Expression Club To Act 'Pygmalion' On Two Dates

Curtain time will be 7:45 p.m. at Fancher Auditorium on March 17 and 18 for the most ambitious Expression and English Club project of the year. An evening of drama featuring two one-act plays, "Sham" and "The Finger of God," and scenes from George Bernard Shaw's Pygmalion will be presented.

"Sham," a comedy directed by Professor William Greenway, will be the first offering. A burglar — caught in the act by a milque-toast husband and his domineering wife — tries to convince his discoverers to consent to being robbed. David Musser plays the thief, and Harold Baxter and Marilyn Bulson play the husband and wife.

Next, Professor Henry Higgins will attempt to change a "draggle-tail guttersnipe" into a sophisticated young woman as the Club presents three scenes from Pygmalion with unifying narrations. Meg Gillette plays Eliza, Edward Scutt is Henry Higgins, Eugene Pigford is Colonel Pickering, and Alan Bagg is Alfred Doolittle. Also featured are Rosemarie Martin, Letha Forbes, David Moore, Clayton Glickert, Ernest Clapper and Joy Conley. Edward Scutt directs.

A man is haunted by past deceptions and is convinced by a secretary-angel to admit them and rid himself of guilt in "The Finger of God," the third play on the agenda. Robert Lenehan, Carol Metz and Ronald Kaczala star. Professor Abraham Davis will direct.

Is Theme Of Interview

A personal interview with Dr. Dennis Kinlaw, special speaker for the week of meetings, reveals a twinkling eye and a keen interest in young People.

One of the problems that Dr. Kinlaw recognizes on a campus such as Houghton is "religious worldliness." The same motivation which causes a student to begin drinking on one campus may cause him to assume a religious attitude here. "It may be a nice form, but is it authentic? There must be a complete surrender of the will."

Another problem (which the seminary professor sees) is the lack of privacy in college living. Devotions are sometimes hurried through with the attitude, "Now that I have done my twenty push-ups for today. . . ." Dr. Kinlaw feels that it takes a certain amount of solitude to live a holy life. "We must find time to be alone with God, even if it means postponing conversation with our roommate until after breakfast."

A third problem of college life, he says, is the motivation for studying.

conversation with our roommate until after breakfast."

A third problem of college life, he says, is the motivation for studying. "God is looking for competent men in His service. Is this the motive for diligent study, rather than the desire to excel? When Christ is our frame of reference, there is no problem in finding time for devotions."

The thrust of Dr. Kinlaw's messages is shown in his statement of the ideal man of Scriptures: "Blessed is he whose transgression is forgiven, whose sin is covered" (Psalm 32:1).

Plans are under way for the construction of a Wesleyana Room in the new library. It will be a repository for documents and publications relating to the history of the Wesleyan Methodist Church.

Dr. Roy Nicholson, the first General Superintendent of the denomination, offered his extensive library on John Wesley to the college if they would make a special place in the new library for it. The Board of Trustees authorized the room and made it a personal project, including responsibility for funds.

The committee in charge of planning the room is composed of Rev. Daniel Heinz, conference president, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Hudson of East Aurora, and Mrs. F. Gordon Stockin. Mr. Yaws, an architect from East Aurora, is preparing final plans. Mr. David Franz, Professor of Medieval History at Gordon College, will conduct an evening seminar here Tuesday, February 16, on the annual Gordon European Seminar.

Mr. Yaws, an architect from East Aurora, is preparing final plans.

Available for the room is the desk used by the editors of the Wesleyan Methodist in Syracuse from the 1850's to the 1950's. The room will also house a glass display case for rare documents, and be furnished in the decor of the 1850's.

Construction on the project will

Construction on the project will begin during Easter vacation. In other areas of the library, a new loan desk, eight tables and a new card catalogue unit were installed on Registration Day.

Kee Demonstrated Virtuosity, Understanding Says Reviewer

BY DR. WILLIAM ALLEN

Piet Kee, gave Houghton a demonstration last Friday night of the "virtuosity" of musical understanding.

At organ recitals, all necks stretch, as if caught in a noose of sound, toward the performer and his instrument. Neck positions changed little as Mr. Kee made music the important thing and his personality the unimportant thing.

Beautiful phrasing, tasteful registration, and a non-legato touch were the secrets of communication in works by Ritter, Sweelinck, Daquin and others.

At just the right moment, Bach's majestic Prelude and Fugue in B Minor came to clear the air of little sounds. The architecture of sound and sight combined as the Bach progressed. And now the performer's personality must come to the fore, because music of such scope needs not only understanding but great spirit. Mr. Kee did not draw back from his duty.

The Houghton community dentist for eighteen years, Dr. Homer Fero, left last Friday to spend a month in Sierra Leone. He will do dental work in the Kamakwie hospital there.

Dr. Fero arrived in Sierra Leone in time for worship services Sunday.

The five "Clockwork Pieces" by Halydon were as elegant as could be. The Franck Fantasy in A Major and the two pieces by Alain depended upon romantic coloring for their mood. The Franck was perhaps not as vital as possible. Mr. Kee's own composition, Fantasy on the Choral "Sleepers awake", caused some necks to change position, for it had in it those elements that cause some construction pregarding the meaning of

Also leaving Houghton is the Shingledecker family who has resided here for a little over a year while on furlough. They are planning to leave February 12 for Burundi, Africa where they have served on the interdenominational World Gospel Mission board since 1944.

When they first went to the mission field, Mr. Shingledecker worked when they first when to the mission held, Wit. Shingledecker worked in the print shop. However, during most of his three terms of ministry, he has served as field superintendent.

Mr. Shingledecker is a graduate of Asbury College and Asbury Theological Seminary, Wilmore, Kentucky.

Considered by many to be the most outstanding Christian film yet produced, "Beloved Enemy" has been described as a scholarly defense of the Christian faith, interwoven with romance, intrigue and danger.

"Beloved Enemy," acclaimed Best Picture of the Year, will be presented by the Star on Wednesday, February 17, at 7:30 p.m. in Wesley Chapel.

Professor Franz will show films of last year's travels and discuss this summer's trip. It will trace our Christian heritage through New England, Great Britain, Holland, Belgium, Germany, Switzerland, Italy, France, Greece and Asia Minor. "The Seminar is not rustic, but is organized travel for a comprehensive look at Europe at an economical price for college students," emphasized Carol Book, senior, who toured with the group last year.

With a major in sociology, John plans either to teach or do graduate study. All of his accomplishments, both at Houghton as a student and while plying the Carribean in the merchant marine, have enabled him to stand out among his fellow classmates. Over the pounding of drums and the smashing of donut bags, limping President Bud Bence's voice resounded "the Spirit of '66" to 640 k.c. radio listeners on Saturday night. The reason for exultation was valid as the Juniors had just finished their sweep of the class playoffs by finishing the Sophomores, 76-67.

Shooting 39% from the floor to 33% for the Sophs, the Juniors fell on the short end in rebounding, 45-32. Jon Angell lead all scorers with twenty-three points.

Second Round Of Houseleague Department team to victory after Opens As Warriors Cop Crown victory in the Houseleague series of WJSL captain Paul Mouw and opposing captain Ralph Olsen matched strategy genius. Even though at times this resulted in play reserved for another sport, Mouw's determination and Olsen's deficit of twenty points at halftime could not be over points at halftime could not be over-come. Carl Metcalf rounded out the Short-Circuits' big M twins, adding six field goals. Ernie Clapper, the dean of the Houghton sports world, came from the bench to give the victors a decided edge under the boards. The final score stood 47-17.

First semester Houseleague officially ended Wednesday evening at Bed-ford Gymnasium. Perhaps reluctant to complete the series, the officials arrived thirty minutes late to referee the over-practiced, would-be champs.

Jim Hall, a January graduate, considered the title so momentous that he traveled across the state back to campus for the tilt. His efforts, along with Dean Kirkwood's, led the Warriors over Yorkwood, 40:26.

First quarter play was even until playmaker Hall sunk four straight from the circle to give the champs a lead Yorkwood was never able to overcome. Rebounding was particularly difficult and in this department specialist Dean Kirkwood made his mark as well as finding the mark for seventeen points, the games highest individual score. For Yorkwood, Clay Glickert followed with eleven, while hard-fighting Fred Downie poured through eight.
