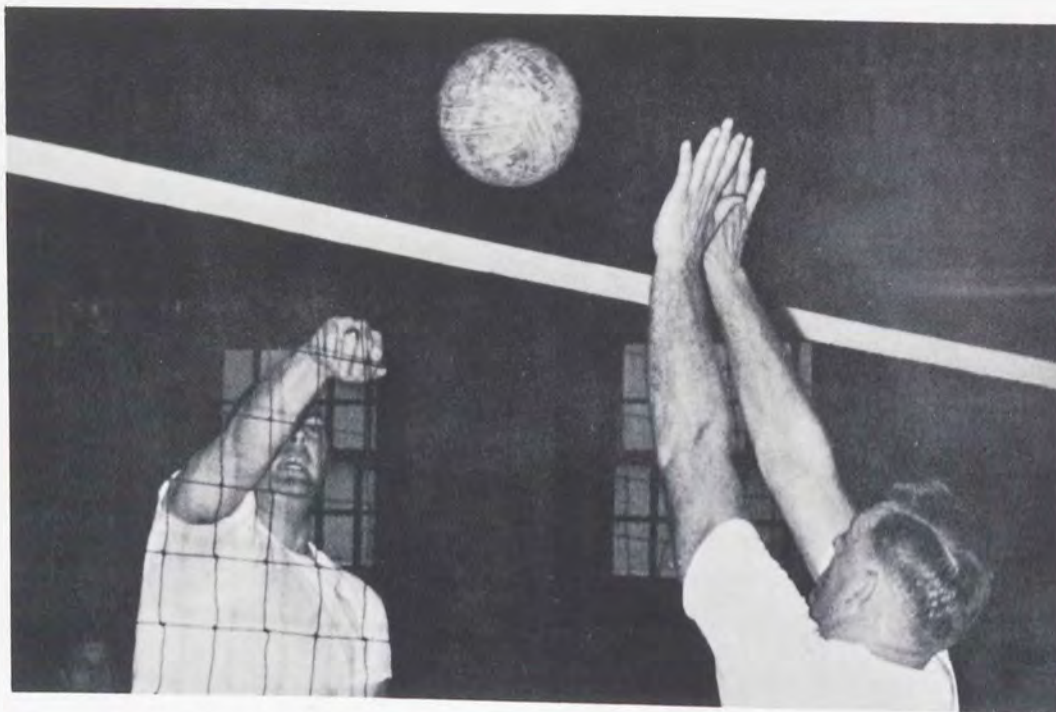

Swimming

Initiated by the improved physical education program at Houghton, swimming has advanced considerably in the last five years, with many more interested students turning out at the tournaments.

The championship Gold team which has dominated this sport in recent seasons is expected to maintain the edge over Purple. Swimmers Stephanie Souder, Sylvia Bancroft and Kirk Olin should provide a superb backbone for next year's squad.

In recent class competition the Juniors have held the lead. With Stephanie again swimming, they are favored to keep their preeminence, though the freshmen women may threaten in the swimming pool as they have on the hockey field and the basketball court.

Volleyball

Although volleyball is not a major sport, it does fill out the winter sports program and offers the student another chance to develop his athletic abilities.

Beginning with the class series, traditionally won by the seniors, the season continues through Purple-Gold competition. The season concluded with considerable talk concerning house-league volleyball. This sport, it seems, will assume an important role in Houghton's future athletic program.

Athletic Association

Attempting to implement amelioration of Houghton's sports program, the Athletic Association, led by president John Bechtel, recently achieved concrete improvements in the sports picture by promoting soccer to the varsity sports level and scheduling tackle football for next year.

In its capacity as sounding board for the student body, the A.A. authorized the procurement of new uniforms for the soccer team, as well as effected tentative steps in the direction of limited intercollegiate sports.

With the annual A.A. Banquet in the spring as its goal, the A.A. sought to finance this traditional event by selling mums at Homecoming and concessions at games, plus arranging special programs, such as the film, "Third Man on the Mountain." Featuring Mr. Raymond Berry, end for the Baltimore Colts, as its main speaker, the banquet also afforded opportunity for awarding varsity letters.

Students

Rolland Kidder has a major in history, with minors in philosophy, political science, and Greek. Rolly's experience as Student Senate President and director of the Wellsville Youth for Christ program will prove useful in his plans for seminary or graduate school.

Douglas Kindschi, a transfer from Miltonvale Wesleyan College, with minors in physics and philosophy, will be doing graduate work in his major subject, mathematics. He has demonstrated interest in science, as a physics lab assistant, and in music, as a member of A Cappella Choir.

Who's Who

Paul Titus, with a major in zoology, will attend medical school this fall. He has assisted zoology labs. A sports enthusiast, Paul won a varsity letter in football and was vice-president of the Athletic Association in his junior year.

In preparation for medical school, Robert Orr has completed a double major in chemistry and zoology. He has managed the business transactions for both the Star and Boulder. He has been a member of the Student Senate and headwaits at East Hall.

Ruth Percy is editor of the 1961-1962 Star and has held responsible positions in the Boulder and Lan-thorn publications. Her varied interests include participation in class sports and service as secretary of Student Senate. Ruth will be teaching her major course, mathematics.

Richard Ulrich, a chemistry lab assistant, majored in both zoology and chemistry and will attend medical school. Vitally interested in missions, the FMF vice-president co-ordinated the Missionary Conquest program. Dick was class chaplain in his junior year.

Chemistry major Wesley Ulrich has done honors work in chromatography this year. He has assisted in both chemistry and zoology laboratories, and was class president in his junior year. Future plans include a career in medical missions.

Senior Recitals

Four years' study in an applied field of music—individual practice hours, directive instructions, and personal criticism—finds its culmination in a Senior Recital.

Senior music students spend approximately three hours a day, six days a week, for fifteen to twenty hours in preparation for their recital.

The repertoire for these recitals includes selections chosen by the student and by the student's instructor in his major field. The program consists of works varying from the Classical and Romantic to the contemporary periods in music history. Recitals presented at Houghton this year emphasized the classical and contemporary forms.

Seniors

With more than 90 semester hours behind them, the members of the Class of 1962 returned to Houghton in September to complete the few remaining months between them and graduation.

The Soph-Senior picnic held in Letchworth State Park at the end of the first week of school was enjoyed by all who glory in the beauties of nature and the delights of companionship. Class members spent hours of labor on their first-prize Homecoming float, a flesh-and-blood portrayal of the Iwo Jima statue. Later in the winter as the snow fell, skating, sledding, class parties and tobogganing excursions took the place of picnics and walks in the woods. Artist and Lecture Series, recitals and club meetings kept some seniors away from their books, while for others, sports were the study deterrent. Through all these activities, some of the more resolute individuals stuck rigidly to their desks, collecting data for honors projects.

With the two major vacations of the year past, Spring in all its bursting balminess arrived, bringing increased activities for the class. Among these were the Senior Honors Banquet and the annual Junior-Senior Banquet in May, after which the class withdrew for "skip-weekend." Then the FINALS!

Suddenly it was 1:00 P.M., June 4, 1962. Houghton's new alumni stepped into their life pursuits, some to graduate or medical schools, some to teach, some to marriage and homemaking, but in one accord "Looking unto Jesus."

Juniors

Fresh from a summer of relaxation and work, members of the Class of 1963 descended upon Houghton College early in September to begin the third phase of their college careers, with new experiences and responsibilities awaiting them.

Orientation Week, sparkling with Junior industry, was the first example of their determination to shoulder the new duties of the class. Anxious to give their little brothers and sisters a memorable welcome to Houghton, the Juniors planned an active schedule, highlighted by the impressive Deans' Reception Banquet in the Pre-Fab building and the outdoor singspiration on the steps of the Chapel-Auditorium.

The Letchworth Park outing, a week later, provided even further strengthening of the ties between the two classes.

November saw Junior ranks in chapel somewhat thinned, as the student teachers ventured forth to a week of observing in near-by public schools.

Another calendar year dawned, and juniors began preparations for the traditional Junior-Senior Banquet on May 18. Under final consideration, also, was the selecting and financing of the class project.

However, the measure of a class's industry is not entirely determined by special events, but by a consideration of its participation in campus life as a whole. Keen competition offered by athletic teams, continual recognition on the Dean's List and participation in the religious organizations of the college, all testified of enthusiastic Junior class response to college activities.

In Memoriam

John A. Phillips

We, the Class of 1963 present this page in memory of John Phillips, our classmate and friend, who was accidentally killed June 7, 1961. John was best known on campus for his dedicated service at the college radio station; to those who saw beneath his exterior of quiet reserve, John was more than program manager of WJSL. His subtle sense of humor and sincerity won him great respect among his intimate friends. John's primary concern was to live in accordance with his deep spiritual convictions. All those who knew him were influenced by his consistently Christian life.

"For to me to live is Christ, and to die is gain."

E. Douglas Burke, Class Advisor

Promoted to the status of "noble" Sophomores, the Class of '64 returned to Houghton Campus in the fall eagerly anticipating the traditional initiation program. To the theme of nursery rhymes, those "ole kings" and "ole queens" promptly succeeded in humiliating and orientating the slightly timorous, but game, Frosh. Bill Pierce and Dick Anthony, well-known Christian recording artists, delivered a concert, climaxing Freshman initiation.

The Letchworth picnic at the lower falls, presented by their sister class, the Seniors, provided occasion for hiking and other outdoor exercises along the Genesee River gorge. The creation of the class Homecoming float, "The Spirit of '76," and the organization of a Christmas Party centered around the theme of an alpine ski lodge gave the Sophomores added experience in working as a unit. Early in the year the class, under the direction of Gene Lemcio, began consideration of the class project.

In their green and white uniforms, the sophomore five presented a balanced attack. With several consistently good shots and the tall men to bring flubbed attempts back, the Sophs are stiff competition for all contenders.

Striving to uphold their class motto, "Not I but Christ," the Sophomores demonstrated a high level of spiritual concern. Well-attended weekly prayer meetings were conducted by chaplains Bob Edwards and Penny Lazaris. Sophomores participated in extension work such as Bible clubs, Torchbearers, musical groups, including a Sophomore trumpet trio.

As the school year ended, the Class of '64 looked forward, with continued preparation for the Big Brother-Big Sister program to the time when they would Officially receive the designation of "upperclassmen."

Freshmen

Over 325 high school graduates, looking and feeling a bit lost, succeeded in finding the Houghton College Chapel-Auditorium and plowed bravely through the incoming registration lines the third week of September, 1961. They were welcomed by their big brothers and sisters of the Junior class, presented with identification tags and bonny blue beanies and guided to their respective dorms.

During their first few days on campus, the inevitable testing program staved off pangs of homesickness during the daylight hours, while social functions completed the busy pre-school schedule. The first Welcome Banquet honoring incoming students in Houghton College history highlighted the orientation week.

Registration day came and passed—but only after countless schedules had been filled in, checked, rewritten, rechecked and finally completed. The Frosh, browbeaten into submission by the sophomores during initiation, had opportunity to retaliate at Freshman Honor Court under the judicious eye of Judge Wayne Hill.

As the busy days of classes and activities commenced, members of the class of '65 experienced problems and pleasures peculiar to college students. For some, it was a period of self-realization; for all a time of adjustment and orientation.

After mid-terms the class elected James Tysinger president, and Martita Marx and Harry Thomas chaplains.

With the debut of Spring, freshman donned for the first time their red and charcoal grey blazers, bearing the class motto, "more than conquerors through Christ." The class initiated schemes for bringing the successive freshman class into subjection prior to leaving the campus for their first summer vacation from college.

Faculty and Administration

Dr. Stephen W. Paine, President

The President

The position of college president predetermines such a myriad of responsibilities that the average man would tremble to shoulder them. When the duties related to pedagogy, counselling and journalism are added, the task is prodigious.

Since 1937, President Stephen W. Paine has labored conscientiously, gaining renown as an administrator, writer and Greek scholar. Dr. Paine uses his recently published Greek textbook in his role as professor of beginning Greek classes.

Dr. Paine also maintains a vital contact with the students through his practical and occasionally humorous weekly chapel talks and periodic press conferences.

President Paine's most outstanding characteristic is his deeply personal fellowship with God. In each of his roles, this relationship is consistently manifested . . . "Whatsoever ye do, do all to the glory of God."

DR. CLAUDE A. RIES, Vice President

A useful Public Relations department requires a dynamic personality to direct its activities. Dr. Robert Luckey's job is to broaden the public's conception of Houghton College's heritage, objectives and current projects. Speaking to churches, alumni chapters and other organizations, he arouses adult interest in the support of new plans for development, and from his office go catalogues and pamphlets designed to attract prospective students. In addition to his Public Relations duties, Dr. Luckey teaches mathematics and serves as Chairman of the college Department of Science and Mathematics.

Vice-Presidents

As vice president of the college, Dr. Claude A. Ries ably assists President Paine in the performance of administrative duties, ranging from welcoming guest speakers to coordinating college agencies in the president's absence.

Years of studying God's word, both in its exegesis and its original language, have produced in Dr. Ries a scholar steeped in profound Biblical truths, as students in his theology, Bible and Greek classes will attest.

DR. ROBERT R. LUCKEY, Vice President in Development

Dr. Arthur W. Lynip, Dean of the College

The Deans

The personnel deans find themselves faced with the overwhelming task of befriending and assisting more than 800 collegians. Their genuine desire to know each student contributes to the friendly atmosphere of the campus. Duties are varied: Dean Arthur Lynip is in charge of curricular affairs and faculty matters; he also acts as advisor to the Class of 1965.

Dean of Students James Mills regulates extension work, heads the Loan Grant Committee, and serves as faculty advisor for the Class of 1963. He also fulfills a limited teaching schedule.

Miss Elizabeth Rennick, Dean of Women, acts as hostess for campus social functions, and supervises and counsels with women students.

Each is appreciated for possessing a sense of humor, patience, and a mature, Christ-centered attitude.

James H. Mills, Jr.
Dean of Students

Elizabeth I. Rennick
Dean of Women

Richard Farwell, Registrar, Helen Lusk, Assistant Registrar.

The Registrars

The necessity for an integrated arrangement of class schedules is one of many problems which the registrar and his assistants must manage. Mr. Farwell patiently advises students on choice of courses and schedule conflicts, and his files contain carefully prepared reports on student progress.

Dr. Esther Jane Carrier, Head Librarian

The Librarian

Library utilization is essential to academic learning. Miss Carrier and her staff catalog new volumes, repair old ones, and meanwhile assist patrons in the reading and periodical rooms.

Assistants to the President

Traveling in behalf of the college Mr. Louis Eltscher and Mr. Harold Voegel personally contact prospective contributors to Houghton's development program. This year they have promoted the campaign for the new library and the chapel organ.

.... A TIMELESS PRAYER

In founding the Christian and Missionary Alliance 75 years ago, Dr. A. B. Simpson prayed: "I have now, O Lord, covenanted with Thee, not for worldly honors or fame, but for everlasting life . . . Place me in what circumstances thou mayest desire . . . and be mine forever."

AN AGELESS TASK

The 1961 Council of The Alliance was told by Dr. Nathan Bailey, president: "The supreme need of our day is a company of gospel preachers and missionaries . . . who will lay aside every other consideration and go forth preaching the Word in the power of the Holy Spirit."

TO THE MEMBERS OF THE CLASS OF 1962 GREETINGS AND CONGRATULATIONS

We join in your prayer for Divine direction, trusting that each of you will find God's wide-opened door for and effectual ministry.

Wherever you may be placed, we know that you will daily breathe the spirit of Dr. Simpson's timeless prayer with the more than 830 men and women already serving as Alliance missionaries on 23 fields of the world.

Thinking about a seminary?

For twenty-five years, Faith Seminary has answered the question asked by young potential ministers of the Gospel upon graduation. "What seminary should I choose." Now in its Silver Anniversary year, Faith Seminary is better able than ever to answer. Twenty-five years in direct contact with the great issues of Christendom have uniquely qualified Faith Seminary to be a trainer of 20th Century Reformers — Faith men true to the unaltered, divinely inspired Word of God and to the "testimony of Jesus Christ." In an atmosphere of pre-millennial expectation, in daily association with such noted Christian scholars as Seminary president Dr. Allan A. MacRae, you will receive academically sound, biblically sure education for Christ. Courses at the Seminary lead to Bachelor of Divinity, Master of Religious Education, and Master of Sacred Theology degrees. There is no charge for tuition or rooms. Dr. Carl McIntire, president of the board, the faculty and the student body invite you to include Faith Seminary as you plan your graduate study program. For full particulars, write Registrar, Faith Theological Seminary, Philadelphia 17, Pennsylvania.

FASTEST GROWING BOYS IN AMERICA

We're talking about the 700,000 newspaperboys in the United States and Canada, who deliver a predominant proportion of all the newspapers published in these countries.

It takes more than a yardstick to measure the growth of a newspaperboy. Because, in addition to growing physically (like all teen-agers) he is growing rapidly in many other ways, through his experience in a business of his own.

HE GROWS as a junior merchant, learns that his profits depend on getting new customers and holding old ones, learns how important it is to give dependable, courteous service and collect on time.

HE GROWS as a student, learns how to put to practical use many of the lessons he learns in school.

HE GROWS as a citizen, learns the importance of meeting his responsibilities, learns to respect the property of others, as he builds up his own bank account, and buys things for himself with money that he himself has earned.

idea man ...
the Keller yearbook
representative

DONALD J. MESSINGER

To the casual reader a yearbook is often simply an "album" of pictures with accompanying identifications and enough written text to fill up the remaining holes on the pages. Merely ink on paper . . . though nice to own and enjoy.

But to the staff and the adviser the yearbook means much more. For yearbook work comprises a multitude of details: Layout, Art, Photography, Copy, Typography, Covers and Binding (not to mention the small detail of money-raising). Highly technical and often confusing, these details are at the very least time-consuming and a source of anxiety to a staff unless the publisher's representative is company-trained to give needed help and suggestions.

All representatives for Wm. J. Keller Inc. are skilled in the many facets of yearbook work, having at their finger-tips the answers to yearbook problems as well as a multitude of ideas for new graphic arts special effects, to enable the staff to produce a yearbook that is different and attractive. Your Keller salesman is more than a technical adviser, he is a "clearing-house" of yearbook ideas.

The 1962 BOULDER is the product of a great amount of work, more worry, and probably even more fun. We have tried to produce something of worth, and it is hoped that we have presented in proper balance the facets of a college whose peculiar purpose is Christ-centered education.

I am grateful to a staff that has worked to make this book a reality, spending time at the expense of other interests—specifically academic. Special praise goes to photographer Donald Dayton who himself took, developed, and printed the majority of campus shots. With some trepidation, then, we let loose our efforts and hope for the best.
