Dr. Downing Makes Inspection

VOLUME XXIII

To Report to Association

Last Saturday, November 15, Dr. Augustus S. Downing, formerly Ass't Commissioner of Higher Education in New York state, made his second official inspection of Houghton College. "This was done in order that a report might be made to the Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools of the Middle States and Maryland, which Association met Monday, November 18, at Philadel-

It was a great pleasure for Houghton to be able to entertain Dr. Downing at dinner on Saturday, for after the conclusion of the meal, he gave a very fine appreciative, reminiscent address. He said in part:

"It was about five o'clock in the morning yesterday when I heard a rap at the door of our hunting camp. I opened the door thinking my visitor was someone from the neighboring camp two miles away. What was my surprise when I found your president standing there. He had come to call me back to my duty. He said the Association was to meet on Monday and I had not made my inspection. In order to come here I gave up the two best days for deer hunting in the whole season, and that when I had not caught a single buck.

"I am pleased to visit this College again, for it is always a pleasure to me to come here. This College is situated in a beautiful section of the country. Then, it is an institution that stands for right living. Sometimes you students may think the rules are pretty strict, the ideas pretty narrow, and the emphasis on religion too great but when you get away from here, you will look back with gratitude on the four years you spent in this place. You will realize more and more what a blessing to you this atmosphere of right living has been. I have spent part of my (Continued on Page Three)

YALE MAN COMING NEXT WEEK

During the coming week, our campus will have as its guest Mr. John Harvey Furbay, of the Yale University research staff.

Mr. Furbay is making a detailed study of the colleges of United States which are Evangelical Christian in religious emphasis, and which devote a part of each year to the establishing of the students in personal Christian experiences.

Houghton is one of the colleges of America which is of this type. It is a mark of rising significance that colleges of this sort are demanding the attention of such institutions as Yale. It is planned that this study of these colleges will result in a wider recognition of them in the educational world, where they are occupying a vital place in the religious ideals of American youth.

Huffman of Marion College, Marion, Indiana who is delivering a series of lectures on "The Meanings of Things". For lack of space we shall print only a brief resume of

THE MEANING OF EDUCATION Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler of Columbia University gives as a defi-mition for education, "Education is the knowledge of ones environment and the ability of the individual to adapt himself to that environment." To this definition Professor Dewey adds the fact that an education must also imply the ability of an individual to adapt environment to himself.

Environment can be divided into three classes:

Material things

People-social life

God-any education which neglects this element is inadequate. Each point was enlarged upon ecially the last one, God, and man's need of Him was made very real and vital. Education is relative. There is nothing like a finished education. Edison on his eighty-second birthday said, "None of us knows one onemillionth of one-percent of anything. We know comparitively little of whathere is to know; we have nothing of which to boast." When is a man truly educated? When his body is element, we would not think to rush being conducted by Doctor J. A. his spirit life is aflame, he is on the road to being educated. Therefore education is a relative thing.

There never were before a genera tion so many fields of achievement as before ours. One should not cease to work in the field of science until every form of energy can be transformed into every other form of energy. In the field of human relationships, of sociology, how much there is to challenge youth! As regards the third environment: Out of 1,700,000,000 people in the world, approximately one billion have never known of Christ. Two thirds of the remaining do not know Him as we are privileged to know Him.

Do not let achievements get in the vay. Do not be content with good or better when you can do your best.

MEANING OF PRAYER

Prayer is both natural and univer sal. It is neither a soliloquy nor a monologue. Prayer is communion with God.

The prayer which our Lord set forth as a model contains these thre-

3. Petition

There are also three aspects of prayer: The personal element, the presumption of prayer, and the creative aspect. Regarding the second

Our Chapel exercises this week are trained, his mind is functioning, and unannounced into the presence of the Governor of our state or of the President of our United States. there is one who has such a right, it is the son. God is our father, therefore we may brush aside this presumption which otherwise might exist, rap as it were at the door of our Lord, the King of Kings and find admission. Prayer is creative. It actually brings things to pass. The soveringty of man may be brought can be sovereign and answer prayer because in His sovereignty He decreed that He would do just that. Within the circle of God's will man may bring things to pass through prayer that otherwise would not be done. Because of this provision we share a serious responsibility in bringing those things to pass.

The Meaning of Faith.

"Faith is the substance of things hoped for, the evidence of things not seen." "Without faith it is impossible to please God." "Faith is the victory that overcomes."

too visionary. A small Sunday phia, Albany, and Houghton dis-School lad when asked for a definition of faith said, "It is believing something that ain't so." "Abraham believed God and it was accounted unto him for righteousness." In the Hebrew the verb "believe" means "to lean hard." This adds a different aspect to our faith.

Monday evening Dr. Huffman proved conclusively the veracity of his subject: The Bible the Greatest Book in the World. In effecting this proof he made and substantiated six

I. The Bible is the greatest Book in the world, for it is the Book of Divine inspiration.

All Scripture is God-breathed as the Word itself states in such passages as II Timothy 3:16 and II Peter 1:21.

II. The Bible is the greatest Book in the world because of its providential preservation.

At times of special effort to exterminate it, the Book has been hidden away. Such copies have been found repeatedly. As recently as 1859 one of the most perfect manuscripts of the Greek New Testament was III. The Bible is the greatest Book in the world because of its sacrificial translation.

Tyndale who during the sixteenth century translated the New Testament into English died a martyr because of his work. Other consecrated scholars met with much hardship and many with martyrdom.

IV. The Bible is the greatest Book in the world because of its unparalled circulation.

"The Christian people of America do not know their Bibles as they should know them." The Bible is extant either in whole or part in 886 different languages. The total circulation exceeds that of the total circulation of two hundred of the world's best books. The output of copies in 1928 amounted to 36,500,000 and would fill a bookcase reaching from New York to Philadelphia; yet we know little of its contents.

Haven't you heard questions like these around the hall? "Where is President Luckey?" "What is he doing?" "Is Dean Fancher back yet?" Perhaps we can answer a few of these questions.

President Luckey and Dean Fancher have been attending and organizing Alumni Chapters. There are fourteen chapters of the Houghton Alumni. Ten of the fourteen meetings have already been held. The Faith to some of us is too far off, meetings of the Michigan, Philadeltricts will be in the near future. The average attendance at the local chapters has been around twenty.

During the President's first trip he attended Alumni gatherings at Plattsburg on October 30, New York City on November 1, Elmira on November 3, and Syracuse on Novem-(Continued on Page Four)

CRITICISM

When a group has reached college age does it not seem that: they are beyond the stage where they should be publicly criticised before visitors? No matter what their offense has been, does it seem necessary to correct them before strangers? Out of courtesy to the visitor to our institution, if not out of courtesy to the students, criticism should be withheld until such a time as the reprimand can be private or at least confined to the group or groups immediately affected. We, as students, recognize the fact that we do things which are irritating and exasperating. Nevertheless, criticism at such a time and in such a place does not lead to corection but rather to resentment. The criticism itself is not unmerited but the place and time is felt to be unwarranted.

THANKSGIVING

A few things for us to be thankful for: That we have the privilege of attending college. That we have the privilege of attending a Christian College such as Houghton.

That we possess some tried and true friends. That we live in America and can enjoy its privileges. That we have health.

That we have health.

That we live in a Christian country.

That we may live and learn.

Alumni News

Joe Kemp of the class of '29 was in Houghton Saturday.

John Kluzzit was seen in Houghton Saturday.

Arthur Doty of the class of '30 entertained Eddie Zuber at his home in Cherry Creek over the week-end.

We, the alumni of the Chautauqua district, send greetings to our Alma Mater. On November 13, a meeting was called at the Y. M. C. A. in Jamestown for the purpose of organizing a Chautauqua Chapter of the Alumni Association.

We were seated at a long table with the following present; Margaret Carnahan, Pauline Cook, Mary Alice Sloan, Florence Swanson, Archie Crapo, LaVay Fancher, President Luckey, Marion Hollister, Myrtle Crosby, Lulu Cooper, Mr. and Mrs. Elliott, Harold Webb, Arthur Doty, and Arline Dibble. A splendid dinner was served, being arranged for by Mrs. Anna Elliott. A business meeting was held following the dinner, over which Mrs. Elliott presided The following officers were elected for the coming year. Arthur Doty, President; Mrs. Anna Elliott, Vice-President; Mary Alice Sloan, Secretary and Treasurer.

Following this meeting, Presiden: Luckey spoke a few words introducing Dean Fancher, who gave us a very definite outline of Houghton's progress for the last 22 years. President Luckey followed this by an address in which he emphasized the importance of the alumni backing the institution, and asked for help in a half million dollar campaign for a "Bigger and Better Houghton."

At the close of the address we were given an opportunity to contribute to the above cause, after which we closed the meeting by singing the Alma Mater. Former students and alumni are to watch for another meeting of the Chautaugua Chapter to be held some time in May.

The Buffalo Chapter of the Houghton Alumni Association was organized Wednesday evening, November 12th, when a group of alumni and former students met for a dinner at the Central Y. M. C. A. in Buffalo. At the speakers' table with President Luckey and Dean Fancher were Keith Farner and Frank Henshaw who with Paul Steese had made the arrangements for the meeting.

Among others present were Mrs. A. L. Schumann, Mrs. C. R. Hawkins, Mrs. B. C. Hollenbeck, Agn.'s Lapham, Marjorie Donley, Laura Clark, Elmer Hudson, Rev. and Mrs. Wallace Neville, Hollis Stevenson, George Boice, Ralph Jones, and Mr. McElheny.

Between courses Hollis Stevenson led us in singing Houghton songs, and at the close of dinner, officers were chosen, Keith Farner being elected president and Fidelia Warburton. secretary. It was suggested that the meeting next year be held at the time of the Western Zone Teachers' Association Meeting.

Dean Fancher then reviewed brief, ly the history of Houghton, to'd us of recent changes, and spoke of the special needs of the college. Presi dent Luckey explained the need of an increased endowment and the pro posed campaign to raise money for that purpose. Then we were given the opportunity to contribute to the expense fund.

Many consider faith as mere intellectual assent. When applied to the material we find that it implies ability of an individual to do some thing and willingness to do that thing. An individual who had faith in surgery would employ the service of the best surgeon known, believing that his operation would be successful. He would risk everything on faith. It is the same in the banking system. We hand our hard earned noney over to the cashier of the bank and go out feeling content because we have faith in him and in the ystem. We believe that the banker s good, capable and efficient and will take care of the money.

Faith in Jesus Christ implies not nerely an intellectual assent to Christ, His birth, His death, His resurrection. Faith in Jesus Christ means confidence in the ability of Jesus Christ as Saviour of the world, in the atoning merit of His blood. Second, one must believe in His willingness to meet my every need. And third one must submit his case to Him, trusting implicity in His ability villingness to do the best with One must risk everything upon the faithful fulfillment of the promises of Christ. Faith makes Christ not merely a man of mystery but it puts us in vital contact with His saving power. As soon as we meet the conditions, the prerequisites, faith becomes easy and natural.

With the singing of the "Alma Mater" the meeting came to a close.

Fidelia A. Warburton.

CLASS SERIES

Senior vs Junior Men

On Thursday afternoon, November sixth, another important game of the class series took place. The game was featured by some sensational shots, but the pass-work was rather reckless at times.

During the first half the teams were quite evenly matched. Cronk dribbled through three Seniors to make the Juniors second basket. After a third basket for the Juniors, the Seniors tightened up. The first quarter ended—Junior 6, Seniors 5.

The second quarter was a fight from beginning to end. Fisk's ability to get the ball off the back-board proved a great asset to the Seniors. The half ended—Seniors 10, Juniors

In the second half the Juniors weakened. Bates did some commendable shooting for the Seniors and their score rose. The Juniors just couldn't put the ball through the net.

The two sensational shots of the game were made by Folger for the Seniors and Vogan for the Juniors. Bates was high scorer with 7 points.

Junior vs H. S. Girls

The Junior girls took the High School over to the tune of 17 to 7 in a very hectic struggle the afternoon of November 13. The contest was marked by considerable roughness, the Junior girls taking advantage of their superior weight. Congdon was the "high hat" on the Junior team while Stevens did some very pretty playing for the High School.

Soph vs Senior Girls

Friday of last week the Soph girls met the Seniors in what many claimed was the most interesting game thus far. The outcome of the issue remained in doubt until the fourth quarter when Matthews sank several quarter shots piling up a comfortable lead which the Seniors were unable to overcome before the final whistle. Matthews carried off the scoring honors with a total of 14 points while Davies was second with 11 points. Final score 21-18.

FROSH vs. H. S. GIRLS

On Friday November 6 the college Freshman girls lined up against the High School girls. The passing of both teams was rather loose. However, the High School displayed ever, the High School displayed some good team work. The Freshmen showed improvement over the last time they appeared on the court. Both teams fought hard during the entire contest but the High School couldn't quite cope with the superior height of the Freshman girls. Final score: Frosh 18, H. S. 15.

Syracuse Artists Give Program

One of the most brilliant musical programs ever to be presented in Houghton was given Wednesday evening November 12 by a group from the College of Fine Arts, Syracuse University. The artists were Miss Grace Weymer who is in charge of the Harp Department at Syracuse and a concert artist of long experience being a member of the famous Salzedo Harp Sextette; Miss Myra Gillette, pianist who is a graduate of Syracuse; Mr. Murray Bernthal violinist of New York City, who is a junior in Fine Arts and a student of the well known Andre Polak, in spite of his youth Mr. Bernthal has years of experience back of him; and Mr. Francis McLaughlin, baritone, a senior at the University who has appeared with nationally known artists as soloist with the University Chorus under Dr. Lyman.

The program chosen was an especially well balanced one having serious numbers as well as lighter ones so that there was an appeal for all in the various groups. The numbers presented were as follows:

Theme and Variations in A Paderewski La dance d' Olof Pick-Mangiagalli Myra Gillette

Lungi dal caro bene Water Boy Robinson Mattinata Would God I were a Tender Appleblossom (Londonderry Air) Old Irish

Francis McLaughlin Impromptu Caprice G. Pierne Chaconne A. Durand Grace Weymer

Malaguena Old Refrain Kreisler Scherzo and Tarantelle Wieneawski Murray Bernthal Le bon petit roi d' Yuetot

Mirage Introspection) Whirlwind) Grace Weymer

Odu mein Abendstern (Tannhauser)

Wagner Nocturne Ensemble

Miss Weymer's charming personality as well as brilliant artistry immediately won her audience. She responded to encore several times. The three extremely modern numbers written by her teacher, the "Mirage," "Introspection," and "Whirlwind" proved especially popular with her listeners. She chose the well known "Song of the Volga Boatman" as encore to this group while a choral of the 16th century followed her first group. It was a rare treat to see her beautiful Lyon and Healy Harp.

Miss Gillette proved not only a brilliant soloist but also a very sympathetic accompanist.

The warmth and richness of Mr. McLaughlin's voice and the masterful technique of Mr. Berenthal were so appreciated that both young men were recalled for encores.

The Wagner number by the entire ensemble "O du mein holder Abendstein" proved to be the climax of the evening and will long be remembered.

Many Houghton people have taken advantage of the opportunity of meeting the Artists of our two musical programs since we have graduates from both institutions on our Faculty who knew the artists person-Prof. Kreckman introduced | Syracuse.

THE LIGHT BEARERS

Little do we realize the influence ve have. Even our insignificant and thoughtless acts cast an influence on those about us. Especially is this true of Christians. The other day meone was criticising the Light Bearers, especially some of the members for doing certain things. However, they had to admit that some of the members were above reproach. How important it is, Light Bearers, to live up to one's profession.

It has been a common criticism that anyone can become a member of this organization. Perhaps it is true that the qualifications are too low. It's up to the members, however, to raise these standards. How? By living better lives, thereby raising the qua'ification of your own membership You have an obligation to do this!

Harvest Day Program

The annual Harvest Day program of the W. H. and F. M. S. was held on November 14. Mrs. Roth, the local president was in charge. "How Firm a Foundation" was the opening song. Rev. Pitt read Psalm 103 and led in prayer. Lucile Crowell then sang "I shall not Pass again this Way." Excerpts from Freshmen themes on "Why I chose Houghton College as My Alma Mater" were read by Prof. King. A dialogue "Who is Thy Neighbor?" was given which recounted Missionary incidents in the South. Eileen and Isabelle Hawn sang "What have you done for Jesus?" The life of Willard J. Houghton was told by Miss Frieda Gillette. Prof. Ries read a list of Houghton students who have served the Wesleyan Methodist Church. The Harvest Day offering was then taken for Houghton College. The closing song was "Faith of Our Fathers.'

The atmosphere of right living in which I lived has been a great blessing to me."

Following the short address, two numbers by the male quartet, a yell for Dr. Downing and one for President Luckey, and the Alma Mater were given. Dr. Downing made very careful inspection of the college library, equipment, records, et cetera. Early in the afternoon he left for Buffalo.

and successful in life? While dying Sir Walter Scott said to his son-in-law, "Give me the Book." When asked which book, he said, "There is only one Book. Give me the Bible." > for it is the Book of God. TUESDAY EVENING

Dr. Huffman brought another splendid message on Tuesday evening when he spoke on the "Problem of a Miracle." The Scripture from which most of the address was taken was John 2:1-11 where there is an account of the miracle of water turned across the river they secured a boat into wine. According to the speaker, from some friends of the guide and miracles are out of the ordinary and proceeded down the river to find Dr. challenge the curiosity; we approach a miracle through the mystery of things around us. It is foolish for us to say that we will have nothing to do with anything in life unless we understand it. In a very clever way Dr. Huffman proved the above state ment by showing that no one would eat any meal if it was necessary to understand all the elements in the food which is eaten.

In the miracle of changing the water into wine, there were six water about ninety-six gallons in all. The icating wine or pure grape juice. Dr had made an intoxicating drink he

President and Dean Fancher left would have violated Old Testament for Philadelphia after the meeting law and the Spirit of the New Testament as shown in the Nazarite vow. Then too it is recorded that the wine was of high grade and at that time the Oriental people were drinking sweet wine.

The congregation was taught two very fine definitions. One, that Nature is God's ordinary way of doing things, and the other, that a miracle is God's extraordinary way of doing things. The speaker showed very clearly that nature and miracle are not contradictory but are in parallel lines with each other. The day of miracles is not past, but we can understand neither nature nor mira

The greatest miracle that can ever be done is the salvation of a precious soul and the transformation of a sinful life. Through Dr. Huffman's address, every person present realized how much of a miracle was accom plished in the saving of a life and soul.

WEDNESDAY EVENING

Wednesday evening after a short and inspiring song service, Miss Elizabeth MacFarlane rendering the special selection "Give Me Jesus," Dr. Huffman presented in a clear impressive manner "A Character Sketch from God's Who's Who." The character in consideration was John, the beloved Disciple.

"John was not a man of presump tion as some may think due to the fact that in several places he calls himself 'that disciple whom Jesus loved."

John later termed by Christ "the beloved disciple" was earlier known with his brother James as "Sons of Thunder." We may readily perceive that John was a man of quick, lightning temper who was molded into the beautiful and lovable character of "the Beloved Disciple" because (1) He heard and heeded every call Christ gave (a) the call to friendship (b) the call to discipleship (c) the call to apostleship; (2) he drew as near to Christ as he possibly could, being the only member of the Innermost Circle of the Apostles (3) he took the whole hazard of discipleship even being the one disciple at the

On Tuesday Nov. 11 the Sopho more men rolled up a 60 to 24 victory over the High School boys. The High School team had good pass work but were weak on the defense. The fast Soph men took advantage of this and found many openings to dribble down to their basket unguarded. Experience, size and a good defense accounted for the Soph victory. High point men were Flint-26, Albro-16.

Bittersweet Berries

They are such cheery little clusters of brightness, these bittersweet berries, that coming on them in a winter-stricken wood is like finding a message of hope. "We can be gay," they say, "in the midst of desolation. Why can't you?"

On a rare, windy day of last Oc tober the message of the bittersweet came to me. I had gone out into the woods to be alone, smarting from a hurt I had received. It was a trif ling thing, but poignant as the tragedies of youth always are, and to me it seemed a blight from which I should never recover. I hated all the parts of my life-the people who had witnessed my humiliation, the place where it had happened-hated them たたたたたた roundings and found in them a consolation. They were as bleak and unhappy-looking as I felt. A sharp with an unreasoning intensity. With bleak satisfaction I surveyed my surwind came up, and burying my reddening nose in the collar of my coat, I decided that, despite the general horridness of people, I wouldn't stay out in these awful old woods and freeze any longer! Not for anybody. Resolutely but still nursing my reentment, I started to go back. Suddenly the pale yellow sun came out, and I saw the bittersweet, twining about the branches of a tall pine tree. It's gay orange berries against the green were startling in their color.

I stopped short, and as I looked at hem, they seemed to speak in my mother's voice. I heard her say, quite matter-of-factly: "One person owes it to others never to show grief or resentment in public. He owes the world a smile. "Quick images formed and faded in my mind- a childish voice weakening and forever stopping, horses and carriages, people in black, the sound of weeping, and my mother's smiling face. I remembered that when I had seen it so, its sweet serenity had made me think of the statue of St. Elizabeth at the church.

Several days later I got a letter from home. "Thank you for your remembrance, dear," my mother wrote. "Those bright berries from your winter woods were lovely. They are so cheerful. I took some out to Danny's grave today."
