Jr.-Frosh, Sr.-Soph Parties Friday Night

The annual sister-class parties, with the seniors entertaining the sophomores and the juniors taking over the freshmen, will be held this Friday night. Because of these events, it looks as if Houghton Campus will be rather deserted in its usually gala "date" night, for sophomores have been warned to come "in old clothes ready to go to the sticks", and freshmen are to meet in the afternoon in front of the old Ad Building bound for the "Unknown" (that is, if the "skies are blue in Houghton").

Some new students, judging from the last two Friday nights in Houghton, have come to the conclusion that it is time to dress up in one's fanciest and step with one's best foot forward. However, this week's activities should disprove that idea. Judging from past years, it will be an evening when everyone has a gay, carefree, good time. In other years there have been hikes, lively games, stunts, programs, plenty of stimulating food, heartwarming sings around glowing fires, and always a rich devotional period. It is during these times that students really get acquainted and have the fun and fellowship that they remember as long as they remember college.

Houghton Becomes Very Cosmopolitan This Year

Houghton College has assumed an international or cosmopolitan air this year, for many nations and races are represented in her student body. In the college we find that every class now boasts more than one race in its membership. The new students are most heartily oriented to Houghton and are already well known to the student body.

Avery Watson, a chemistry major, is interested in research for his career. After graduation from Houghton College, he plans to do post-graduate work in California. Avery was born in Dayton, Ohio, where he attended a number of high schools. He feels that change is good for one as it develops one's adaptability. In view of this he has gone Talladega College, Alabama, and Bates College, Maine, before attending Houghton. In speaking of Talladega College he said that it was an "Oasis of Democracy", but in speaking of Houghton he said that it is the only place "religion is not an idle thing." Photography is his hobby. Avery is already working on the STAR staff here.

The Junior class treasurer, Roy Katschi Takaya was born in Montana of Japanese descent. For the past two years Roy has attended Chesbrough Seminary and Junior College, and now he is continuing his religious education here

Missionary Day to Coincide with Opening Of Houghton Church Revival Campaign

Thompson to Speak On South America

Rev. Wm L. Thompson, senior missionary of the Latin America Mission, is to be the speaker at the annual college missionary day, which is to be held next Tuesday in conjunction with the opening of the revival services. Mr. Thompson has been associated with almost every department of the Latin American Mission work in both Costa Rica and Columbia, having taught for many years in the Bible School in the city of San Jose as well as having been the pastor of the Templo Biblico there, and for the three years previous to his returning to this country he was superintendent of the work in Columbia.

USE MISSIONARY LAUNCHES

Mr. Thompson is well acquainted with the launch work, a feature of the work in Columbia. By launches such as the Good News, missionaries sail up and down the Magdalena River for hundreds of miles, reaching tribes and villages far in the interior of Columbia. All in all, Mr. Thompson has spent eighteen years on the field, and is a consecrated, efficient missionary in every sense.

The Latin America Mission, which Mr. Thompson represents, carries on an independent, interdenominational campaign of aggressive evangelism, training of native workers, newspaper and periodical publication, orphanage and medical work, and the training of native nurse missionaries. It was formerly the Latin America Evangelization campaign.

Wilson to Begin Meetings Tuesday

The Rev. Oliver Wilson of Miltonvale, Kansas, will hold the annual fall revival services in the Houghton Church, October 10-22, it was announced recently by the administration of Houghton College.

Mr. Wilson, a native of Miltonvale, Kansas, was head of the theological department of Miltonvale Junior College until June of 1943 when he was elected Connectional Sunday School Editor of the Wesleyan Methodist Church. For many years Mr. Wilson has done evangelistic work among young people of several denominations and has established himself as an evangelist of merit.

A true man of God, Mr. Wilson possesses a very keen sense of humor and a very great love for all people. He has a reputation for preaching short sermons and can compress a wealth of vital information into a very small amount of time.

Mr. Wilson attended Miltonvale College and after graduation became an

Elect Council Replacements

In an election held Monday during short chapel, the Senior class filled the vacancies left in the Student Council by the failure of Helen Mann and Harold Morey to return to school. Elected to the vacated positions were Phyllis Turner and Bill Smalley.

James Shoe and Roy Takaya were elected to fill similar vacancies in the Junior class membership on the council. These vacancies were left by Larry Birch now in the Navy and Willard Heck, who resigned because he does not live in Houghton.

Thibault Presents Excellent Concert

Stage Manner Is Asset to Singer

The Houghton College Artist Series was successfully opened September 29th with the concert of Conrad Thibault, the most frequently heard baritone in radio. Mr. Thibault, who was accompanied by the capable Alderson Mowbray, drew volumes of applause from his audience.

The guest artist opened his performance with "Where'er You Walk" from the opera, Semele by Geo. Frederick Handel. Following the above were two beautiful selections in French which concluded the first group. At the end of group one a spontaneous roar of applause prompted the artist, who was most generous in this respect, to sing an encore, the immortal, "Drink to Me Only With Thine Eyes". Group II included four songs in a somewhat lighter vein by French and Spanish composers; it was during this group that Mr. Thibault, by giving brief backgrounds of each song, established an even greater audience contact which grew as the program progressed. For the last section of the program before intermission, he sang the Aria, "De L'art Splendeur Immortelle" from the opera "Benvenuto Cellini" by Diaz.

Part II opened with "Dreamer" by Malotte and three novelty songs. Then Mr. Thibault gave his superb rendition

A Cappella Choir Chosen; Rehearsals Already Begun

"We have good possibilities as a musical organization. We even expect to have higher musical and spiritual standards," stated Professor Carapetyan at a recent interview, concerning Houghton's all-woman A Cappella Choir. On October 2 the choir had its second meeting of the year. Prof. Carapetyan led the choir through vocal exercises and started rehearsing "The Beatitudes" by S. Panchenko. Mrs. Edith Livenspire gave a short talk to the choir.

The A Cappella Choir is preparing for weekend tours which will start the latter part of December or early in January. The Choir will appear at neighboring towns and cities in the radius of 100 miles. For the spring tour, Prof. Carapetyan states that this should be the year to go to the New England states.

The membership numbers 40 voices with 32 upperclassmen, 6 freshmen and 2 special students. Rehearsals are held on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays from 3:30 to 4:45 p. m.

"Where Men Meet God"

The term, "Revival Services" carries a connotation as varied as are the experiences of individuals who have come in contact with such services in any form. The editor had a high school history teacher once, who characterized them as being highly emotional, un-religious and insane. Readers of Dr. J. Wesley Bready's book, This Freedom—Whence, will be inclined to agree that the Wesleyan revival was one of the important factors contributing to the salvation of England from the fate France had in the Revolution.

As students in Houghton College, we are forced to face the fact of revival services. Whether we want them or not, they are held here, and as we come from various backgrounds, we look at them each in a different light. To some freshmen, the word "revivals" may mean nothing at all. They may have no realization of the stress that is put on spiritual well being throughout the ten days of meetings. To other freshmen the whole idea of such services may arouse distrust and antagonism. They may be afraid of "wildfire". Some imaginary concept built around the epithet, "holy rollers" may rise in their minds. Others of the frosh, of course, will enter into the spirit of the revivals and contribute a great deal to the spiritual atmosphere of the school.

To the upper classmen, however, and especially to the seniors who can look back over three years, there can be few cases of opposition to the services. We who have seen our classmates vitally, deeply and permanently transformed by a work of the grace of God, have no antagonism to the evangelistic program. We who have seen the hearts of professed atheists melt before the fire of God cannot but support the meetings. We who have felt the joy of Christ surging into our own hearts through the working of His Spirit in us during one of the campaigns, cannot but pray that God would do a similar work in all who need it. We who have seen how much better Houghton school life is after a fresh sweep of God's Spirit over us all, cannot but work to the end that such a sweep would again take place.

No one who was there will ever forget the revival services held in February, three years ago. No one who was there will ever lose all of the impression it made on his life. "Revival" was no misnomer for that series of meetings. God revived this campus to the point where God's sweetest and fullest blessing could flow upon us, and to the point where we were willing to abandon everything for Him.

We ask the new students to reserve judgment until God has had a chance to work here in the services this fall. We feel sure that if you know Him, you feel Him here and will feel Him the more strongly during the meetings which start next Tuesday. If you do not believe in Him, reserve your criticism until you are sure that you can be intellectually honest.

Let us all push forward spiritually in these services to come. God must lead us individually if we are to be, in a true sense, Christians.

— W. A. S.

Missionary Day Spirit

We would like to draw student attention to the fact that the annual Houghton College Missionary day is to be held next Tuesday, the opening day of the revival campaign. Students from last year will remember the prayers that went up during the course of the year, prayers for God to send out large numbers of missionaries from our student body. We remember James Stewart, and the messages of Miss Lewis (Mrs. Ditchfield). This year should be a progression of the same spirit. May it start next Tuesday.

High School News . . .

By High School Students

MUSIC

The same God that made the nightingale made the crow, that is why so many of the pupils of the high school turned out for their choir practice. The Prep School Choir under the direction of Miss Margaret Hamilton started off with a bang Monday night, with about twenty-five pupils turning from their studying to join it. The choir automatically is included in the Oratorio, which will be given Christmas time supervised by Professor Cronk.

There are also several high school students who have joined the Motet Church Choir under the direction of Professor Caro M. Carapetyan. We also are planning to have a high school orchestra if enough students come out with their instruments to show their talent. Even though we are a small group, we are praying that our music will prove a blessing to all who hear us.

SPORTS

It was, of course, back a couple of years that the High School was first able to take a prominent place in campus sports. The Preparatory department looks forward with eager anticipation to the game Friday with the Frosh, as this game will mark a new era in their sports.

Going on to basketball, the High School expects to put on the floor, with the exception of Paul Ortlip, the same team that defeated the Junior class last year. The High School Athletic Association headed by B. Barnett is creating a new enthusiasm in athletics. What might appear to be a lack of power on the field will be overshadowed by the game spirit of the Prep Students.

RELIGION

Since Houghton Preparatory plans to give its students a well rounded education, it doesn't forget the religious activities as most present day high schools do. Houghton believes that a spiritual advancement is far greater than scholastic or athletic; therefore, she maintains some religious organizations. Every morning at seven-thirty a group gathers for a "morning watch" where prayer is held so the students can have their morning devotions in a group. On Friday afternoons at 3:30, we have a students' prayer meeting where there is singing, prayer and praise. Every Sunday at 2:15 p. m. in the auditorium in the basement of the church another song, prayer and praise service is held which is called "Light Bearers". Ever since these meetings were started, Houghton Preparatory has grown, not only in size, but also spiritually as well.

In Case You Haven't Heard

INTERNATIONAL

The German Officials may not have lost faith in the Siegfried Line, but just in case—a wall of reinforced concrete is said to be in the making around Berlin's Hotel Adlon where many high ranking officials reside. A Stockholm commentator reports that Berliners when they pass the hotel comment: "There you see the last remnants of 'fortress Europe'".

Since Count Claus von Stauffenburg tried to assassinate him with delayed action bombs concealed in a case, Hitler has developed a phobia against brief cases. Even the Japanese ambassador upon a visit to Hitler's Headquarters, was met by an S. S. guard who relieved him of his brief case.

With the fighting in Europe proving tougher than we here at home had hoped, it doesn't heighten our optimism concerning the war as a whole to learn that in the Philippines alone there are 7,083 islands, many of them Jap-garrisoned, at least some of which must be taken before we can ever hope to attain a foothold in China or the main islands of Japan. The great majority of the Japanese soldiers are yet to be encountered, and they have proved much more fanatical than the Germans. Under Secretary of the Navy, Ralph Bard, said, "The enemy's position is not nearly so bad as we would like to believe, for in the Japanese inner citadel they retain great concentrated strength..."

We are inclined to agree with British

Prime Minister Winston Churchill when he warned the British House of Commons not to believe all they hear from the United States this fall. "There is an election on," he remarked, "and very vivid accounts of all kinds of matters are given by people who cannot possibly have any knowledge of what has taken place at secret conferences. The United States is a land of free speech. No where is speech freer..."

The forty-eight states have been ranked educationally on the basis of percentage of high school and college graduates over twenty-five in each state's population. The first ten are California, Utah, Nevada, Washington, Wyoming, Oregon, Colorado, Massachusetts, Idaho and Montana. The South contained eight of the last ten with Arkansas the tail-end.

Servicemen, we want to hear from you, wherever you are. Write in to the STAR, and tell us as much as you are permitted to divulge about your location and work. We want to publish the news we get about you who are former students in Houghton.

This week we have news from the Atlantic side of things that the boys still appreciate dear ole Houghton and its link with them, the STAR. In addition, Pvt. Marlin Kreider (ex '44) writes from "somewhere in England"—"I find myself in the operating rooms where I run the entire list of variety work... There is opportunity for personal witnessing for Christ not only among the patients, but also among my buddies... We have a real Christian chaplain in our unit. I do some singing for his services."

From the other side of the Channel, Pfc. Richard Graham (ex '45) describes the French countryside. "The villages are quaint little affairs with houses... built of stone with high stone walls around them. They have so few windows that I mistook them for barns at first sight." After describing bicycles, horses and buggies, and an Army staff car as means of transportation, he concludes with "Driving along, many would hold up V for Victory signs."

MARSH MARRIED

Here at home there was a wedding. At the First Presbyterian Church in Mountain View, California, Ensign James D. Marsh (ex '43) was married to Miss Shirley Helen Stalford of that city on Sunday, September 17. Jim is stationed at San Diego where he is attached to the Commandant 11th Naval District Submarine Service, having graduated on September 14 from Midshipmen's School at Northwestern University in Chicago.

It was a pleasure to see Pfc. John Sheffer ('43) last week during his furlough from the University of Buffalo Medical School.

A/S Leslie Beach (ex '47) is at Sampson Naval Training Station. "I sure got a thrill this morning in church hearing three or four thousand fellows singing all the beautiful verses of 'The Old Rugged Cross'. The hymn never meant quite as much to me before. The words really stood out for me". Les also says he sang in the E Unit Protestant Choir on World Communion Sunday.

Gardner (ex '46) has arrived at Army Air Forces Redistribution Station No. 2 at Miami, Florida, for reassignment. He will remain there about a week. In addition to the DFC and Air Medal mentioned previously, he holds a Presidential Unit Citation.

We wish it were possible to print more of Cpl. Truman Ireland's (ex '46) heartwarming letter to Houghtonians, telling of God's presence in his life in Italy. Under the date "22 August 1944" we read, in part, "I know that all of you at Houghton College have done more than your share in helping us here in the service. Your blood donations, sale of bonds, and most of all your prayers have been instrumental in our safe keeping, our ever going on with God, yes, and our continual victory against forces which would seek to destroy."

I Believe

How often have I praised the Lord Jesus for John 15:16, for this verse has given me strength and confidence when I might have doubted, "Ye have not chosen me, but I have chosen you." I was chosen of God for just one purpose, "That I should go and bring forth fruit." He did not save me and send me out into the world of sin unequipped, but He gave me the last part of that verse as a promise on which I might stand, "—that whatsoever ye shall ask of the Father in my name, He may give it you." What more can I ask? This truth alone is a sufficient anchor for my soul in all the storms of this life—bitter though they may be.

I'm so glad that this abundant life is built upon the solid Rock, Christ Jesus, for I know it will stand all the tests of life with absolutely no exceptions.

Thanks be unto Him who sought me until He found me and it is now the purpose of my life to seek after other lost sheep that they might know Him too,—"whom to know aright is life eternal." "As for God, His way is perfect; the word of the Lord is tried; He is a buckler to all those that trust in Him." (Ps. 18:30)

Our Impressions of Conrad Thibault

It didn't take us long last Friday night to decide that we liked the singer. Mr. Thibault impressed us from the first with his voice, even those of us who know nothing of the technique of fine singing. But as the baritone progressed through his first group of songs into the second, we began to feel that our artist had an unusually fine stage personality which added considerable pleasure to the evening. Then, when he began to exercise his dramatic talent, we were really enthusiastic.

Leaving the analysis of Mr. Thibault's musical technique to those who understand such matters, we nevertheless, had some strong reactions. The audience was literally left gasping for breath after the encore, "My Old Nag, Ned", but the singer seemed to have plenty of breath. We were almost tempted to wonder if he didn't have an additional windpipe somewhere.

Watsonian psychology was the only aspect of "the antiseptic baby and the prophylactic pup" which Mr. Thibault did not cover in "Strictly Germproof". Our sympathies are all with the bunny. As for the poor queen in "Sing A Song of Sixpence", we have not been able to find out what member of the audience is now in possession of her nose.

Elect War Council Members

Jean Christianson, Grace Baumgartel, and Wesley Potter were elected to represent the students on the faculty-student War Council this year. Dr. Robert Luckey, who has been chairman of the War Council since its inauguration two years ago, said that he wanted to start the War Council functioning right away.

In past years the Council has sponsored and coordinated the war activities of the campus. Its large contribution to the war effort has been the raising of large sums for the war stamp and bond drives. In order to do this, the Council has sponsored "War Programs", which have been elaborate, dramatic productions, usually written and organized by local students and faculty members.

Faculty members on the Council are the same as last year. They are Dr. Gillette, Dr. Woolsey and Dr. Luckey, chairman.

Good Results Shown In Freshmen Recital

The Freshman class, by its music recital on Thursday, Sept. 28th, showed that it is to have noticeable potentialities in the music department. Seventeen girls and three boys presented the first musical program of the school year. These students in beginning the most important stage in their musical careers showed that they deserved the support of the highly appreciative audience and the encouragement of the entire school and community.

Vocalists included Alice Wright ("O Love that Will Not Let Me Go" by Albert L. Peace), Maie Thomas ("God Will Take Care of You"), Helen Treichler ("Through the Years" by Youmans) and Ted Smith ("Ship Ahoy" by D. B. Towner).

Piano selections were given by Yvonne Eckhardt (Excerpt from "Finlandia" by Jean Sibelius), Lura Gulliver ("The Ballet Dancer" by Arthur L. Brown), Bessie Hall ("Throwing Kisses" by Carl Heins), Zada Huff ("Minuet in G" by L. von Beethoven), Margaret Erb ("Capriccio No. 11" by Handel), Constance Varney ("Chanson Triste" by Tchaikovsky), Norma Fisher ("Venetian Boat Song No. 1" by F. B. Mendelssohn), Eleanor Gustafson ("Moonlight Sonata" by L. von Beethoven [first movement]), Beatrice Fletcher ("Praeludium" by Edward MacDowell), Beryl MacMillen ("Valse" by M. Levitzki), Ailene Nase ("Prelude in G Minor" by Rachmaninoff) and Robert Casler ("Il Trovatore" arranged by Sydney Smith).

Other selections included John W. Bretton's "Teddy Bears' Picnic" by S. Pierce (string bass), Pernoff's "Concertina" by Reba Dickinson (violin), C. M. von Weber's "Concertina", [first movement], N. Croop (oboe). For exceptionally meritorious interpretations of "Concertina" and "Praeludium", Barbara Robinson and Beatrice Fletcher deserve special notation.

THIBAULT CONCERT...

of "Sylvia" which caused the audience to give him its most hearty response of the evening. The concluding group was a cross-section of American Folk music.

At the close of the program, Conrad Thibault deservedly received numerous curtain calls from a nearly capacity house. Graciously he responded with four successive encores including "Water Boy", "The Lord's Prayer" and "Oh, What a Beautiful Morning!"

Students and members of the community spoke of the concert as an outstanding success and an auspicious opening for the series. In addition to the general comment, the artist received much praise for the rich quality of his voice and his breath control.

HOUGHTON Intra - Mural

BY ROY TAKAYA

"Are you going out for football?" or "Are you going to play hockey?" are among some of the popular questions that have been asked during the past few weeks. New students are probably still uncertain as to how much time they will provide for sports on their weekly calendar. More experienced students have already made their plans, and have either left out sports altogether, due to a variety of reasons, or have included athletics as a definite part of their program. This is an important matter and should cause one to think and pray for guidance.

Those who have come to Houghton for the first time are already realizing that there is a prime emphasis being placed on spirituality, or the building of character in and through the studies and activities of the day. If, then, the chief aim of this college is to build the character of the students, the athletic program must be in harmony with this ideal, or fail in its purpose. Suffice to say, it has fulfilled its part of the school program in the past years judging from the testimonies of the lives it has helped to develop.

EXERCISE NEEDED

Coach McNeese has observed that quite a number of all-around athletes of past years have also been high in their scholastic standings. He is convinced that bodily exercise producing vitality will stimulate mental activity. Professor F. H. Wright quoted in Ethics that "matter exists for the spirit, and the spirit for the Holy Spirit." If this be true, we would do well to be careful of our bodies "for are they not the temples of the Holy Spirit?"

On the athletic field or gymnasium the Christian will meet a test to his faith and love toward God and man. He will realize in a most convincing way that co-operation and sportsmanship, which have their seed in love will bring harmony and real enjoyment, whereas, the kind of competition, which has its seed in pride and selfishness brings dissatisfaction, disharmony and no real enjoyment. He will learn to be patient and tolerant, especially towards those who are just beginning to learn how to play a particular game.

There are some danger signs which should be put before the eyes of every athlete and prospective athlete. Sports can receive too much emphasis and become and end in itself, instead of a means to an end. The end in view is prior to going to Asbury Seminary. These are all the plans he has now for he awaits God's guidance in his life. In speaking of the past, Roy mentioned that his mother is still in the Relocation Camp at Amache, Colorado, where she is doing work in the Free Methodist Church. Roy's family was the first sent to Santa Anita, California Assembly which held about 10,000 people. He stayed there six months and then he was sent to Amache, Col. which was a permanent camp. In telling of his experiences Roy testifies, "It pays to serve Jesus."

Mary Lee Conley, a sophomore, attended Wilberforce University, Ohio, a school run by the African M. E. She heard of Houghton from a friend who had planned to come here but who never arrived. When asked how she liked Houghton, Mary replied, "It's my ideal of real college life."

Chiyoko Maeda, whose nickname "Chi-Wee" is of Navajo Indian origin, was born in Terminal Island, California. Since then she has lived in seven places in four states. Having attended school in most of these cities, she finally was graduated from High School in East Lampeter, Pennsylvania.

Chi-Wee likes poetry, reading and journalism. She dislikes sitting backwards when travelling on trains. At present she is studying to be an occupational therapist. Her ambition ("when I grow old") is to be a religious journalist.

World Series Is Held in St. Louis This Year; Browns Are Winners of First Game

The Saint Louis Browns won their first American League Pennant in 43 years by nosing out the Detroit Tigers in the closest and most thrilling pennant race in recent years. Winning by one game, they defeated the New York Yankees 5 to 2 while the Detroit Tigers were set back 4 to 1.

Going into the last day of the season, Detroit and Saint Louis were tied. The Tigers seemed to have the advantage as they were meeting the last-place Senators, whereas the Browns faced the mighty Yankees. According to the N. Y. Times, 37,815 fans, a record crowd, backed the Browns as Jakucki silenced the Yankee bats, allowing only six hits. It was Chet Labbs, having the poorest batting average of his major league career, who belted two of Mel Queen's pitches into the left field bleachers, with Kieevich on base. In the eighth, Stephens hit his 20th homer of the season.

Dutch Leonard, who hadn't beaten the Tigers since 1941, allowed only 4 hits as he defeated a tired Trout and the O'Neillmen Sunday. Several records were made. It was the first time any major league club had two pitchers win 56 games and yet not take the pennant. This year Newhouser won 29 games and Trout 27. Saint Louis became the third city to hold the world series entirely within its city limits. Only New York and Chicago have previously done this.

Also, of interest, is that this year two top hitters in both leagues played on second division ball clubs. Manager Lou Boudreau of the 5th place Indians led the American League with 325. Fred "Dixie" Walker down in Flatbush hit 357 for the 7th place Dodgers.
