Jeanne Hazlett Gives Senior Music Recital

Miss Jeanne Hazlett, violinist, a student of Prof. John M. Andrews, gave her senior music recital on Friday, January 12. Miss Hazlett was accompanied by Miss Ruth McCamman.

Miss Hazlett's recital was the first senior recital of the year, presented at this early date because Miss Hazlett will be graduated at the end of this semester. She has signed a contract to act as music supervisor in Indian Lake, New York.

Miss Hazlett's recital was exceptionally fine, beginning with La Folia, by A. Corelli. Her first number with its strong feeling set the pace for the good tone-quality of the program. The second group of the program consisted of Symphonie Espagnole, with its four movements, by E. Lalo. The third group consisted of Tambourin Chinois, by F. Kreisler, Serenade Espagnole, by Charmande-Kreisler, and Hora Staccato, by Dinicu-Heifetz.

In Serenade Espagnole Miss Hazlett's treatment of the harmonics was especially noteworthy because it was unusual. In Hora Staccato almost the whole number was played in a fast staccato. Throughout the concert Miss Hazlett's finger dexterity was brilliant. For an encore, Miss Hazlett played again Hora Staccato, which had been very well received by the audience.

Miss Hazlett entered Houghton College in the fall of 1941, having been graduated from the Houghton High School. By attending summer school she has accumulated enough hours to be graduated one semester before the rest of her class. She was the first of the class of 1945 to sign a contract for teaching. Miss Hazlett is the daughter of Prof. and Mrs. Ray W. Hazlett. During her college course she has been a member of the college orchestra, and is included in the 1945 edition of Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities.

Letter to N. E. Students

Dear Mr. Editor:

To all the New Englanders, and the Empire Staters in "my" territory, and all to whom it may concern, greetings —

During my recent "stop" in Houghton, it was a great pleasure to meet former acquaintances, and friends, also to find the new ones. Yes, you are a grand group, faculty and students. As a supporter of Houghton and an "old grad," I am proud of you. There is plenty of "land to be possessed," and it is for you to "press toward the mark" as God would have you. It is God's will, I trust we will meet again here on earth, if not, then in the "land of the Redeemed."

Yours in Christ always and all ways,
Walter F. Lewis

FEW REGISTER AS NEW STUDENTS NEXT HALF

Miss Davison, the registrar reports that there will be at least 7 or 8 students who will enroll in the college next semester. Three theologs, three music students, and one social science major are planning on entering Houghton. Classifications of these future Houghtonians are not verified as yet.

Senior Women Clinch Title To Girls' Class Basketball

January 11 the senior women clinched the title to the women's class basketball series by winning over the juniors 18-15. Voorhees with 9 points was high scorer followed by Avery and Donley with 8 points each.

The senior combination just didn't click in the first half as the juniors took a 11-6 lead, but they came back to tie the score in the third quarter and to win in the final quarter. The undefeated senior women take the championship having not only a high scoring set of forwards but a very effective combination of guards. "Doc" Luckey's "Lovelies" are a team to meet any year's champion team.

Miss Moreland Recounts Experiences In Interview

Elizabeth Moreland, a missionary to India and the sister of Dr. Moreland, dean of Houghton College, related her story of an exciting trip home from India on a navy transport, in an interview.

Miss Moreland could not reveal many of the details of her story because they were military secrets. However, everything which she was permitted to tell about her experiences in India and about her voyage home was fascinating.

In Bombay, Miss Moreland was in charge of the editing and publishing of Christian literature in the Marathi language. She had a large shop in Bombay where Christian literature of all languages was sold. This publishing house and shop is supported by the "United Mission and Churches Project." The Acting Secretary of British and Foreign Bible Society helped her as did the Bible Society of India and Ceylon.

Miss Moreland related how she had not been home since 1935. At that time she had a short holiday. When she left Bombay last year she chose four Indian men to carry on her work. Thus having placed her work in competent hands she looked to her long voyage home on a transport. The trip took 37 days according to calendar time — 38 days sailing time because of the gain of a whole day at the international date line. She crossed the equator twice,

The Houghton College Orchestra, directed by Prof. Alton M. Cronk, gave its initial concert of the year Wednesday evening under the sponsorship of the staff of the 1945 Boulder. The outstanding feature of the program was Mendelssohn's Concerto in G Minor for Piano and Orchestra with Miss Mildred Bisgrove, instructor in the Department of Music, as soloist. Miss Bisgrove gave a superb performance showing complete mastery of the intricate, rapidly moving portions as well as depth of expression in the more tender passages. The orchestra as a whole, and especially the cello section is to be complimented on its sympathetic accompaniment.

The opening selection of the concert was the Symphony in E Flat, by Mozart. The orchestra played Mozart's lilting and graceful composition with precision and delicacy. In direct contrast to the symphony and the concerto, the works of classical musicians, the orchestra gave for the closing number a selection from the Western World, by Dvorak.

The orchestra, which is larger than the orchestra of recent years, gave evidence

Local W.C.T.U. Discusses Serviceman Liquor Problem

The Houghton W.C.T.U. held its monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. Mary Lane Clark on the evening of January 10 at 7:30.

The meeting was opened by song. For devotionals, Mrs. Crouch led the women in repeating the 91st Psalm, the favorite Psalm of the men in the armed forces; prayer was offered by Mrs. Armstrong.

Mrs. Mildred Woolsey was in charge of the evening's program entitled Flower Mission and Relief. The first part of the meeting was given to prayer for our armed forces and for national problems. This was followed by a business meeting.

Among the items of interest read during roll call was this letter from a Minnesota son in the service of his country "somewhere in India" to his mother: "We got our rations today — 24 bottles of beer, 4 cartons of cigarettes, 4 boxes of pipe tobacco, 5 cigars, 6 cans of fruitjuice, 3 bars of soap, razor blades, 10 packages of chewing gum, 7 candy bars. We buy them, and this lot costs us eight dollars, and we have to resell what we do not want. So your son is a liquor dealer."

Another soldier wrote: "After drilling all day on the hot sands of Africa, there was no cold water to drink, but there was plenty of iced beer and I just had to drink something, and mother, I am afraid I shall come home liking it." The W.C.T.U. presented the challenge, "What are we doing to prevent the continuance of such an appalling situation?"

Weekend Choir Trip--A Member's Account

Bouncing merrily out of Houghton at 1:00 p. m. last Saturday afternoon, I was one of the thirty-eight girls in the school bus chartered for Houghton's A Cappella Choir tour. We bumped along through the ever increasing snow until the clock reached 4 p. m., and then were "turned loose" in the business section of Buffalo. To be in a metropolis seemed like home again and as is the custom of "poor college students," we gazed in the windows of the stores and shops; that was as far as we could go. Feeling an urge from the "inner man" our main objective was Laubes and we gained it "in short order". The satisfaction that the chicken croquettes and fried oysters gave us is undecipherable, but unparalleled was Glenda Weaver's keen delight in the sweet rolls.

"Tempus" really did "fugit" and faster than we had gained our objective, we retreated onto the sidewalk and dashed down the streets, sliding around corners, and "made" the bus, waiting to transport its passengers to Kleinhan's Music Hall.

Buffalo's leading clothing manufacturers in the past. To his $2,000,000 was added his wife's fortune and other donations; the sum of these was exchanged for this unique and lovely edifice seating over 3,000 persons.

Over eleven hundred young people nearly filled the downstairs of the hall at Buffalo's "Youth for Christ" program, which was broadcasted over WBNY Saturday night. The A Cappella Choir sang two groups of three selections, the latter group being given over the air. Dr. Paine brought a challenging message entitled, "A One-Man Expeditionary Force".

Immediately after the program our hostesses for the night assembled on the platform and choir members were "given out" to each one. My lot fell with a sweet lady who entertained three of us. It was "just like home" again because — well — we ate before we went to bed.

Incidentally, our hostess' "war alarm" forgot to ring at the right time and caused us to make the bus wait a half-hour in the morning. On our way to Williamsville, we conversed about the

How About what YOU Think ?

Two details of STAR procedure and policy seem to bring its greatest censure. These details are the errors which appear in it from week to week, and the handling, or the lack of handling of controversial issues.

Errors of fact, implication, and judgement are bound to appear in the STAR from time to time. Everyone seems to realize when they are themselves concerned. We will be glad to rectify any such errors if the one concerned will sit down and write us a letter stating the error and the correction. We will be glad to print any such letter. In other words, if you do not like what you see in the STAR, write and say so. That is the best way of keeping the STAR accurate.

As for controversial issue, in the past there has often been a considerable amount of discussion of school policies and procedures through the columns of the STAR. Some called it "gripping" others called it "constructive criticism". The fact remains that it often went farther than it should, and caused bitterness in the faculty and the student body.

On the other hand, the purpose of the STAR is to reflect student opinion. If the STAR is ignoring issues which it should discuss, it is not filling its position. We should again suggest that a letter to the STAR might be a solution to this problem. State clearly the issues at stake, and remember that there may be two sides to the question. We will be glad to print your opinion.

Exam Time . . . And No Star!

Next week there will be no STAR for the same reason that many other school activities will be curtailed. Something about the advent of examination time brings students to a realization that they are in college, and that college is really a place in which to study. Examination week does, of course, provide for more opportunities than the mere taking of exams, and the learning of a semester's work. In fact, if cramming is necessary the week loses all of its benefits to the student.

Examination week does provide a chance for an honest review of the semester's work. As such it is invaluable, for many of the facts recalled at that time will stick where they didn't before, and all of the subject matter of the various courses will be better integrated in the students' mind. Examination week should be a time of rest. Actually, that is the truth. Examinations can be taken more effectively, and the new semester started with fresh vigor if everyone takes plenty of sleep.

And so, passing on these observations based on experience gained the hard way, the editor and staff is taking a vacation for a week — a vacation in which they will study, review, take examinations, and SLEEP.

In Case You Haven't Heard

The battle of the Pacific once again attracted the attention of the whole world as General Douglas MacArthur led the United States invasion forces onto the Jap-held Island of Luzon, the largest island of the Philippine group. The first invasion of the Philippine Islands was initiated in October, when MacArthur and his forces landed on Leyte. The fight for the Philippines has continued since that date and will undoubtedly be determined by the success of the Luzon invasion. The United States attack on Luzon from the Lingayen Gulf was not a complete surprise to the Japanese forces stationed on the island. The enemy had seen United States ships congregating in the Gulf for several days before the vital blow was given. As United States troops swarmed to Lingayen Gulf beachhead, American planes gave strong support to the ground forces and naval units. United States warships had so successfully pounded Jap coastal defenses in the days previous to the invasion that the resistance of the enemy was very light. Steady progress has been made in Luzon by our troops since the first landing on January 9. The Japanese seem to be either unable or unwilling to make any major stand. This lack of resistance may be due to unfavorable transportation facilities in the northern part of Luzon. American troops, penetrating 30 miles in 5 days, now are about 80 miles from the Philippine capitol of Manila. The Americans are expecting powerful Japanese resistance before Manila is reached. The 80 miles left to be captured will, without doubt be much bloodier and much more hazardous than the first 30 miles have been.

In Poland, a long awaited Russian offensive has smashed through the German lines west of the Vistula River. Berlin reported that this new drive in Southern Poland began simultaneously with two other Soviet offensives, one in East Prussia and one in Czechoslovakia. The Germans have estimated that the Russian forces equal 600,000 men in Southern Poland. In two days the Russians have taken 350 places and have driven within 60 miles of German Silesia. This new Red offensive has been eagerly hoped for by the Allied armies on the western front in Europe. As the Red army drives toward German homeland on the Eastern front, pressure on the Allies in France and Belgium will be lessened.

On the Western front the Germans were forced to halt resistance as Allied forces opened a new offensive against Von Rundstedt's wedge in the Ardennes sector. The 80 mile wedge which the Germans hold splits the Allied lines in this area. If the Allies can successfully push this bulge from their lines they will be able to strengthen their forces in all sectors and prepare for a new offensive.

The urgent need for nurses in the armed forces has brought a plea from Army and Navy officials for volunteers to enter the Army and Navy Nurses Corps. Since last spring nearly 2,000 nurses have entered the Army, a number

By High School Students

The large crowd that attended the basketball game in the Bedford Gym last Friday night saw one of the most thrilling games of the year. A speedy high school quintet under the leadership of Bob Carlson, defeated the junior-senior sages with a score of 24-23. In the first few seconds of the game Carlson placed the first basket for the high school with Ralph Knotts soon following. The first quarter, as all the quarters, was fiercely contested and ended with an even score of 4-4. The second quarter saw the most scoring by the high school of any time during the game. The whole game was not a game of high scoring but just plain fighting. In the third quarter the high school made four points while the college men dropped in ten bringing the score at the end of the third quarter to 22-21. All through the fourth quarter the tension was high; Bev Barnett swished the net for another two points, but this small gain was soon followed by a college basket which made the score 24-23 with the high school out in front. All of the rest of the game was packed with hard fighting, the ball being passed from one end of the court to the other and neither team being able to score. As the minutes of the dramatic last quarter ticked away, the excitement of the crowd grew more and greater. First the high school had the ball and then the college and back again. Just as the last minute flashed off the score board, the sages shot, but the ball fell short and into the hands of the high school. The horn blew and the game was over, but what a game!

The lineup for the game had Dave Minor playing center, Bev Barnett and Bob Carlson forwards and Ralph Knotts and Sam Northey as guards. The high scorer for the game was Bev Barnett who made 8 points; Carlson followed with 6. We would like to acknowledge the fact that we counted four of the high school faculty at the game. We thank you for your attendance and we would enjoy seeing you there many more times. Do not forget, we notice those little things and it means a lot to us.

Now that classes have resumed once again, every person has returned to studying and the attending of various spiritual high school services. We feel that God has a definite place for us in the

WAR BOND RETURNS

Dr. Luckey received the following letter from one of the "Rank and File" who appreciates the work of the War Bond Drive committee.

To the Director of the War Bond Drive
 "In recent letters which I've received from the students at Houghton College, I was very glad to learn that such a strong effort is being put forth in this way to help bring the war to a speedy victory.

"I want to take this opportunity as a former student of Houghton to congratulate you for contributing as liberally to the cause for which we are fighting in this hour.

"We are your representatives over here; and we're certainly glad to know that you along with thousands, yes millions of other Americans are behind the men behind the guns. You will be rewarded; for victory will be ours ultimately.

"God bless each one of you.

In Christ,
 Truman O. Ireland."

One by one Houghtonian nephews of Uncle Sam are leaving his fold. Pfc. Lowell B. Fancher (H. S. '44) and Pvt. Thomas A. Hannan (ex '45) have sent in A. P. O. numbers. Ensign Richard Lang (ex '44) is on the Pacific Ocean.

Ezra F. Gearhart (H. S. '44) has been promoted to Sergeant at Fort Benning, Georgia.

SERVICEMEN AT CONCERT

Pfc. John Sheffer ('43) and Carleton Cummings ('42) were at the Youth for Christ Rally in Buffalo on Saturday night. The "Big John" sings in a quartet comprised of Christian medical students.

After the first snowfall in his section of France, Pfc. Richard Graham (ex '45) tells about Christmas Eve—"It was just turning dusk and we were on the gun when suddenly we heard church bells from a distant village. We all stopped and listened and I'm sure we were all thinking the same thing... I know how those same bells might sound in another land. We sang no carols, had no tree. Perhaps a few of us hung up our stockings—to dry, but I guess Santa Claus forgot the pass word. But we've everything in the world to be thankful for, and I can't attribute it to luck alone. I too am ever grateful that I celebrate Christmas instead of Xmas." Yes, they had turkey with all the proper accomplishments.

We heard from Cpl. Don Roy, (ex '46) stationed in Italy.

"Today I was very definitely reminded of the presence of Houghton College when I received five issues of the STAR and to say the least I was very glad to receive them after not having heard from you since last summer. I could not call time out to more than glance at the date during the day but tonight I have read them all through like a book and now I'm all for getting back to Houghton 'cause I can see that it is the same old school with the same Christian spirit. I also received the Christmas greetings from the Anna Houghton Daughters and I would like to express my appreciation to them.

"I am still sweating it out here in muddy Italy and after spending a year and a half in Sicily and Italy I almost feel like an Italian myself. So far I haven't had much chance to look the country over with a tourist's point of view but I did manage to get a three day pass into Rome last summer and see the greatest historical attractions. Most of the time I ride up and down these muddy, traffic-laden roads on my motorcycle. In case you ever plan on coming to Italy make sure it is during the summer—if you come during the winter you will leave with a very bad taste in your mouth. This is a miserable place now and it is very seldom that we see the much publicized sun."

coming revival meetings. But in order to be able to do the things our Lord would have us to do, we must attend the various meetings in order that our Christian lives will be at their fullest. We should all be praying that God may work through us to the salvation of souls.

WHAT HOUGHTON MEANS TO ME:

Houghton means more to me than a place to receive my education. I arrived during the revival services of Rev. O. G. Wilson. These helped me to establish my new found faith in Christ. I have been blessed abundantly here in Houghton by the Christian attitude of the faculty and the Christian fellowship of the students. I am truly thankful to Christ for what Houghton has meant to me.

I Believe

I believe in the Lord Jesus Christ as my personal Saviour. Therefore I have no more condemnation, guilt, or sin for He has washed it away and replaced it with joy, peace, and satisfaction.

I lost the world behind; I lost in His forgetfulness my eternity without His presence, where, without it, one would be in a state indescribable with this mortal's pen. Paul, the great apostle, once wrote, "The wages of sin is death but the gift of God is eternal life." Yes, there is a way of escape and that is through the open door, Jesus Christ. We can and may pass through that open door and hence from death unto life. Some day that open door is going to close and there will be no one entering then. Why not pass boldly and bravely through now, for now is the day of salvation and you may, too, be on the inside looking out when the door is finally closed.

which seems incredibly small in comparison with the need for nurses on our scattered battlefronts. The Navy has asked for 4,000 nurses before July. Military necessity may force a nurse's draft bill to be passed. Army and Navy doctors have reported that there must be more nurses to care for the wounded men both overseas and in this country. President Roosevelt announced that the need for nurses is too urgent to depend on further recruiting efforts.

As the 79th Congress opened in Washington, the citizens of the United States wondered what new legislation another year would bring. Peace seemed more remote than in 1944. President Roosevelt's request for a National Service Act, the need of increased Armed Forces, and all matters which concern the carrying on of the war lie on the shoulders of this new congress as it convenes during the greatest war its nation has ever experienced.

Miss Moreland Interview

in traveling once from India to Australia and the other time in traveling from Australia to California. She explained that the men in the armed forces got a certificate to show they had crossed the equator. Also on the ship the Marines celebrated their fifty-first birthday and had a large cake made. Another interesting bit of news was that the ship carried a water distiller with them which changed sea water to fresh water at the rate of 40,000 gallons a day. And even then the water had to be rationed.

Miss Moreland related that after Burma fell Bombay had a complete blackout. Nights were hot, and the doors and windows were opened, making it hard to conceal light. The enemy used anti-personnel bombs which were filled with tiny bits of scrap metal like phonograph needles. These bombs would burst letting escape these small bits of steel which would shoot out at the populace. Bombay built blast walls to protect herself from these bombs.

Miss Moreland was born in New York City and her childhood days were also spent there, but now since her mother is in Erie, Pennsylvania, that is where she will go after a short week with us at Houghton. She wants to go back to Bombay at the end of the year. When she goes back she will work at an Indian church to further women's work there.

previous night, and especially appreciated the hospitality shown to "Hank" Brandt and Chester our bus driver who enjoyed a three-room suite for the night in one of Buffalo's "nicer" hotels.

After our morning concert in the Randon Memorial Baptist Church, we were assigned to homes for dinner. This time I was privileged to enjoy a chicken dinner in the suburbs of the "City of Parks". Our host drove us to meet the bus, but when it came, Chester kept right on driving past the appointed corner. It was at that moment we thought we were out of the choir, at least temporarily.

Chester was finally signalled and once again we found a seat on the bus (at least a third of one). Arriving in North Tonawanda, we presented our afternoon concert and were rewarded with a delicious lunch. According to their request, we sang for them a little more before leaving the First Church of Christ.

For our final concert, we returned to Buffalo and sang again for an attentive audience. Again we were given refreshments (it got to be a habit), but this time it was a special affair. "Prof." was celebrating a birthday and we helped him, despite the fact that he has decided to have a birthday "only every other year."

We admit that we returned to Houghton rather tired, but were thankful for the opportunity to carry to others the messages in songs that mean so much to our hearts.

BY ROY TAKAYA

Friday evening's thriller between the Jr.-Sr. and Hi-School Quintets was the swan song for the upper class captain, Ray Coddington, who was called into the armed forces. His absence is keenly felt by the members of his squad, as well as by those whom he played against. Those who knew Ray as a basketball player are confident of his success in his new field of service, for he has left behind in the heat of the basketball court a challenging example of Christ-like living. God bless you, Ray.

ANSWERED PRAYER

A stranger to the spirit of Houghton might think a basketball game peculiar if, on observing the activities of the teams, he should notice the period of devotion that is customarily observed by the members of each team, but to the Houghton athlete this period set apart before each game is a vital part of the afternoon or evening's event and is looked upon as the springboard to action.

Perhaps the secret to the fine spirit shown on the Bedford court has been the focusing of the actions through the spirit of prayer. There is no doubt but what God has honored the sincere prayers in the games.

FINAL CLASH

With the Interclass series of the second round terminating at the end of this week, we find that our pre-season predictions have been fairly accurate. The Senior women have clinched the title by maintaining their undefeated record. They face a determined frosh sextet this Friday evening in their last game and will strive to keep their slate clean.

The game of the year may well materialize out of Friday night's encounter between the surging sophs and the fighting Frosh. It is the last scheduled game of the Interclass Series and will determine whether the sophs and high school will have to meet in a play-off for the championship hopes of the Flower men. Both teams are at the peak of their strength and will be all-out for victory.

Wentzell Scores 30 Points
To Make Record for Season

In the freest scoring game of the year, played last Tuesday afternoon, the frosh girls swamped the high school 47-30 as Gloria Wentzell set the year's individual high score by tossing in fifteen baskets good for thirty points. For the losing team Drew had twenty points which is the second highest girls' score and equals the men's record.

The high school took the lead in the first quarter, but lost it during the second quarter never to regain it, as the frosh dribbled in, pivoted and made one basket after another.

Frosh Girls Defeat Sophs
In Close Finish on Friday

In the first game last Friday night, the freshman women edged out a 29-28 victory over the sophomores as Rhebergen, Panich, and Warren held the scoring honors with 12 points each.

Depending upon dribbling in and shooting lay-up shots, the sophs took the lead early in the game and kept it for the half of the game as Fancher for the sophs made her nine points in this period. The frosh showed excellent team work with their passing under the basket. At the first, the sophs broke up these plays, but when they made their passes good, the score began to pile up for the frosh.

One of the highlights of the evening occurred in the first quarter when the frosh cheerleaders ran out into the middle of the floor mistaking the ref's "time for a foul" for a "time out."

At the close of the second quarter, Peg Fancher and "Stush" Panich each got two baskets within one minute. Coming back into the last half the frosh not only erased their five point deficit but also took a lead which they never relinquished.

Fighting desperately, the frosh kept their one point lead as the sophs tried to overcome it in the last few minutes of play. Interesting to note is the fact that in such a close game the sophomores made only 4 out of 15 foul shots and the frosh 3 out of 12 foul shots. With better work on shots the sophs could have changed the 29-28 loss into another victory.

Star's Sport Editor's Prophecy No Avail

The most enthusiastic crowd of the season saw the high school men defeat the junior-senior men last Friday night 23-22, which was the second game of the evening to be decided by one point. Cliff Little's 10 points was high score followed by "Bev" Barnett's 8 points for the high school. Capt. Coddington of the upper class, in his last game before joining the armed services, played a magnificent game.

The high school used the fast break to account for most of their points taking the lead in the second quarter. However, the upper classmen, playing with only five men in uniform, kept a very tight defense, and held the usually high scoring team down as they stopped Carlson, allowing him but six points. In the third quarter, the upper classmen put on the pressure as they came within one point of overtaking their rivals. In the final stanza of the game, the high school increased their lead by two points but this was quickly erased when Wilt took the ball away from Knotts and Carlson under the basket and made a beautiful lay up shot.

The crowd went wild when with only seconds left to play, the upperclassmen missed three successive shots to lose with a one-point deficiency.
