VOL. 54

We did a lot of things this year —
a lot of thinking,
studying,
talking,
sharing.

We can remember frustration and loneliness,
but also relief, triumph and happiness.

In every activity, each of us has been searching for something that will bring personal fulfillment. We may find it here. Or we may not.

Either way, we have searched; and this book is a record of that search.

I seek my identity and I seek to understand,
We are all alone when we see ourselves
— Through this we better understand.

Mark Tuttle

Sunlight, dance-bright

clean, glistening

Children's laughter,

can't run after

Connie Seeley

We need to question our search only when the goal makes us blind to the day's realities, and we forget the person who we are now.

Linda LeVan

Consider, and know that present, past and future are an inseparable part of each other.

Today stands upon yesterday. Yet how readily we forget the past . . . how prone we are to gaze upon moons launched by our own hands, not seeing the ageless stars.

And tomorrow must stand upon today.
Yet how frugally we prepare for the future.

Kenneth Wilson

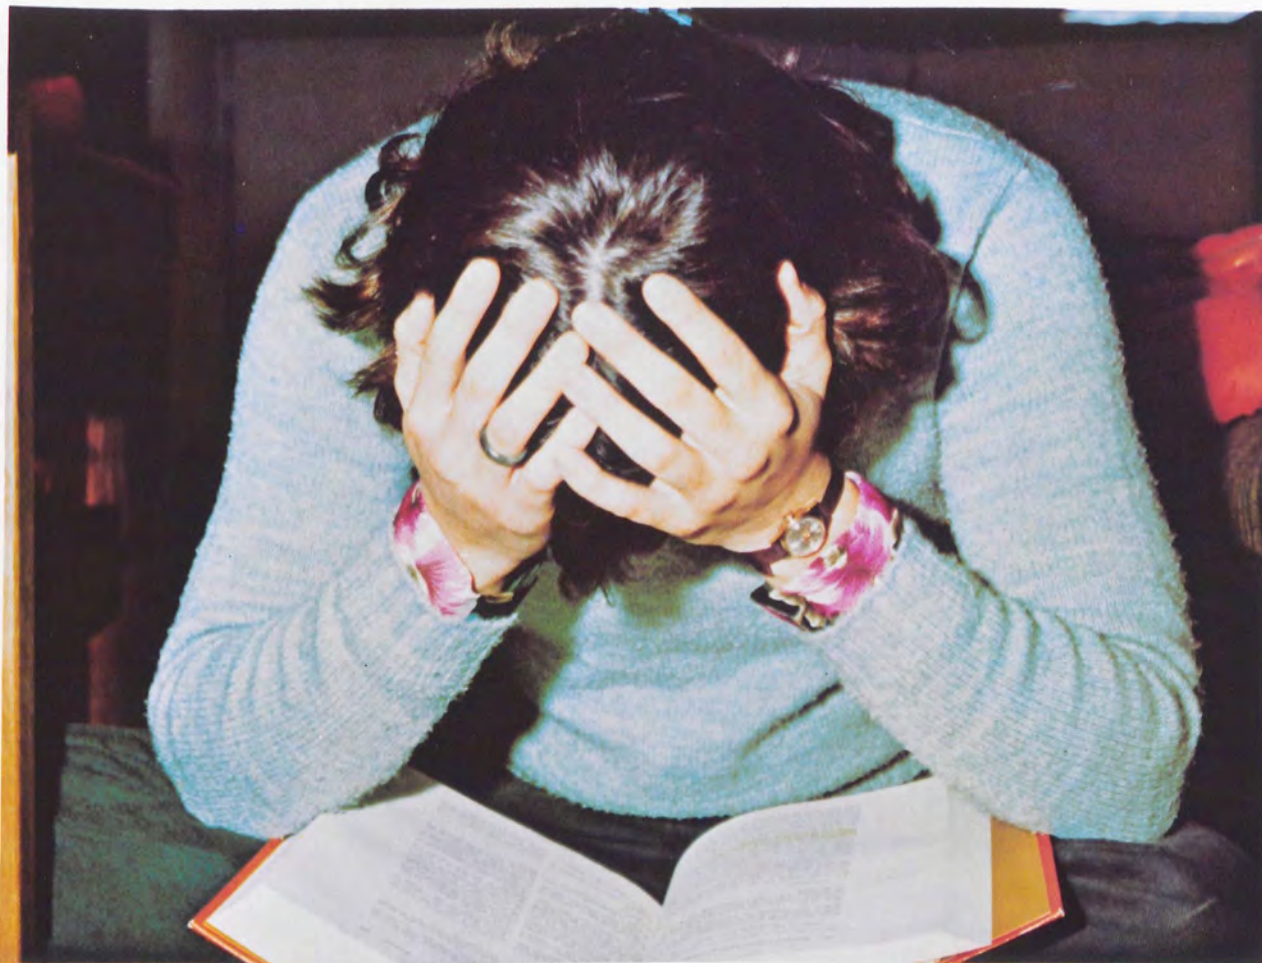

Know thyself; and give ear.
At life's confrontations remain, strained.
Blessings upon you with each year.
Working to mold, yourself unpained.

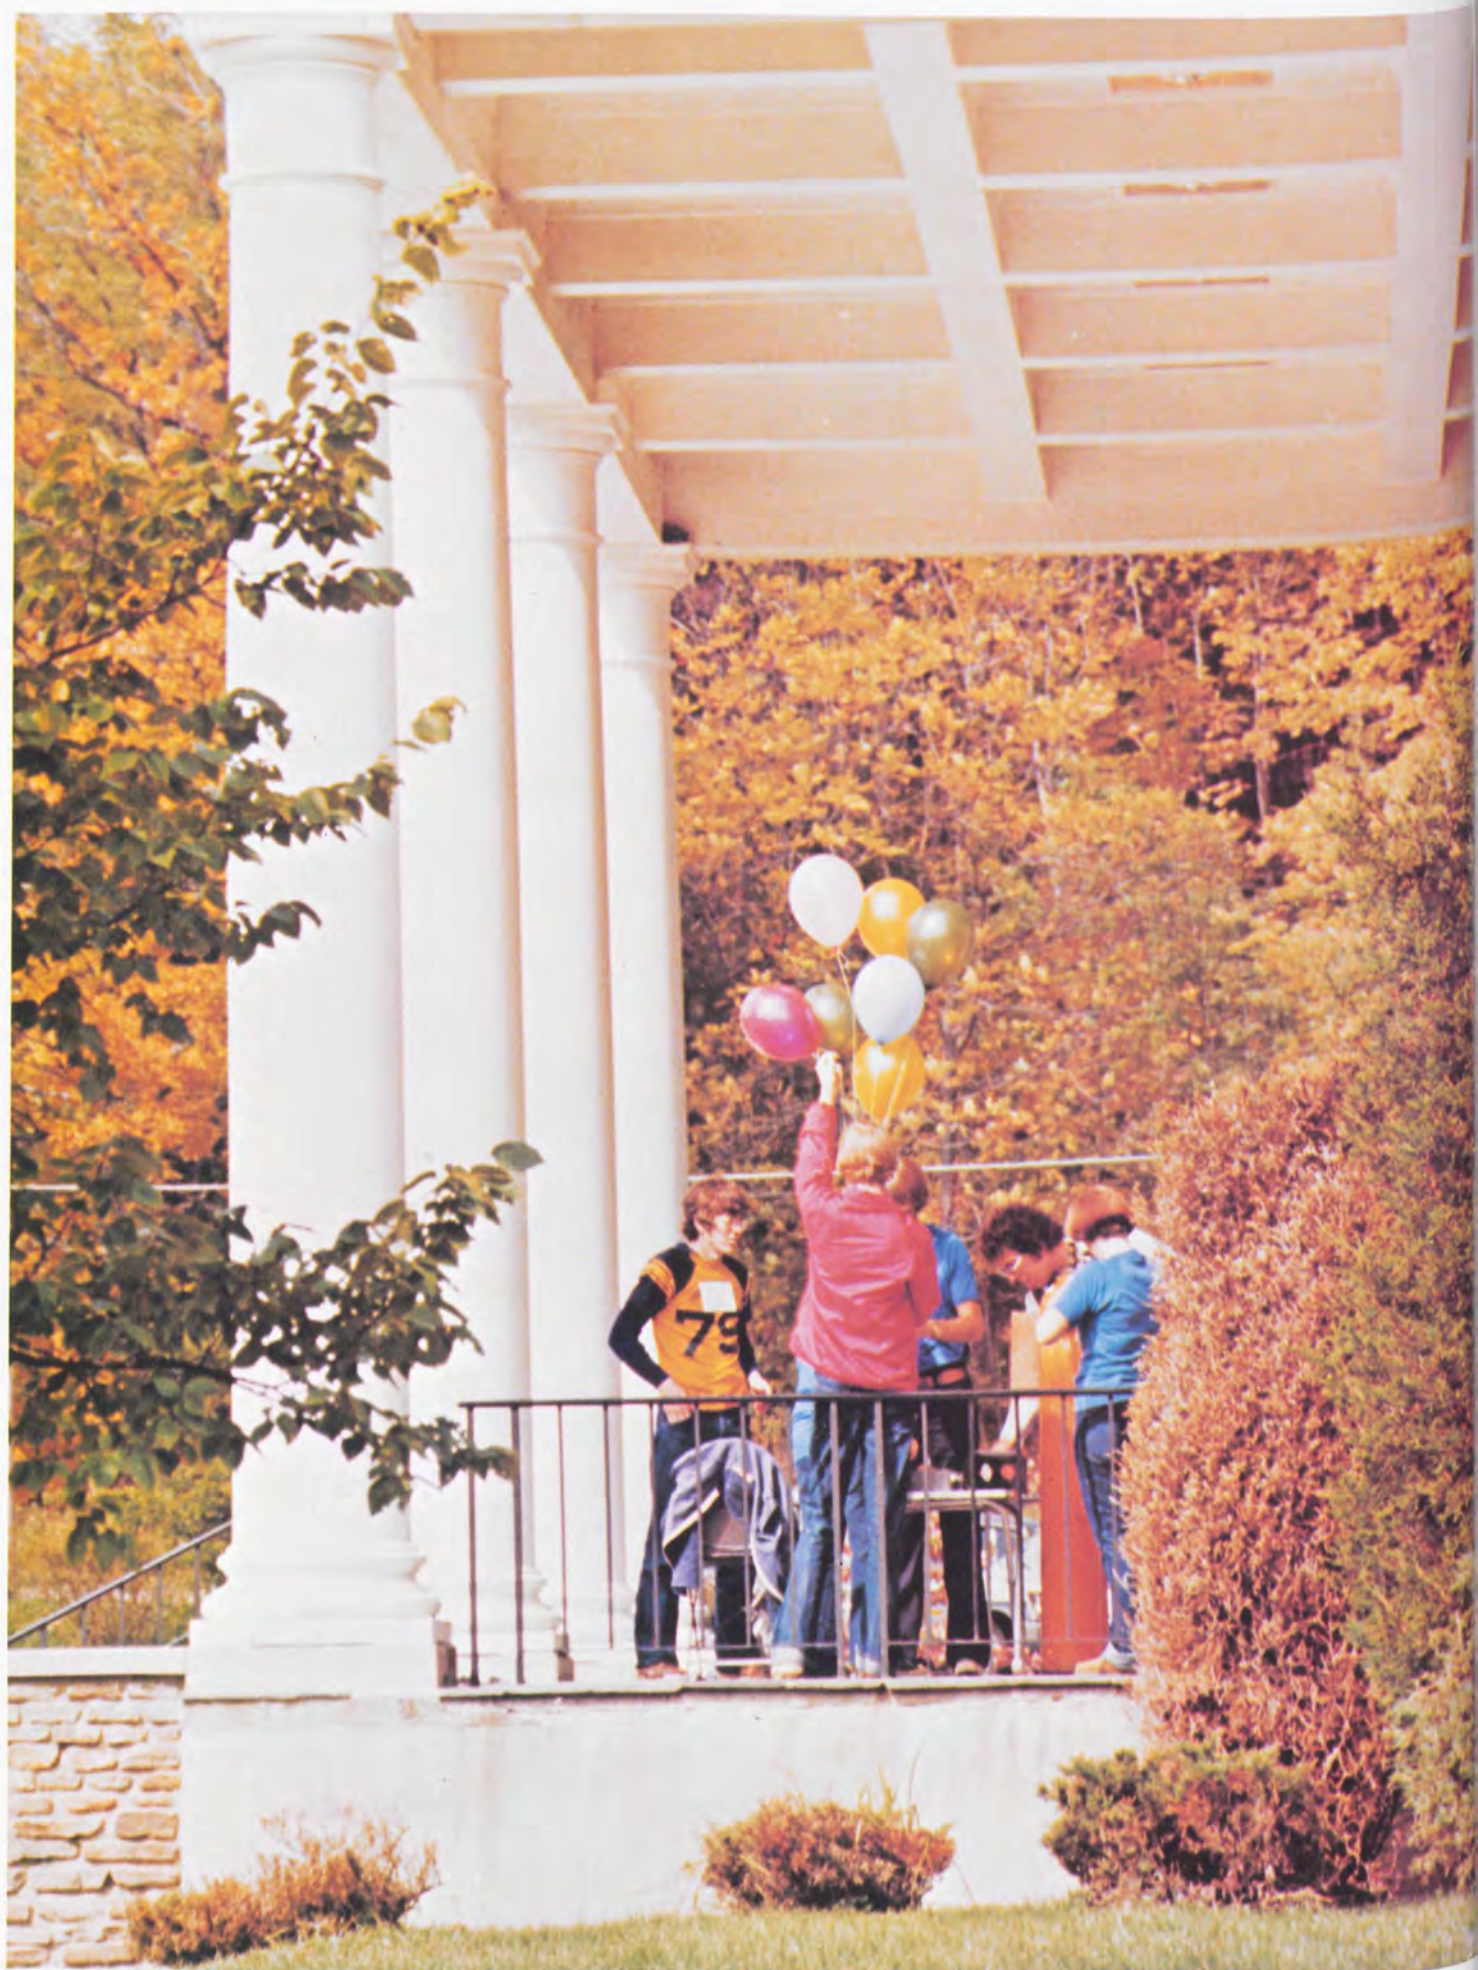

Drawn swords draw swords.
A soft word is a great shield.
But growth is at the point of a divine sword.
And your will, will not yield.

So there you have the sandy life.
Yawn & laugh & cry, simultaneously.

Dale Davis

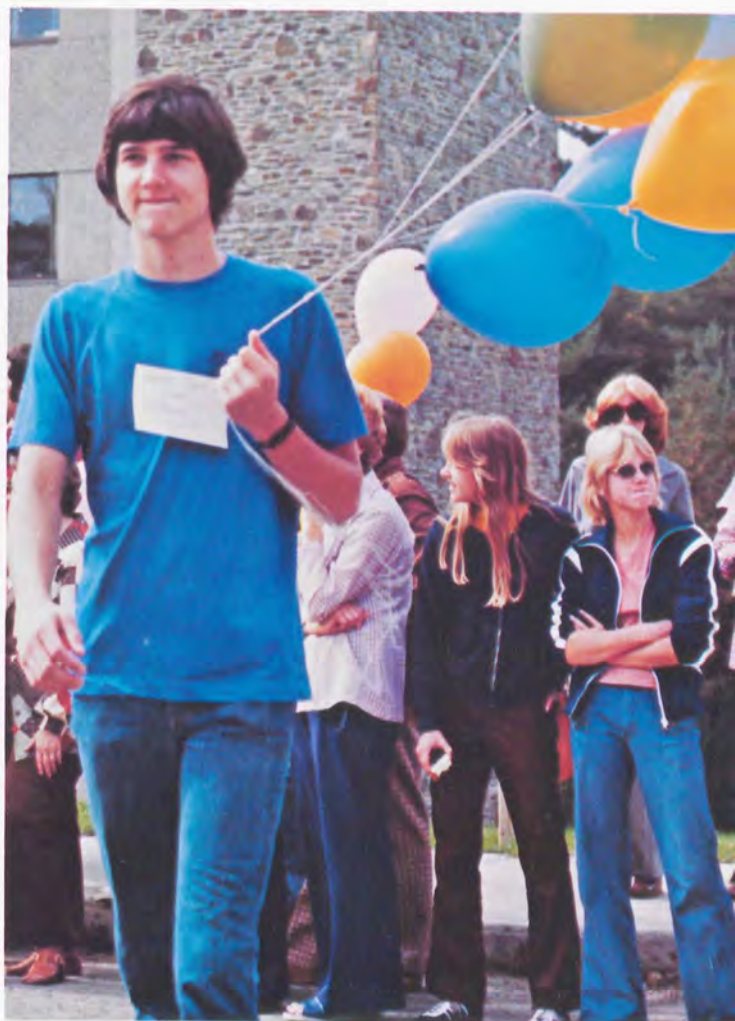

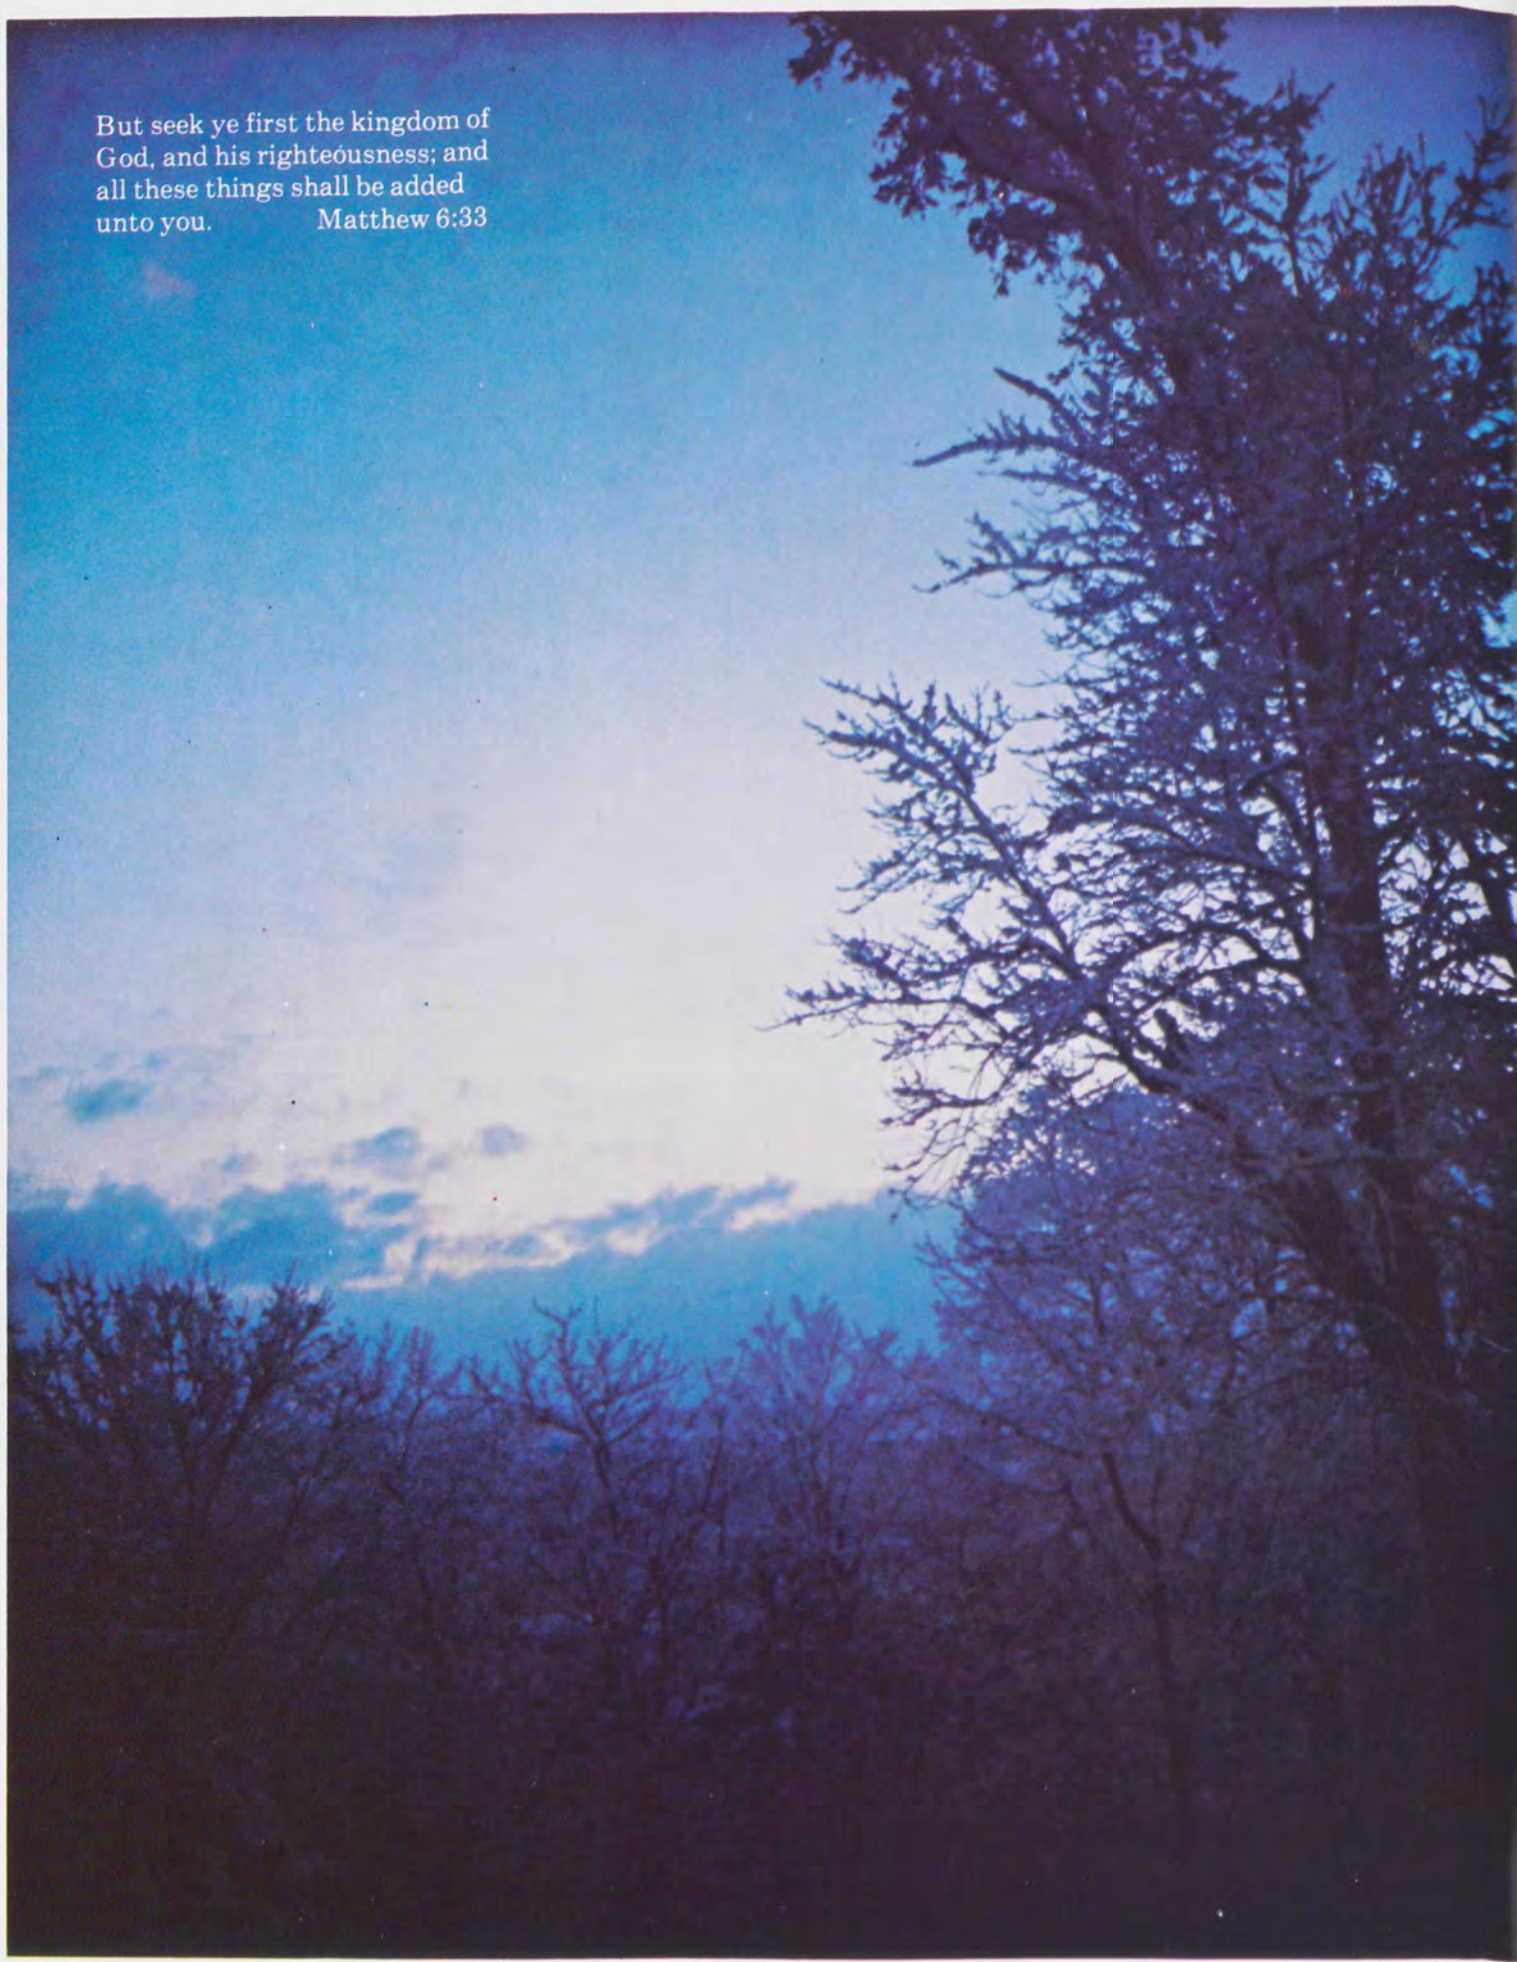

I came to college with a single, obvious purpose: to train my mind. I wished to discover how my mind works, so that I could conduct myself deliberately. I wished to discover everything worth thinking about, so that I would use my full capacities. And I wanted to be given the keys to every piece of information I might possibly need, so that I could find my way through the world. Whether this discipline will succeed remains to be seen . . . But I have discovered already that my mind cannot be trained to operate like a Silver Chief hurtling straight down the tracks to Los Angeles. So I've purposed to use it peripatetically, and balloons at Homecoming have their place in my education beside the forms of Plato, the writings of Samuel Johnson, and the Revised Standard Version.

Dan Hawkins

But seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you. Matthew 6:33

Lull me gently
 from limbs of light to dreams of death
 In the cool night
 lull me
 from willows in water reflected to sorrows of souls serene

Perfected, lull me
 from search to smooth
 from spill to save

Your power rolls over me
 a gathering wave

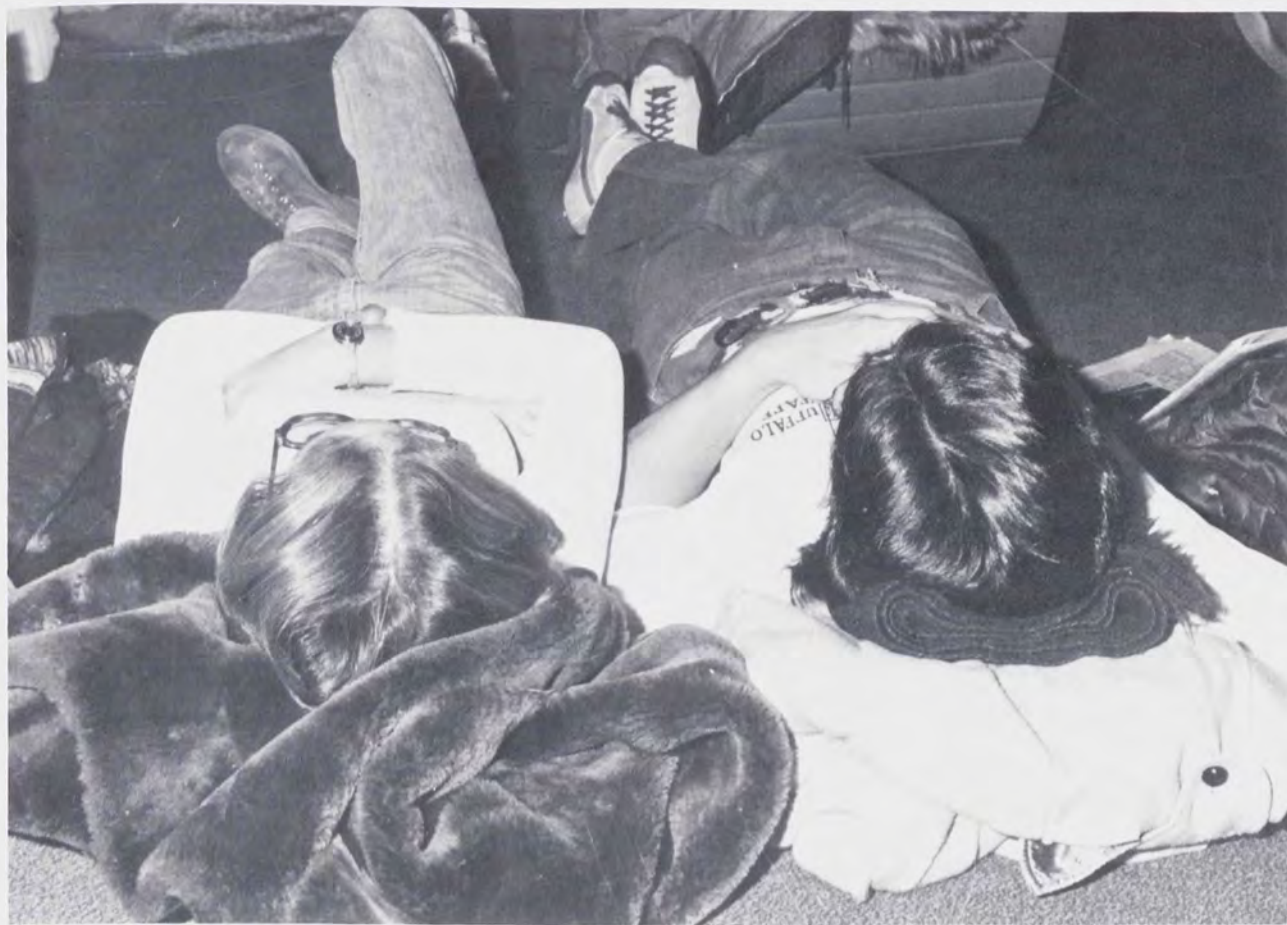

Julie McNiel

First I'll wait and see —
If you smile at me
Before I smile at thee.

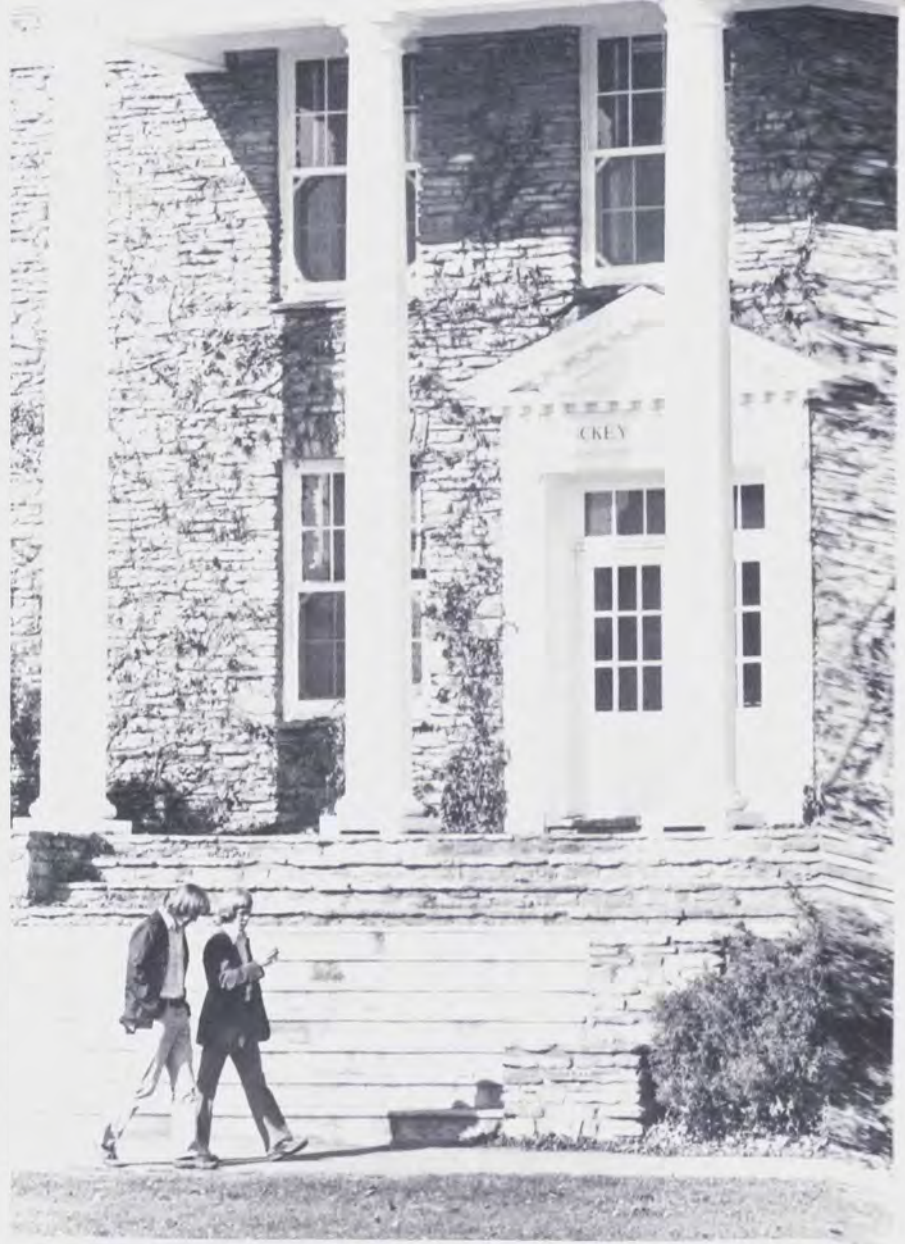

Danette Hildebrandt

" . . . God made man in His image . . ."
freely choosing destiny.
man computes his image after models
he selects: aborting
from Master Program;
or being reborn
in joyful realization of pre-designed holiness.

Rebecca Myers

What strange phenomena separates us from the likes of animals?
Is it the ability to know that we, in ourselves, are incomplete creatures,
destined to search for the source of our being?

Anonymous

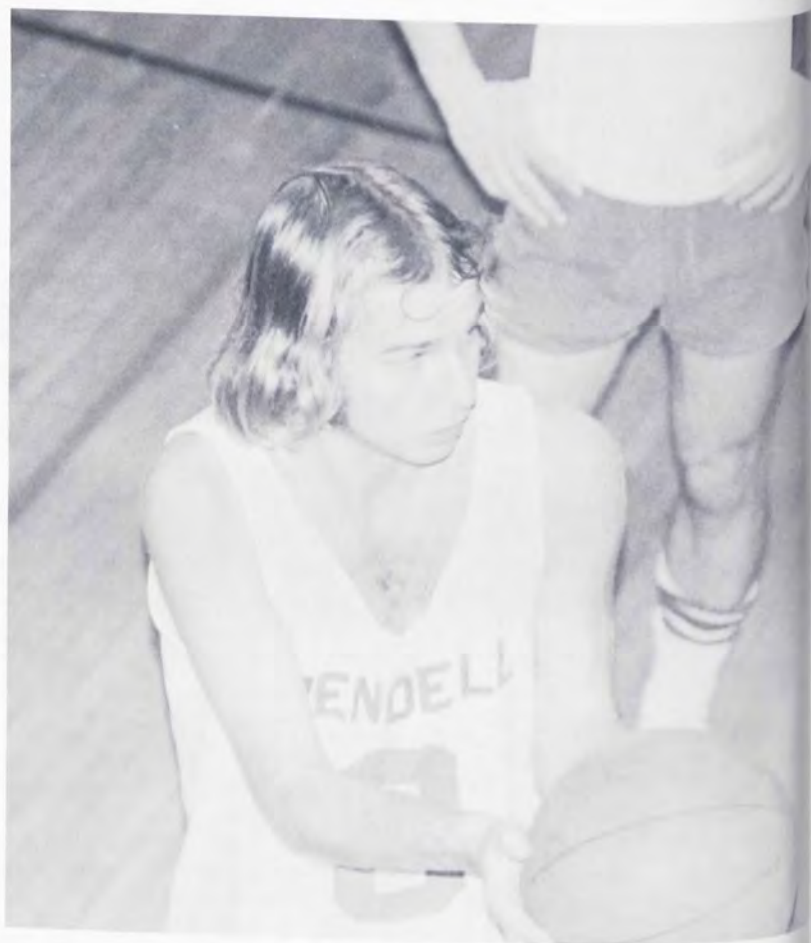

In the cement yellow block
staircase,
I wanted to walk through the bars instead of down
the stairs.

Cheryl Gretz

I cannot set my sights
On the stars, only on Reflection in the river
Reeling out beneath my feet.

Dan Hawkins

SENATE SPOTS

The fires . . .

They prompted many reactions.

But overall, they brought a realization of what we can not afford to lose . . .

THE GATSBY YEARS

I'm losing touch —
I really am —
it's inevitable.

You reach out to people
You touch,
 laugh,
 understand
then you lose your grip —

they drift back and you move on.

Will I see them again?
If I do, will it be the same?

So many faces,
 so many people,
shared thoughts and places —

Are they all lost and gone forever?

No. They are stored
 in my memory.

If I see them again,
 it will be the same —

no matter what we do or say on the outside,

 for an instant.

Mr. Cook,

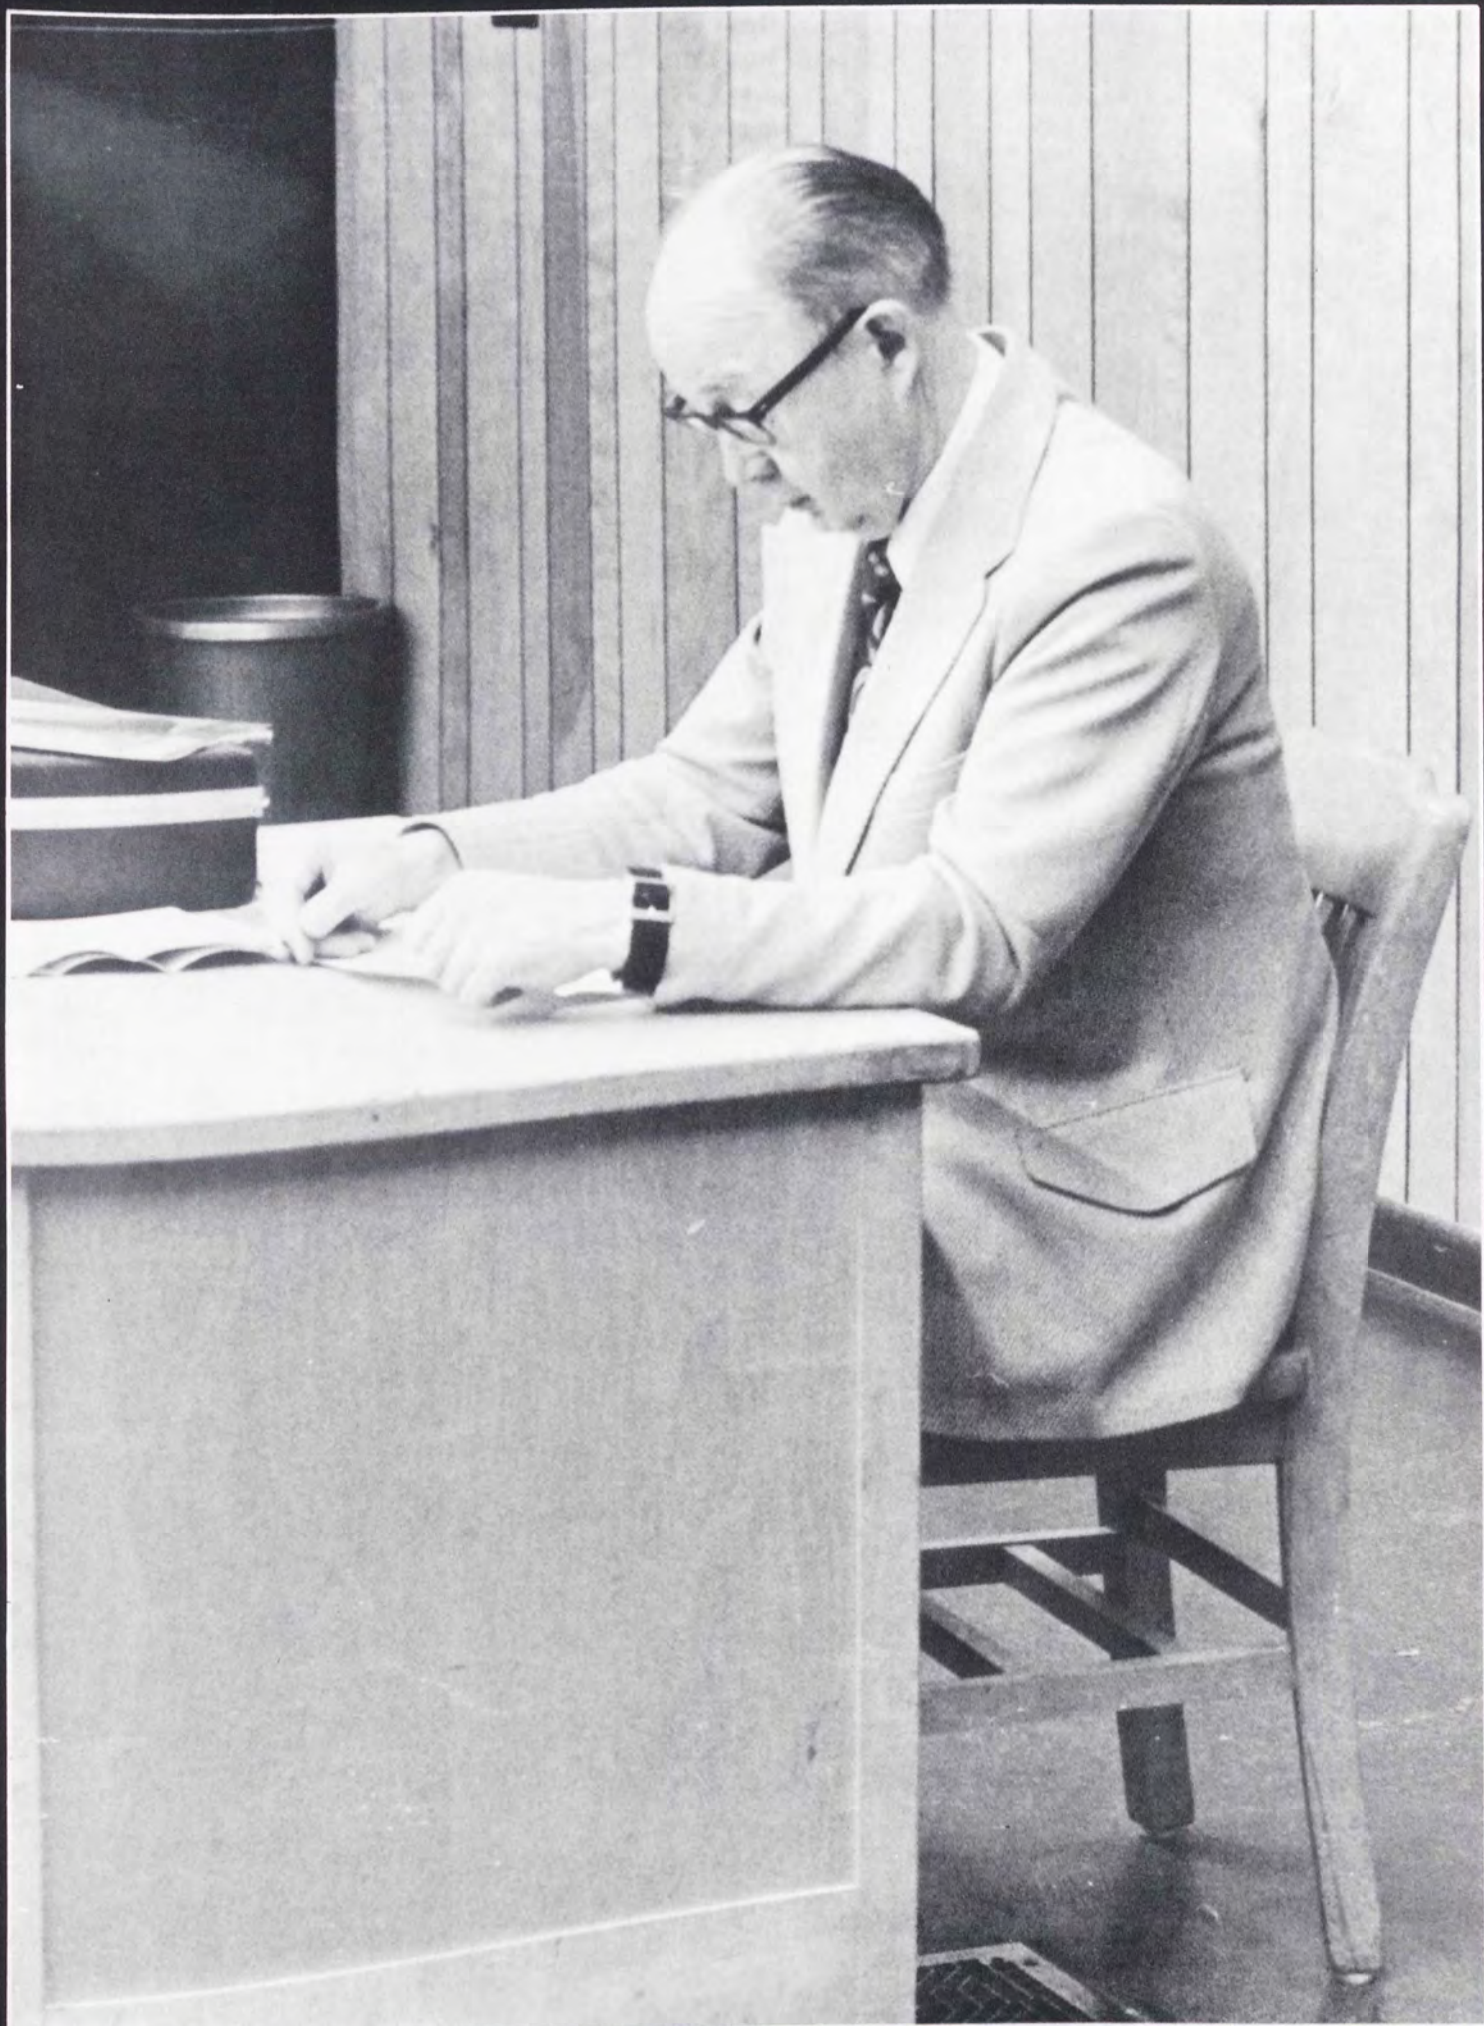

We dedicate this Boulder to you . . .

Not only because of your prudent advice and indispensable aid in the production of this book;

But also because of the concern you feel for all your students, and the endless hours you invest on their behalf.

We appreciate all you have done and hope that this book can adequately say

Thank you!

Daniel Chamberlain, President

LUCKEY MEMORIAL

He is a new face
on a campus filled with warm memories
of old and familiar faces.

He brings with him
a refreshing desire to strive for excellence in all areas of life.

He may not cause any great changes on our campus,
He may only lead Houghton to achieve its potential as a college, and a Christian community;

But that is all we ask of him . . .
That is what needs to be done.

Welcome to Houghton, Dr. Chamberlain!

*I'll climb tomorrow's mountain,
I'll swim yesterday's sea,
I'll chase the clouds one by one,
In search, Lord, until you find me.*

Linda Rich

No matter where we are in our search for meaning, we will not progress further unless we can constantly say, "Search me, O God."

*Many people contributed to this book, but only a few gave unselfishly of themselves and their time. I want to especially thank Cheri Hannigan, Terry Anderson, Jeff Karr, Lois B. Good,
Anne Marie Post, Holly Smith, Stephen
Johnson and Mr. Arnold Cook.*

We all hope you could identify with and appreciate these excerpts from one year of our search.
