Lindley Conquers Houghton

by Nicholas Robonov

In a surpirse coup last weekend, former retiring history professor Dr. Katherine Lindley took over the leadership of Houghton College, naming herself Tsarina of Houghton

Tsarina Katherine The Great made her move after repeated refusals by the board of trustees to make changes in the curriculum which she had proposed. Said the Tsarina, "I realized that if the college was to move in the required direction, it would take firm leadership, none of this voting in committee nonsense. When I found my chance I took it."

Former President of the College Daniel R. Chamberlain is being kept on by the Tsarina in her newly created position of Lord Chamberlain of Houghton College. When reached by The Houghton Tsar for comment. Chamberlain said "It is good to be under firm leadership, instead of wondering about the results of the latest trustees' vote. I have had several meetings with the Tsarina already in which we have worked out important changes and improvements in curriculum and college life which are planned for the coming years."

The major change in curriculum is the institution of the Russian Studies Program. As of next school years courses will be offered in Russian language, Russian History, Russian Literature, Russian Music, Russian Art, Russian Dance, and an overview of the Russian Orthodox Church. The former foreign language requirement will be replaced by a required four-year Russian language course. To pass Russian language a student will be required to pass an oral examination given by the Tsarina. The Russian History course and the overview of the Russian Orthodox Church are also new additions to the general education requirements. Students will be given the option of taking one of either Russian Literature. Russian Art, Russian Dance, or Russian Music. Literature majors will be required to take Russian literature, art majors Russian Art, and Music majors Russian Music. and these courses will not count toward their general education requirement.

When asked by The Houghton Tsar about the emphasis placed on Russian Studies, the Tsarina replied, "The liberally educated Western student must be well versed in all things Russian, because of the importance of the Soviet Union today, and of Russia in Western History. The primary theme of Western History is the reaction of the West to the growing power and importance of Russia and the Russian people. We must understand this theme if we are to survive and co-exist with the Russians."

Other changes in the curriculum include the expansion of the German Department "because of Germany's inportance in the development of

This coming weekend will be a gala event, a coronation bash for Houghton's first Tsarina. Friday evening at 8:00pm is the Coronation of Tsarina Katherine The Great (mandatory attendance for all students). The Royal College Choir and Royal Philharmonia will provide the music for the coronation, including several new songs (processionals, etc.) composed by Dr. William T. Allen for the occassion. Poet-in-Residence John Leax has composed a poem for the occassion, in honor of the Tsarina. The college dining hall will be serving Russian food during the weekend. Saturday night will be the new opera composed by Dr. Allen, entitled Tsarina Katherine: Struggle to Greatness, which is being put on in cooperation with the Russian Expression Club. When asked about how the opera was able to be composed so quickly, Dr. Allen replied "I have been working on it for years, waiting for this glorious day to arrive." To round out the weekend, Sunday Mass in the Russian-Weslevan Church of Houghton will be celebrated once again in the Russian Orthodox tradition.

Caton, NY - The town council recently passed a ruling that farmer's must have permits to drive cattle across public roads. "After all, our public roads aren't cowpaths," one councilman said in support of the measure. Farmers think otherwise. "You could fool me," one dairyman said in reply. Dairymen have started organizing the Farmers For Free Roads. "We'll take this battle all the way to the Supreme Court if necessary," the group spokesman, John Graham, said.

Barrington, IL- Citizens voted last week to prohibit Chicago and Northwestern commuter trains from passing through town during business hours. "It disrupts traffic flow for shoppers trying to get to downtown merchants," commented a village council member. The council hopes noise pollution will decrease, and that the tulips planted last year in boxes along the tracks will finally bloom. A Chamber of Commerce spokesperson said, "With all that clanking and vibration. it's no wonder the poor things have gone into shock." Trains will now stop at the town line between 8 am and 6 pm. Commuters are advised to seek alternate forms of transportation.

Longwood, FL- A monstrous 12 foot alligator was found in a woman's swimming pool. Birtha Rosenthal, 69 Forest Drive, was out sunning herself when she saw the gator swimming in her pool. She called the Seminole County Sheriff's Department for help. They told her to call the fire department who told her to call Animal Control which was closed for the day. Mrs. Rosenthal decided to lure the gator out of the yard by herself. "It loved my onion bagels," she commented on how she led the gator out, "I led it into my neighbor's yard. I hate their dog." In other news, 89 year old Rose Goldberg was arrested for indecent exposure at the Shalom Community Center swimming pool. When asked why she did it, she responded "I wanted a really good tan." Charges were dropped, but Rabbi Rubenstein, director of the Shalom Community Center, has banned her from returning to the pool.

Holland, MI- Annie Lennox's mother Leona went to work this morning at approximately 7:35 am. She filed patient charts until lunch break. Upon returning to her desk at 1:00 pm, she said hello to Dr. Bates and Horseheads, NY- The rodeo, which was once a central attraction in Horseheads, is now being re-instated through the efforts of financier Brother Patel and champion horseman Thomas Martin Robertsen Sr. The decision was passed by the town board only minutes after Mr. Robertsen won on O.T.B. Brother Patel, anxiously awaits the arrival of the Clydsedales, which Peter the gardener had been summoned to send. The opening is tentatively scheduled for April 7, birthday of Barbizon Patrick, a student at Houghton College. Please send any donation to Box 1361.

West Block West Seneca, NY- The town council of West Block West Seneca voted by an overwhelming margin to close East Block West Seneca East High School on the ground that certain teachers were spreading underground capitalistic democratic propaganda. Students from West Block West Seneca West High School said they were elated to see that their rivals were "closet capitalists." Forty-five teachers will be visiting the Siberia Salt mines on "sabbatical" for approximately twenty to forty years.

Collingswood, NJ- Knight's Park was the scene of civil disorder this past Sunday. The town's 25,000 residents rallied in the park to protest against existing blue laws in Collingswood. Park director, Jake Blythe, unable to control the crowd, called the Collingswood Police Department! Since the police were slow to respond, most of the crowd had dispersed by the time they arrived. Reports have alledged that 5,000 of the ralliers moved their protest to Stokes and Park Avenues where a large block party was held. The party lasted for three days and drew residents from neighboring towns such as Cherry Hill, Haddonfield, and Phila-

Resignation Run Down

by L. Benedict Arnold

Inside sources have revealed that credit card abuse, fraudulent checks, and black market babies were all factors in the unexpected resignation of the Tsar managing editor, Lorry Armold, this past January.

At the time of her resignation, Armold claimed that she wanted out of the Tsar because she desired, "More time to do other things like playing intramural sports, studying, sleeping, etc." However, the Tsar gutter-correspondents have uncovered interesting pieces of information which fit into the "etc." category.

Last fall, Armold was issued a VISA credit card; by December she had exceeded her credit limit. "I couldn't help but to utilize my card," commented Armold. "I felt that my precious VISA and I were organically one. Whenever I had a need, it filled it. I sensed a kind of mystical elation everytime I heard the sound of my VISA being run through a credit card machine."

The bank that had issued the VISA threatened to terminate Armold's credit card, so she abstained from using it. To cover her obligations (mostly school finances), she resorted to her they take American Express."

checking account. After bouncing five checks, Armold started receiving hateful letters from a variety of upset creditors and bill collectors. Armold commented that, "The letters were the worst part. I wouldn't have minded being financially washed-up if it hadn't been for those nasty letters. They really can hurt a girl's self-esteem."

In desperation Armold sought a way to get "big bucks fast." After carefully considering all her options, she decided that selling a baby on the black market was her ticket out. Of course, there wasn't enough time for Armold to conceive and bear a child over Christmas break. but Armold got around that. She sold a bloodhound pup for $15,000 to a couple in California. "I had no problem passing a bloodhound off as a baby - I told them the father was Joseph Stalin," stated Armold

Even though her financial worries were over, Armold decided to drop off of the Tsar staff. "I know the Tsar gets around and I wanted to stay out of the public eye for a while - til things settle down.'

Now that Armold's story has come to the surface, she is planning to go abroad to get a new start. "I think I'll try Costa Rica - I hear

Politburo Proceeds. Alcohol Problem Arises

by Patriska Stobordsky

The 14th meeting of the Student Politburo began with greetings from general secretary Janelle Langanov. Janelle announced the new Politburo for next year:

General Secretary Robert Beckfordsky, Party Leader Andrew Cariganov, KGB Director Adam Killacomme Comptonov, and Premier Terry Stevenov.

Janelle also announced that Bud Benski from Marion College will be new academic premier. He will replace academic premier Barnovich who will become general premier of Marion College in Leningrad.

Election survey results indicated that the general Houghton College public is very interested in the idea of Russian cultural dancing. It also indicated that students wanted a change in the format of prayer meeting. Beginning next Tuesday night, all campus Russian Orthodox vespers will be instituted.

Student development met and decided that the alcohol problem on campus, nationally in America, and internationally especially in USSR, has reached such epidemic proportions that Houghton College needed to start an alcohol awareness pro-

Worse Than AIDS — Press Mongoloid Syndrome

by Patricia Strobordsky

A diesease that is wiping out entire editorial staffs on other Russian college campuses all across this great land has hit Houghton College— Press Mongoloid Syndrome.

Press Mongoloid Syndrome is a disease that occurs weekly every Wednesday here at Houghton College before, during, and after layout.

The symptoms that are characteristic of an editor with Press Mongoloid Syndrome include: lifeless hair, elongation of the face to a rectangular shape, sunk-in eyes, and temporary loss of ears. The editor's character is somewhat less than amiable and he'she may have a strong desire to bark or mutter incantations uncontrollably. The editor may say things like:

"Get off me, your're hurting me."

"You're a good egg."

"Like, cluck."

"JONATHAN!"

"Copy, I need copy!"

The editor may also have a varatious appetite for strong graphite like amerreto-flavored coffee.

The only known reflier from this journalistic disease is a staff meeting outside of the brain farm which includes strong fermented libations and aerobic movement of the feet and upper torso.

The search for a cure continues and we need your help. Please send you donations and contributions to:

gram. "We just couldn't ignore the problem anymore," said Norm Smithenov. Reports indicate that Big Alenov has been spiking the loganberry juice and the iced tea with low grade Russian Smirnoff Vodka (alias Beth Sperry).

Since Tsarina Katherine the Great took over Houghton College, admissions have increased, tuition has decreased, capital campaign pledges have increased, chapel skips have decreased, and GPA's have increased.

The only new business raised at the two hour meeting of the Student Politburo was Student Activity Fee. After great argumentation and debate, the proposal was passed as it was originally drafted. Behind the stone wall —
Steel and barbed wire —
A bloody pulsating mass survives.

The wall is strong.

Tough. Thick. An unpenetrable barrier

The wall is scarred —
Patched —
And mended once too many times.

The angry owner hides behind
A grim facade —
For the bloody mass is dying to live.

Living or dying — To survive is all.

Reigles Abducted, Accused of Being Spy

by Nicholas Robonov

On Monday, March 9, 1987 Professor B. Jean Reigles was abducted by undercover government agents and questioned on suspicion of being a Russian double agent. She was released later that day.

Reigles, the director of the Houghton College Choir, was with the choir in Albany when the abduction took place. A government agent seized her in his arms and ran off with her as she was about to enter the state capitol for a tour. Startled choir members stood by helpless as she was carried off. Not knowing where she was taken, the choir members tried to get help, only to learn that she was in police custody. She was released in time to make it back to the choir bus before it left.

When interviewed by The Houghton Tsar, Reigles said "don't take me to the salt mines, I didn't do it." Public records show that the police were soon convinced that she was not a Russian double agent. It was then that one agent noticed the similarity between a Nazi salute and Reigles conducting sign to the choir to be quiet. "They had to call Elie Wiesel to make sure I was not a wanted Nazi war criminal before they would let me go," Reigles stated.

Just a Wee Bit Superior

Our special guest reporter for the day is Chuch Lady, famous for her SNL talk show.

CL: Well, today we have as our guest the infamous Tsar Katherine the Great. Isn't that special?

KG: Thank you very much Church Lady. It is indeed an honor to be interviewed by such a renowned woman.

CL: Isn't that special? Now Kathy, could you tell us where you come from? Moscow perhaps? Now Moscow has a Red Square doesn't it? Whose favorite color is red? Could it be . . Oh I don't know . . . Let me take a stab in the dark. Could it be . . . SAAATANNN?. Now tell us where you are from?

KG: Well, I have been telling everyone that I am from a small rural American town, but with this victorious coup I can now tell everyone that I was sent from Leningrad to establish a small Soviet satellite nation. CL: Well isn't that very special? Tell us Kathy, what selfish reasons do you have for this little Anti-American coup? Any rewards from . . .let's just say perhaps . . .GORBACHEV?

KG: Well now that you mention it, now that I have liberated these masses from a senseless nationalism, I have been given the post of Tsar. Are you following me? I mean isn't the eradiction of nationalism something which will help the world to flourish?

CL: We really like ourselves don't we?

KG: I think history has proven that women are the superior leaders. Look at Corazon, or Maggie, or even Nancy Reagan.

CL: I guess that makes us a Weeeee bit superior now, doesn't it? KG: I think superior could be said to be a relative term. One's moral values could often be challenged in this realm.

CL: Now Kathy, as our new ruler what perhaps will you be doing about, perhaps . . .fornicative petting in the Campus Center Lounge? Who could KG: I think this problem could easily be solved by using the real Big Brother (not Bob Danner) and the new camera system in the campus center, I think that the problem could be eradicated. I have been working for many years at Houghton subverting the media. This paper is a fine example. We all know how worthless WJSL became, no one could even figure out who the Executive Board was. I kept the students off of the governing body purposefully. I learned all these tactics from my favorite professor in Moscow, Danyle Chamberlainvoske.

CL: Well, I guess we feel that we are vertity superior! Don't we? Are there any objectives that you have the benefit anyone else but ourself? Say, perhaps, for the benefit of the little person?

KG: Church Lady, I feel that I will be doing the community a service by getting rid of those useless Trustee Meetings. I feel that I will be able to accomplish more without the indecisiveness of those fuddie-duddies. There are a lot of things that I would like to accomplish. I would like to see vodka installed in the soda fountain. Also, I will stop all this silly nonsense about moving Fancher. Fancher will become the American Kremlin.

CL: Well, I suppose the next things you'll be having are dances and R-rated movies on campus? Who could be influencing this behavior...

Could it be Stalin...nooo...Could it be Marx...nooo, come on dodo head...I know who it is...SAAATANNN!

KG: Well as you have already seen I have placed many of my students in key positions. Wayne Hill used Alpha Theta to organize undergound dance parties. Norm Smith, not one of my prize students but certainly willing, used his power as CAB chairman to bring in mindless garbage and filthy R-rated movies. That was my stroke of genius. Besides, most of the student body was already trapped in this Hedonistic behavior. CL: Well I think we owe ourselves a little superiority dance, hit that organ Pearl, or Susan. Bye now!

One of the great fallacies of present-day America is that of the superiority of democracy as a form of government. As one of our founding fathers warned democracy "soon wastes, exhausts, and murders itself." Democracy is the rule of the mob, small minds electing smaller ones to squabble on committees, only to come to indecision. Even the idea of a republic is fraught with this same problem. The most foolish, small, vice-filled minds are the ones elected to office. Democracy cannot stand virtue. Democracy demands the mediocre, excellence is a threat to the creed of equality.

In marked contrast to democracy is aristocracy. Where democracy demands a false equality, aristocracy recognizes the inherent gradations in the potentials of men. Where democracy caters mediocrity, aristocracy cultures excellence, in art, language, other skills. Excellence prospers under aristocracy. Aristocracy fosters order, discipline, in contrast to the indecision and waste of effort found in a democracy. Where democracy is rule of the mob, pandering to its vice and whim, aristocracy is rule of intelligent, educated, upright men, virtue supported by the power to act. Aristocracy is benevolent; democracy is irreverent, Houghton College has been privileged to pass from the rule of democratic sentiment to that of aristocratic order and usefullness. Hail our Tsarina! No longer will students feel if they want something they will get it. The college will cease squandering its resources on the vice of the students. Instead, under the enlightened leadership of our beloved Tsarina Katherine The Great, the college will educate virtous, intelligent, disciplined students. Hail the Tsarina! Long may she Reign!

Already the effects of virtue linked with power are being felt. The upcoming curriculum changes will certainly create more enlightened, virtuous students. My only complaint is that the Tsarina has not gone far enough, has not stretched the sphere of her power far enough. All power should come from the Tsarina as God's authority on earth. We need the union of Church and state and school. How can the power of the college in its secular role, and its control of the Houghton community. hope to maintain virtue, maintain morals in the face of a corrupt world, without the moral power of the Church as its sword and shield. Let the Tsarina be declared the matriarch of the Houghton Russian-Wesleyan Church immediately, before the time comes that it is too late, before vice has chance to creep in and thwart the virtue of aristocracy. We cannot let vice blunt the sword of virtue.

> Hail Tsarina Katherine! Nicholas Robordski

Sei Shiina Says Sumo

Inspired by Sei Shiina, second year senior (following his idol Maurice), Sumo Wrestling may now be offered to fulfill physical education requirements. Shiina received a game from Japan recently, with plastic, wind-up Sumo wrestlers. He realized a need to culturalize the students at Houghton College, always thinking of his fellow man! And so, he petitioned Student Development and his attempt may not have been in vain.

However, there has been some controversy over the violence, insurance, and the brand of diapers to use.

Coach Burke, supporter of Ultra Pampers, said the extra layer retains the wetness! Coach Brooks fiercely opposed Burke stating Luvs were more fashionable with the leg gatherings.

If this controversy is not resolved by next week, Senate President Janelle Lang's suggestion for cloth diapers will be used. But, who will do the wash? What detergent should be used? Should bleach be used? So many major problems are associated with the sport! Maybe Sumo Wrestling will never enhance the lives at Houghton College.

Embarrassing Picture!

Dethroned, Degraded and Delirious

Greg Gidman, crowned Mr. Houghton on Feb. 11, 1987, is being dethroned because reporters discovered illicit and embarrasing photographs. Gidman, a Bible and Physical Education major, repeatedly denied having any knowledge of the photos. After several hours of investigation under the KGB and being threatened to have his cleats tied together, Gidman blurted out 'Tzarina Katherina made me do it! It was the only way I could get an "A" in Western Civilization'.

Fellow contestants in the pageant were appalled and some were rather furious. They felt that their chances of winning were undermined by Greg's illegal entry into the contest. They blamed Patrice Broderick and Deb Perry for not discovering the scandal prior to the contest.

When asked to comment, fellow contestant, Tim Nielsen said, "ooh oee ooh ahh ahh ting tang whalla whalla bing bang!" Another contestant, who WE prefer to remain anonymous exclaimed, "I don't care! As long as the oceans are turned into continents and the continents into oceans, over population will not exist!" Of course, according to Malthusian theory the rate of population grows geometrically as food production increases arithmetically! So, sorry old buddy your theory proves to be wrong!

Gidman, once linked academically to the Tzarina is being witheld pending further investigation. However, his latest song, A Punker's Dream is climbing the charts closely behind Bon Jovi's Living on a Prayer. Gidman who was once a Canadian and a soccer player, is now a rebel without a crown!

JIMNASTICS

Houghton College encourages diversity. This prompted Jimmy Leventis to recruit and coach Houghton students in preparation for the 1988 Olympics for Jimnastics! (Leventis insisted the sport be named after him!)

Leventis, a patron of the arts, finds jimnastics an expression of the human body, mind and soul. His team wakes up at 4.30, and meditates until 6.00. Following the example of his basket ball coach, the team then weight lifts at 6.30. He also makes them wear wool hats to bed (bedtime is at 9.00).

Leventis does not think school is important. Rather, one should achieve fullness of mind through physical exertion and if necessary, steroids!

His number one protegee and the most likely to succeed in the olympics is Canadian Scott James Parkinson. Scott learned to tumble at the age of 3. It was at this time his parents discovered his talent and finally found a coach experienced enough to train him - Jim. Other members include Tim Kangas. Scott Olsen, Eric Ashley and Hank Beekley. Good Luck Guys!!
