

Education Class Aids Needy In Czechoslovakia

Plans are being made to resume the activities of a relatively new relief organization in Houghton college.

Last May the foundations of teaching class, headed by Miss Bessie Fancher, decided to put forth a real effort to help needy families in a small town in Czechoslovakia. With Charles Jennings in charge of packing boxes, 23 students collected enough clothes, soap, and dried foods, along with Bibles and other religious literature to fill 44 relief boxes to be sent abroad. In addition to this, $200 was spent on postage fees.

The parcels were sent to Husinec, Czechoslovakia, in care of an American educated citizen, Mrs. Margaret P. Zelinka. The articles were distributed throughout their parish according to the needs of the people.

Early in July Miss Fancher received a letter from Mrs. Zelinka expressing their gratitude and delight upon receiving these boxes. She wrote, "It would be difficult to tell you what a great help all the things you have sent are proving to us and so many people. . . . Parents are often at their wit's end to know how to get the necessary clothing for their children. You can imagine what a burden is removed from their shoulders, and how thankful they are when we are able to help them out of the supply that you have sent, and how happy the young people themselves are. I wish you could see the light in their eyes when they leave here bearing a little package of clothing."

She commented on the "gorgeous array" of men's clothing, the American

ASSOCIATION PLANS ATHLETICS CONTROL

A new and stronger means of governing athletics at Houghton college has been proposed by the Athletic association. The organization's officers, Mel Lewellen, Les Beach and Marge Miller, are working on a new constitution that will give the association power to govern all athletics at Houghton.

Voting on two major issues, the association has decided that the junior and senior football teams should be joined. This enables the few senior men who are able to play this year to join forces with the junior team and thus play in the series.

The second issue at stake was to determine the minimum number of girls allowed to participate in the tennis tournament. It was decided that a minimum of five girls would be needed to play off in the tournament in order to select a varsity.

In making up a new constitution, the association feels that all the requirements, rules, and regulations governing sports at Houghton should be written. Therefore, they are doing all that is in their power to start written laws that will be enforced in future years.

COUNCIL ORGANIZES DEAN'S COMMITTEE

A Dean's Committee has been formed by the Student Council to air complaints and receive suggestions for improvements.

This committee is composed of one representative from each department of the school. This is not a committee to receive "gripes", but, as Dr. King explained, "It is like a person going to a dentist. He knows what is hurting even though he doesn't know how to help it. This will be the student's chance to tell what hurts him."

Reviewing the objections and suggestions of the students is the job of this committee. They will weigh and consider them, and turn over to the Dean those they consider helpful or of possible solution. This will be the student's way of expressing his likes and dislikes.

Some of the suggestions will be carried out immediately, some later, and some perhaps only in part; but this is the Council's way of giving the students opportunity to make constructive suggestions.

Cronk Announces Monthly Recitals

Professor Cronk announces a new policy concerning student recitals to be given this year.

There will be general recitals held on Monday and Wednesday afternoons in the music building auditorium. A public recital, representing the best talent in the music department, will be presented once a month in the college chapel.

In addition to these recitals, musical programs will also be given by the college orchestra and members of the music faculty.

A CAPPELLA CHOIR PLANS SPRING TOUR

Executive Board Approves Faculty, Student Raises

The executive board of the trustees of Houghton college last week approved a recommendation from the Local Advisory board which provides for an increase of $100 in the contracts of all full time employees of the college. This includes all faculty members and staff workers on a regular contract basis.

This annual increase of $100 has been made in view of the persistent rise in the cost of living and it is estimated that such an increase will cost the college approximately $10,000 this year.

Dr. Paine stated that instructional and other salaries are much lower in Houghton than in most places because we are endeavoring to keep the cost of education at a minimum. This, he pointed out, is being done at a sacrifice. The estimated cost for a year at Houghton college is estimated at $600. This amount, when compared with other colleges in the area is approximately $200 less than the next lowest priced college and $600 less than the highest priced college used for comparison.

Another recommendation submitted by the board was also approved which provides that the basic salary for student workers shall be raised from 35¢ to 40¢ an hour. This will cost the college about $5,000 additional per year.

Savage, Skinner, Steele Lead CFWNY Campaign

On October 5 the Christ for Western New York campaign will open in Warsaw, N.Y.

This mass effort to win souls is under the supervision of Christ for America and is being led by the Savage-Skinner-Steele team. The meetings, which will extend until October 26, will be housed in a huge circus tent, heated by portable oil-burning units.

These meetings will culminate six months of preparation by sixty or more churches in the Genesee and Wyoming county area. A large corps of personal workers has been organized by ex-chaplain Col. James A. Bryant, and is engaged in extensive house to house evangelism. The speaker will be H. H. Savage of Pontiac, Mich., nationally known evangelist and director of Maranatha Bible Conference. He will be assisted by gospel artist Karl Steele and the Skinner music team. The meetings will begin at 8:00 p. m. each evening.

The Houghton College A Cappella choir was recently organized for the present school year. According to the director, Prof. Donald Butterworth, plans for the spring tour are already being considered. He said that only 45 of the 57 members will be taken on the annual trip.

The choir will travel through the eastern part of New York and continue through the New England states. One of the highlights of the spring tour will be the concert to be given on Easter Sunday at the Calvary Baptist church in New York City.

Professor Butterworth is making special plans for the choir to present during Holy Week "The Seven Last Words" by Mercadante. He is also adding two new works to the choir's repertoire which will be of special interest to Houghton students. Professor Finney has written a musical setting to the Beatitudes; and some selected passages from the book of Revelation have been the inspiration for a musical composition by Professor Heydenburk.

The choir will resume its usual routine of filling weekend engagements in churches of the immediate area. Professor Butterworth announced that there remain in the schedule several vacant Sundays which he hopes to fill soon.

BOOK CLUB STUDIES PLATO'S REPUBLIC

Twenty-five students met last Wednesday evening for the first meeting of the Book club.

This club, which is open to any student or faculty member who will read the books and attend the meetings, will meet regularly on the third Wednesday of the month. However, because of the revival meetings, the October meeting will take place on the fifth Wednesday of the month.

To read and discuss some of the great books will be the purpose of the club. Plato's Republic is the first book to be chosen. These discussions are planned to be lively, and to help the members enjoy the culture and knowledge of some of the world's great books.

STUDENTS RECEIVE BELL INVENTORY

Friday afternoon, October 10, all new students will be required to take the Bell Adjustment Inventory.

This test is one designed to help the student solve problems which might have an effect on his success in college, and his life after college. Health, emotional, social, and family problems are covered by this inventory. There is no question of right or wrong answers or of failing in this test. It is simply an inventory of problems which can be answered in about a half hour.

Further tests and interviews will be arranged for any student who may have problems revealed by this test.

SHOWMANSHIP

The emphasis on showmanship is becoming more pronounced in every field. The man who beats the drum the loudest and who dresses his cast in the gaudiest habiliment is the man for whom everybody is looking. Color, noise, and frequently pointless action are erroneously the primary attractions for many people.

The showman is an insincere man insofar as his patrons are concerned. His interest is not in the welfare of his audience, but rather in the success of his program; his primary concern is not the betterment of the people, but rather his personal remuneration; his end is to satisfy the collective taste, and not in analyzing that taste. His very occupation, in many cases, depends on his willingness to submit himself to popular demands.

Unfortunately, the spirit of showmanship is filtering into the last place where it should be found—namely, the church. More than a few religious services have no greater claim than that they are semi-solemnified variety shows. More time is spent on the less important point of program organization than in conscientious preparation of mind and spirit. The emphasis is faultless organization rather than careful personal preparation. Complimentary remarks on finess are desired more than evident barbs of convicting thought. The obvious indications of the spirit of showmanship in the church preclude the necessity for examples.

If the showman is the one whose primary concern is the success of his program, wherein does he find excuse for expression in the church? If the showman is interested in mercenary returns, why must he finally go to the church? If the showman's standard of production is public taste, why does he take that standard to the church? The church is essentially a place where men may find a leader who is interested in their interests. It is a place where they may and should receive help without the necessity of a charge. It is the place where men go to find a standard rather than where they go to set up a standard. They are looking for positive leadership, and not for acquiescent condescension.

Let us be sincere. The only legitimate reason for expression in a position of Christian leadership is that men may be improved in their relations with God. An organized program is necessary. The finest of talent should be used at all times. Services of worship and evangelism should be above reproach. It is necessary to understand, however, that the elementary thing in Christian service is not organized preformance. The basic consideration in consecrated service is careful personal preparation. The emphasis in Christian activity is not primarily on what a man can do, but on what he is.

Dear Editor:

The Star is spelled with four letters, the Rut requires only three. May I suggest that a more accurate and economical title for your paper would be secured if these titles were reversed, for the Star definitely does not agree with Webster's definition of a stellar body.

Each Thursday we are treated to the same thirty-two columns of literary perversions. Why not start a new term with a new effort to justify your literary existence?

EDITOR'S NOTE: "It's the first of follies to insist on correcting the world. I note, like you, everyday a hundred things which would be better done if done differently, but whatever I do note, nobody sees me in a rage about it, like you. Quietly, I take (things) men as I find them. I discipline my mind to bear with what they do."

Moliere

Dear Editor:

The frosh and soph men, when entering the dining room, have places to hang their hats and coats. The junior and senior men have none. In view of the overloaded condition of the men's cloak room in preceeding winters I wonder why there could not be a few coat hangers placed in the upperclassmen's entrance-way. To whom would one present a suggestion of this nature?

Dear Editor:

It seems to me that the student body could take "to heart" the keen observation and implied request for order in the area adjacent to the mail boxes, which was called to our attention in "The Rut" last week.

By all showing a bit of courtesy, order would be had and needless shoe shines would be saved.

"J"

Specialist

by BOB ENGLAND

An oculist studies the "eyes" as a profession, but many people put the I first for glory on earth. Some do it for material achievements, and some for the meager effort they are putting forth for the Saviour who bled and died that their sins might be forgiven.

Just as some people's eyes are an asset, others try to make their I's an asset.

The Pharisee in Luke 18 was an I specialist. We read that he prayed an I prayer such as, "I thank thee, that I am not as other men are; I fast twice a week; I give tithes of all I possess;" while the publican would not lift so much as his eyes unto heaven but smote upon his breast saying, "God be merciful to me, a sinner." The Pharisee thought that he was doing God a big favor for he was telling God how fortunate He was in having such a wonderful I specialist.

Doubting Thomas also had I trouble. In John 20:25, one disciple told Thomas they had seen the Lord. Thomas said, "Except I shall see in His hands the print of the nails, I will not believe."

Many people take the attitude that I am going to enjoy myself and indulge in the pleasures the world offers. They say, "I don't see any harm in that." They are not concerned with the fact that the eye of the Lord is upon them.

Let us not be as the Pharisee but let us say, "He must increase, but I must decrease." (John 3:30) "For every one that exalteth himself shall be abased; and he that humbleth himself shall be exalted." (Luke 18:14)

Editor's Note . . .

The Star is the official school paper. Although it is governed by the Executive Literary Board it is published solely by the student body.

The purpose of the Star is to give in a concise manner the school news of each week. It essays to keep the students, alumni, and patrons of the college informed on all school activities, and to portray student life in all its phases.

Since the Star is a student project, the staff encourages all students to participate in its production. Not everyone can work on the staff, but everyone can keep staff members advised on matters of local interest. News items that come to the attention of students should be written and mailed to the editor.

The staff proposes to devote one column a week to printing letters received from student body and faculty members. The subject matter of such letters may be commendatory or censorious, and it may pertain to any practical subject. It is required, however, that all letters be diplomatically couched in passable language. The staff will welcome constructive recommendations at anytime.

THE RUT

BY CASEY

Dear Boss,

Since the last issue of the STAR went on the streets, we've received numerous inquiries as to why this column is called The Rut. We've received so many in fact, that we feel it's worth a few lines of explanation here.

This column is called The Rut because (1) it's all dirt, (2) it's where everyone and everything gets dragged through the mud, and (3) because we're gonna stick all the wheels in it.

Bits of news and views appearing in this column are our own opinions and do in no way reflect those of the management. They are not copyrighted and may be plundered at will by such of our contemporaries, as Walter Winchell, as often as they wish.

We hope our friends won't stop speaking to us. If they do we shall have to rely entirely upon our secret staff, and they have a tendency to exaggerate.

Well, that's that, boss. Now to get down to business.

Burnett Thompson is out dropping light globes on people who won't buy BOULDERS. Personally, we can't see why he should have to. HOUGHTON ALUMNI ATTEND COLGATE

Mr. Winthrop S. Hudson, of the Colgate - Rochester Divinity school, Rochester, has informed the STAR that two former Houghton students are among those enrolled in the school this year. They are Clifford S. Robertson, Horseheads, N. Y., and Merlyn Vantran, Walden, N. Y.

Mr. Robertson, Houghton '42, registered as a member of the second year class. Mr. Vantran, who was graduated from Houghton last year, has enrolled in the first year class of the seminary.

Trustees Approve FWA Building Plan

Plans for the erection on a permanent foundation of the F.W.A. building (STAR, Sept. 25) were approved by the executive board of trustees.

It is estimated that costs for putting this building in a temporary usable condition will be about $7,500. The building will be made more attractive at a later date by veneering it in stone at a cost of $20,000.

Original contacts for the procurement of this building and for other materials from the War Assets administration were made through Mr. Robert E. Hausser, field secretary and were followed up by Mr. Willard G. Smith, college business manager.

Government costs for taking this building down and moving it to the campus were $8,000.

REFERENDUM DECIDES VETERANS' BONUS

Whether or not its veterans are to receive a bonus for their service in the armed forces will be in the November election by New York state. If the proposed Constitutional amendment is approved in the referendum, the state will distribute a total of $400,000,000 to its 1,700,000 veterans, the bonus being allocated on the basis of longevity and foreign service.

According to the latest information received by our local Veterans' Counselor, Prof. J. Whitney Shea, applications for this bonus may not be made until January 1, 1948, contingent upon the ratification of this amendment at the polls this fall. The plan provides for a minimum sum of $50.00 for any period of sixty days or less; $150.00 for more than sixty days for overseas duty. Since this was previously passed by both houses of the New York state legislature, this amendment will go into effect when approved by the people. Whatever the outcome, the issue will furnish major political capital for both parties this fall.

R. WATSON JOINS BUSINESS STAFF

Mr. Robert Watson of Fylar, N. Y., will join the staff of Houghton college October 9 as accountant in the college business office.

Mr. Watson served on the accounting staff of the Veteran's Administration in their Cleveland office during the war. More recently he has been employed as accountant at a large Syracuse department store.

Happy Birthday Jim

Saturday night, Sept. 27, the boys in the south wing of the Hazlett house celebrated with a surprise party the birthday of their dorm-mate, Jimmy Snyder. Mrs. Penner, wife of the proctor, baked a cake and ice cream was purchased by the boys. After they had finished eating, everyone relaxed in the main living room while they discussed the weather and various related subjects.

Who's Whose

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence E. Barrett of West High Street, Somersworth, Mass., announce the engagement of their daughter, Muriel E., to Pfc. Alan E. Johnson of Fort Knox, Ky. Mr. Johnson is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Johnson of 2224 Wilbraham road, Springfield, Mass.

Mr. and Mrs. H. K. Hardy of Rushford, N. Y., announce the engagement of their daughter, Lois Jane, to Lloyd Paul Wilt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Wilt of Clymer, Pa.

Both Lloyd and Lois were Houghton graduates of 1946. During the past year Lois has attended Western Reserve Graduate School of Music in Cleveland, O. She received her M. A. degree with the graduating class on Wednesday, Sept. 17, 1947, and plans to remain in Cleveland as a teacher.

Lloyd has been pastor of Memorial Park Baptist church of Vestal, N. Y., since his graduation, but he plans to spend three years at Faith Theological seminary in Wilmington, Dela.

No date has been announced for the wedding.

Mistaken Identity

Last Friday afternoon two of our senior girls had a bad case of mistaken identity.

Alda Anderson and Haldyne Spriggins were on their way to Letchworth park and had gone as far as Fillmore before they realized that they had forgotten to bring a water pitcher with them. Being intelligent girls, they immediately thought of the Kouwe household. The girls went up to the Kouwe's former apartment, and finding no one home proceeded to help themselves. The only pitcher was in the ice box filled with ice cubes. Suddenly they noticed several bottles of an alcoholic beverage and with swift reasoning, they realized their mistake. Their escape, however, was not as easy as their entrance. On the porch they met the landlady who informed them that the Kouwes did not live there any more.

Classes Entertain At Letchworth

Senior-Sophomore

Last Friday afternoon and evening the sophomore class was entertained at Letchworth State park by a picnic-party given by the senior class. Over two hundred people attended the outing which was held at the Upper Falls picnic area.

Soft ball games were in progress before the meal was served. After several "warming-up" games, the evening entertainment began with songs led by Cal Hayes. "The First Reading", a comedy play, was then given, followed by two numbers, sung by the sophomore quartet. The reading of the Scriptures and prayer by Truman Ireland concluded the program.

Since buses arrived at 8:20, the students were back in Houghton at 9:00 o'clock.

Junior-Freshmen

On Friday, September 26, 1947, the junior class of Houghton college sponsored a picnic for the class of '51. Buses left Houghton at 3:00 and 5:00 p. m. for Letchworth park's lower falls.

Upon arrival students wandered at will along the many scenic trails, played football, and generally entertained themselves until suppertime.

At 7 o'clock a picnic lunch was served. This was followed by a program which included group singing, a comedy skit and a devotional section featuring Doug Gallagher as speaker.

The activities came to a close at 9:30 with everyone singing, "Abide With Me."

Sportscriptions By Dinky

They decided to let an amateur try his hand at this column so here I am. Don't stop reading now — give me a chance!

Football is in full swing and the season has already shown a variety of games. The close, hard fought 13-0 victory of the sophs over the frosh was contrasted by this weeks massacre of 33-0 handed to the preppers by the frosh.

Bigger and better games are still in store for us when the sophs tangle with the talent-laden junior-senior combine. This aggressive aggregation of pugnacious pieces of protoplasm promises to promulgate the prognosis of their prolific prowess. (These presumptions and precocious prigs preclude their precarious position as pretenders to the crown. My own predilections promise a premonition of no good to these upperclassmen.)

The Jens (a word coined from juniors and seniors) have a goodly amount of returning players. Iggy, Don Roy, Norm Walker, Dick Morris, Jim Smith, Mel Lewellen, and Carroll Brentlinger are all experienced men. In addition they have new and promising men in the persons of Les Beach, Gordy Troph, Hank (Grandpa) Jenkins, Ed Sakowski and Meridith Sutton. They can't possibly utilize all these men in their first team but the team that they do field should be pretty potent. I predict that all of this power will be of no avail against the soph line and the Nast to Dongell aerial duo. Time will tell.

The Purple-Gold football series starts right after the close of this class series, that being about the 15th. The season is due to wind up with the annual varsity-frosh scrap on the 24th. No one really looks forward to the frosh giving the varsity such a hard time but we can be sure of one thing; the Greenies won't say die until the last whistle has blown. They'll be in there giving all they have.

The field hockey season is underway now also, and once again I prognosticate that the sophs will take the championship. I'm not in a rut. I'm just loyal to my class. It makes me feel good to be able to predict the sophs as winners because every time I think of the impending basketball season I grimace and groan. The sophs should have the sparkling brilliance of a soggy, wet noodle and the speed of a turtle with the gout. Not too bright a future, me thinks.

The tennis tournament is very slowly gaining momentum. Despite the handicap of inclement weather, a game has been played. Mel Lewellen seems to stand out above the contenders who are trying to shake his reign as monarch of the clay courts. (Or should I say '— Of the pebble patch.' That might be more advisable in view of their condition.)

Here is some good news for both spectators and participants of this winters basketball season. A new lighting system is planned for the gym. Clusters of spotlights will illuminate old Bedford as never before. The new backboards are slated to be up for season's opening also. It seems that it is no easy task finding a solid backing for these new metal boards. Let's all hope that nothing delays these projects. Who knows, maybe even a new set of showers will someday race the locker rooms and thereby add to the comfort and cleanliness of the student body. (Or should that be student's bodies.)

The rec hall is supposed to open regularly these days. As when in doubt about any problem, refer to the handbook for the exact hours. I should think that a table tennis tournament should be in order soon. Anyone interested? If so, drop Coach Wells a word about it sometime. He is working hard to give us a well rounded program of athletics and recreation. Let's give him our cooperation whenever we can.

How about a little more rivalry at the football games? The crowd at the sophomore-freshman game could hardly be called a jubilant throng. The people were few and the cheers were weak. I realize that I'm pretty raucous and noisy out there (no remarks) but the average student is as quiet as he is supposed to be and isn't in the class room. There must be a happy medium. (That reminds me of a good joke. Sorry I haven't got rooms to tell you.)

The editor just came in and told me to quit. "Quit what," I say. "Quit this column, quit the sports department, quit the paper, quit living," says he. Well I won't do it. He can't intimidate me. I don't scare so easily. No, Jim! Not the river! I can't swim and those chains are so heavy. No-o-o-o (Splash.)

Dr. King Represents Houghton At Keuka

Dr. King, Professor Finney, and Miss Beck will attend the inauguration of the new president of Keuka college, Katherine Gillett Blyley, on Saturday, Oct. 4.

Dr. King will be Houghton's official representative. Professor Finney, the nearest Wheaton alumnus, will represent Wheaton, while Miss Beck is attending as a personal friend of Miss Blyley. They will all take part in the academic procession.

Miss Blyley's inauguration Saturday afternoon will be the culmination of activities which will begin with a concert Friday evening. One of the speakers at the inaugural program will be Luther Wesley Smith, executive secretary of the Board of Education and Publications of the Northern Baptist convention. The president of Vassar college, Sarah Gibson Blanding, will also give an address. An afternoon tea will end the ceremonies.

shoes that are "pure bliss to wear", the American soap that "works like magic", and a "fine blanket that will serve a special need." The food particles were also very welcome, since some foods that had been given away were being rationed again. "So from the depths of our hearts," concluded Mrs. Zelinka, "we thank you and all the friends who had a share in giving the things that were sent in the packages under your name. May God richly bless you and reward you for all your sacrifice and labor of love connected with packing and sending these tokens of Christian friendship."

This year the group will probably be larger and more organized, and definite plans will be made this week. A room in the basement of the Luckey Memorial building has been acquired as a base of operations for the work. The group is looking forward to another chance to spread good will to more European friends.

INTERCEPTIONS AID FROSH IN BLANKING PREP SCHOOL 33-0

The rejuvenated frosh team scored an impressive victory last Monday when they found pay dirt in every period but the first to win 33-0. Fighting desperately all during the game, the preps held the frosh scoreless in the first quarter but went down to defeat under the powerful offensive of the first year men.

In the first period, the prep offensive was bogged down when Ruff Phipps intercepted a pass and ran it back twenty yards before he was downed. Buck ran around right end for twenty more, but the high school team held them on the thirty-five after the frosh was given a fifteen yard penalty. At the end of the first period the frosh were stalemated on the fifty yard marker.

The frosh broke loose in the second quarter when Roosa intercepted a prep school pass to set up a possible touchdown. In the next play Buck threw a long touchdown pass that was called back when the frosh were penalized for offsides. Again Roosa intercepted an intended pass which proved to be a deciding factor in the first score of the game. A pass from Buck to Phipps in the end zone was good for six points and a fake kick for the extra point was good. At the end of half time, the frosh led 7-0.

Scoring twice in the third period, the frosh took advantage of long passes and interceptions to add twelve more points to their score. The frosh failed to convert after each touchdown.

In the final stages of the game, the preps fought desperately to score. Sherwood caught an interception to bring the high school team deep in enemy territory but failed to score as the frosh again held, and scored on a sleeper play. Roosa intercepted for the last time when he ran a pass back for the last score of the game. The frosh left the field leading 33-0.
