Basket-Ball Series Starts To-night

Teams Evenly Matched

Tonight's basketball night! And the Purple-Gold Series is off to an early start. Houghton's fastest are on the court as two well-picked rival teams await the "ref's" whistle, and two rival galleries of cheering students are ready to boost their team and help to decide the verdict of the score board at the final shot of the timer's gun.

Here is the "dope" and the prospects for the later games in the big series. Composed of the cream of the several class teams, the Purple and Gold-teams concentrate Houghton's basketball speed, skill and spirit into one game. From all appearances the two teams are well-matched this year and promise some lively competition. We expect this series to be better than last year's and one of the most enjoyable in the history of our chief winter sport.

The Purple has gained by its new recruits, more than it lost by last year's graduation. The Gold has not changed very much. Both teams look strong! The Gold with a team that worked nicely together last year maintains its threat because of its experience. The Purple challenges with the new zest of fresh reinforcements.

Captain Fero seems well satisfied with his renovated team, especially with the effective scoring ability of Farnsworth, the all-round game of Albro and the steady defensive work of Folger.

Vogan's eye for the basket has not shown up so well as in the class series. Dolan and Taylor are stepping up from reserves to very usable material. Fisk is well satisfied with the way the old team is working into playing condition, but does not claim a decisive victory.

FRESHMAN HAVE CLASS PARTY

Mr. Furbay Guest

Friday night—the oasis of every week. This time the Freshmen bloomed out with a party. Just imagine all the young blades and blossoms intermingled in that evening of jollity.

The background was tinted with pale green and yellow decorations—just for native atmosphere—and the scene was laid up in the High School building—up the endless flights of stairs that, under ordinary circumstances, lead to hours of agony.

The nominees who were defeated in the class election came out of obscurity and under the spotlight of gaiety and enthusiasm staged a whole evening of games with a climax of a dainty lunch and music. There were several guests—Mr. Furbay, Professor and Stanley Wright and Miss Corinne Cole, and nearly fifty members of the Freshman class.

Chorus to Present Cantata Dec. 12

140 Voices To Be Heard

On December 12, the Chorus will present the Christmas cantata "Bethlehem" by Maunder. It is encouraging to learn that there are 140 voices in the Chorus this year which sets a new record in the history of this organization. Professor Kreckman, director of voice and choral music, will conduct the performance. In an interview with Prof. Kreckman we learned that he was very satisfied with the work of the Chorus and had no reasons whatsoever to fear for the success of the concert.

Miss Margaret Carter, senior piano student, is accompanying and Miss Davie will accompany at 2nd piano. Lucile Crowell, senior voice student, will sing the soprano solos, Leon Hines, the tenor, Henning Turnell, the baritone, and Fred Ebner the bass. The solos of this cantata are exceptionally beautiful.

The Chorus is in three parts as follows: Part I, The Shepherd's Gift. The outstanding features of this part are the soprano solo and the ladies Chorus, "Glory to God in the Highest." Part II, The King's Gift. The baritone and bass have the principal parts. Balthasar, the baritone, and his train are wandering in the desert. The solo is very dramatic and effective. The Chorus, representing the crowd, approach and pass by in the beautiful chorus, "Across the Desert." Part III, Our Gift. This scene is before the Inn and tells the story of the presentation of the gift. The soprano solo, "Mary's Lullaby" is especially impressive, as well as the prayer by the chorus, "Here we offer and present unto thee, O Lord."

The final chorus, "High ways and Byways", an expression of great love and praise for the Master ends this Chorus with many Hallelujahs and Amen.

Benefit of Home Missions

Come one, come all, to the community pageant and pay your tribute of love and self-denial with your mite-box offering which will be devoted to the support of Verna Shaffer one of our own girls working among the mountain folks of Zion Hill, Kentucky.

The pageant is given under the direction of the Oratory department assisted by the Music department. Professor Pryor of the Physics department will assist in providing the lighting. The Y. M. W. B. will take charge of the mite-box fund.

The pageant is centered about the story of the star told largely in music and song. Weary travelers in search of the star meet with a pilgrim who points out the significant star. Watching shepherds come into the

SOPH vs JUNIOR BOYS

The Sophomores turned another game to their credit by defeating the Juniors Tuesday afternoon by a score of 33-19. The game was marked by very loose, rough playing due to the fact that both teams were slightly out of practice. The Sophs missed their center, Miller, very badly, who is unable to play because of injuries; while the Juniors are still bewailing the loss of "Red" Frank. We notice that the Sophs have a new man in their line up. He is

HOUGHTON CHAPTER TO BE ORGANIZED

Meeting Here December 12th

Of the fourteen chapters into which the alumni and old student body of Houghton College and Seminary have been divided, eleven have already been organized with officers and arrangements for annual meetings.

In the nature of things the largest chapter of the fourteen is the Houghton Chapter. This includes all those old students and alumni residing, either permanently or temporarily, in Allegany County, Livingston County and Wyoming County of New York State, and Potter County of the State of Pennsylvania. Living within this district are nearly three hundred old students and alumni enough to make a splendid chapter, and what an inspirational meeting we can have if we all can get together.

Plans are now being made to accomplish this. On Friday evening, December twelfth, is to occur the annual Christmas chorus that has become such a popular event in the college. This year the chorus contains about one hundred forty voices, and without question a large part of the old students and alumni will be

PROF. WRIGHT HOLDS TUESDAY CHAPEL

Challenges Young Men

The Church of Christ today needs ministers with a message. Professor Frank H. Wright in his chapel talk on Tuesday, brought us some thoughts which ought to challenge the Christian young men of our College. He said that in our land today there are approximately 45,000,000 people who are affiliated with the Church. There is truly a great army of loyal men and women who still feel that the Church as a whole is worth while. If the churches in our land are to be maintained, it is necessary that a large percent of the youths of our land attend religious institutions which will prepare them to enter the field of the ministry. We are living in an age of commercialism, an age in which everyone desires to be wealthy, popular and successful. If our nation is to stand, there must be some who will willingly take the way of sacrifice. There must be some who will look beyond the hardships of today and catch a vision of the possibilities of tomorrow. There are three requisites to the ministry:

I. The young man must be possessed with the feeling of a real need of

Collegiate Sam Says:

Whenever you think that you are busy, think of the giraffe up to his ears in work.

"YOU'RE A BRICK!"

Contrary to popular belief the saying, you're a brick, is not a form of modern American slang.

During the time of Spartan supremacy an ambassador from a foreign country came to Sparta and was surprised to find that the city was not surrounded by a wall, such as those that surrounded the cities of his own country. The next day when he was presenting his credentials to the Spartan ruler, he asked, "Why do you not have a wall around your city? Are you not afraid of being attacked by invaders?" The Spartan ruler took his visitor to a large field where the Spartan army was drilling. There the ambassador saw thousands of young Spartans receiving the training that made them so efficient in war. "There," said the king, "is my wall and every soldier is a brick in it."

So are we all bricks. Each one has its particular place to fill and it is our business to find the proper one. Each member of our Board of Trustees, each member of our Faculty and each student of our College has his particular job to make Houghton a bigger and better college. One cannot succeed without the cooperation and good will of the others. Let us all work together in such a way as to surround our school with a wall that will withstand the test of time. "You're a brick."

All were asked to stand and give their name and address and the time when they attended school in Houghton. This was very interesting.

Mr. Tucker called upon President Luckey to make a few remarks and we were informed of the different chapters which have recently been organized. It was unanimously voted that an Olean Chapter be organized at which time the following officers were elected:

President—Mr. Perry Tucker, of Salamanca, N. Y.

Sec. and Treas.—Miss Helen Miller of Cattaraugus, N. Y.

We enjoyed the speeches by Professor Fancher, Professor Wright, and Mr. E. B. Houghton. Mrs. Perry Tucker gave two splendid recitations "Something on My Heart" and "If You Have a Chance." Mr. Bert Allen recited a very interesting poem: "The Newly Married Pair." President then gave a much appreciated address. Finally we enjoyed the singing of our Alma Mater, "College Days," "Come Back to Dear Old Houghton," "Dear Houghton to You," and "I Want to Go Back." Everybody had a delightful time.

Harvey Eastman to Give Lecture

On Tuesday evening, December 9, at 8:00 o'clock in the College Chapel will occur the third number of the lecture course. Mr. Harvey Eastman will lecture on "Glorifying the Commonplace."

Mr. Eastman's "philosophy of life is not highbrow but concerns itself with everyday things. He believes that everyday ordinary people can do enough simple service to transform the world. He sugar-coats his philosophy with humor and finds that those who take the dose seem to enjoy it. Mr. Eastman has taken a lot of bumps but has come up smiling and hopes to make men and women happier by helping them to see what a wonderful thing life with love and friendship is."

This is sure to be a lecture that will interest everyone so make it a point to come and hear Mr. Eastman and thus support the Lecture Course.

field followed later by kings with their attendants. As they look for the star and prepare to make their gifts, the manger scene is made visible by two angels representing the Old and New Testaments proving the fact that prophecy is fulfilled. Above the manger appears a group of angels playing on their harps the glad tidings of the Saviour's birth. The pilgrim then returns clad in the armor of a knight and urges the peasants to go forth into all the world and declare the Gospel message.

A group of light bearers, (the girls high school glee club) then come to urge all to follow the gleam and they lead the way with their candle-lights.

Come and bring your friends to Chapel, Wednesday night, December 17th at 7:30 p. m. Please leave your mite-boxes with the ushers at the door as they will be needed for the climax of the pageant. A small silver offering will be taken as you leave, to defray the expense of the pageant.

Report From Houston

Mrs. Lee brought back a very enthusiastic report from the National Women's Christian Temperance Union which she attended at Houston, Texas. Mrs. Lee is the National Director of the Child Welfare Department of the W. C. T. U.

The delegates were given a new slogan to take home with them, "Observance and Enforcement, not Repeal." The activities of the organization will be largely educational but the convention solemnly reaffirmed the position of the W. C. T. U. taken in the last presidential campaign in favor of dry planks in party platform. "We believe," said the resolutions of the Convention, "that total abstinence will make better Americans and we believe that prohibition is making a better America."

The convention displayed a revival of the old crusade spirit which preceded and resulted in the organization of the W. C. T. U.; one episode being a sunrise meeting for prayer and rededication to their cause.

II Tim. 2:15 Class To Provide Program

On Sunday, December 14 the entire Sunday School hour will be devoted to a Christmas program being prepared by the college sophomore class. This class is introducing also members of other classes, particularly from the primary department, and hopes to present a program that will be definitely worth while as well as entertaining. All departments of the School including both primary and Bible classes will be present in the chapel for the program. The Cradle Roll mothers and babies and the home department are also invited.

Next Sunday morning the service of worship will be given over to Mrs. Stark, missionary superintendent. During the class periods the high school, college and Bible classes will nominate their teacher and assistant teacher for the coming year. That the vote may be the expression of all, every member should be present.

Report of Revival Sermons

The wonderful humanity of Jesus was Dr. Huffman's subject in the Thursday evening meeting.

The incarnation of God has always been a mystery but if the plan of human redemption had no mystery in it, man would say that someone no wiser than himself wrote it. So Dr. Huffman explained that no line can be drawn between the human and divine characteristics of Jesus. The first point that goes to prove that Jesus was human was the fact of his being born of a human mother. To further prove Jesus' humanity the speaker gave other points which speak of Him as being human flesh and blood. Jesus was born under the law, given a human name, had human ancestry, passed a normal boyhood, had likeness of man, participated in the occupation of man, was subject to human conditions and had brothers and sisters.

"The Unitarian," said Dr. Huffman, in closing, "sees Jesus as a mere man, the Jew regards Him as prophet, the modernist thinks of Him as a great reformer or pattern, the Historian classes Him as one of the greatest characters in history, but the intelligent Christian beholds him as God Incarnate, the World's Redeemer."

That Christ is truly divine was proved to the congregation who heard the message Friday night on "The Diety of Christ." He was perfect in Godhead and perfect in humanity. Ten very convincing points were expounded to prove the diety of Christ. He had no human father, He was pre-existent as John says "In the beginning was the Word," He was creator, He was God incarnate and the Saviour of the world. Christ was also Lord of all: material things, men, the elements, the beasts of the field, the plant life, demons, and the dead, all responded to him and claimed him as Lord of all. Christ was divine because He sinned not, bears a divine name, overcame death, ascended to the Father and now sits at the right hand of God on high. Christ is coming again. Who but the divine Son of God could do what this man did? Surely He is King of Kings and Lord of Lords.

Saturday night was spent in a journey through the Holy Land by means of slides that Dr. Huffman had made of photographs he took during his trip in the ancient lands. The au-

High School Notes

The Light Bearers

Sunday, November 30

Sunday's service was rightly called a praise service. Seldom is there such a spirit of praise manifested in a young people's service as was shown there. A large part of the time was devoted to testimony, and the testimonies were truly encouraging.

There is a great effort put forth in making these services mean what they do. Does not the effort warrant a greater attendance? Last Sunday there were only about twenty-five present. Why not reward the efforts of the Light Bearers by attending their services?

Two Banners

Evidences of class spirit has recently been manifested in the appearance of two banners in the study hall. The Senior class, as is the custom, was the first to show its colors by hanging its banners in the two back corners of the room. These banners, both with a white background, are trimmed with maroon and silver and bear the class motto "Vincit qui laborat."

On another section of the wall has recently been hung the banner of the class of '33. This banner has a background of old rose with an emerald strip running diagonally across it bearing the words, "Houghton Sem." Can we take these words as significant of the fact that the sophomore class is a loyal band to the principles of the Seminary? We hope so.

Sophomore Party

The lights burned brightly in the Marvin home as the Sophomores congregated on Friday evening for their first class party of the year. Each member of the class had the privilege of inviting a friend, and from all reports they took advantage of the privilege. Seventeen, all told, were present and each one took a lively part in the games and did justice to the refreshments which were served. The gathering ended with many a happy "good night; see you later."

Probably the most entertaining number on the program was the Bridget O'Harrigan Act when the fellows formed two teams and struggled into aprons and dustcaps, raced over to piles of breakfast food, scooped them up with brooms and dustpans and dashed back to the next fellows in line. The girls had grandstand seat and squealed with amusement. It was just too funny! Later, two by two, the couples passed along and were served cafeteria style with refreshments—the girl abducting a plate of sandwiches and doughnuts to some cozy spot, while the fellow trailed along in her wake with a cup of sweet cider in each hand.

Then as good-night, there was a big friendship circle and the last strains of the Alma Mater were smothered in adieux.

dience gained a very vivid picture of some of the well-known places in Palestine that are read about in the Bible. Pictures of Syria and Egypt were also in the group that Dr. Huffman showed on the screen. The splendid attendance at the lecture proved that the entertainment was sure to be both interesting and instructive; it resulted in being more than this to the appreciative audience who heartily thanked Dr. Huffman for his delightful program.

FROSH vs JUNIOR MEN

Friday night at 4:20 p. m. the Junior men met the Frosh in a hectic game that resulted in a Junior defeat. The Juniors put up a very hard fight but were seriously handicapped by the loss of "Red" Frank. Vogan proved to be their tower of strength playing a pretty floor game and ringing up 11 points towards the Junior total. The Freshmen again had their rabbit's foot with them and made very good use of it. Almost every throw netted two points for them.

We were pleased to note a decided increase of enthusiasm and class spirit at the last game.

FRESHMEN vs HIGH SCHOOL

The Freshmen boys added another feather to their caps Tuesday afternoon (Nov. 25) by defeating the High School boys 36-11. The Frosh started out with some second string men. This gave the High School men a chance to do a bit of scoring during the second quarter. The Frosh became worried and put in Bill Farnsworth who tossed the ball into the net from all angles. The Frosh soon had a comfortable lead which the High School team could not overcome.

SENIOR vs H. S. MEN

On Tuesday, November 18, the High School fell victim to a violent Senior attack. The High School could not break through the Senior defense which has proven to be the Seniors' strong point in the games thus far. The game ended 45-8.

Incidentally we are looking forward to the time when the Freshmen offense will come up against the Senior defense.

FROSH vs SOPH GIRLS

In a very fast and exciting game the Freshman girls defeated the Sophomore girls by a score of 18-12. The Sophs were handicapped by the inability of Gen Matthews to find the basket with her usual accuracy. The Freshmen took advantage of their height. The scoring was distributed among all the players. The Freshies will have quite a strong aggregation with a little more team work.

A. H. D. HOLD SPECIAL WORK MEETING

The last two meetings of the Anna Houghton Daughters, at the homes of Mrs. LeRoy Fancher and Mrs. J. R. Pitt, have been special work meetings to prepare gifts for Christmas giving. The Hephzibah Home at Macon, Georgia and its needs have received the society's particular attention. Fifty thousand more Octagon soap coupons are needed here by January first to complete paying for the Home's electric refrigerator. Your coupons with ours will aid much in helping them to reach this goal. Send them in!

If you are desiring a worthy channel for your Christmas giving, the society would be glad to put those warm garments and gifts you might have into some of the many needy spots and homes that meet their attention.

PURPLE—GOLD GAME

Mrs. Fisk, Purple captain, says, "The prospects are most encouraging. There is no great abundance of new material but what there is will no doubt be an asset to the old team."

The Gold girls' spirit expresses itself as follows:
"Quality—Good as Gold
Quantity—Better yet
Quality—Quantity,
Gold girl's team—
Better than Gold,
10,000 strong and rarin' to go."

In short the "dope" predicts snappy competition between evenly matched teams and a good brand of basketball under the coaching of Fisk, Fero, Vogan, Mix, and Folger. Either team is strong enough to deserve and respond to loyal support and every Purple or Gold student can play his part in making this series good by wholeheartedly supporting his team. The cheerleaders are Purple—Hines, Gold—Strong.

the world for his ministry. II. He must put himself in a position to develop the possibilities of his ministry. He should have a strong body, good training, a revival of the standards of God's Word—ethics, morality, and everyday honesty. He must face the necessity of his being a man of courage and of convictions, for the world today needs not only transformation but also reformation. III. Sometime, somewhere he should hear a voice from heaven. He must hear God say, "I want you to preach my gospel!"

Furbay Visits Houghton

John Harvey Furbay of Yale University was a guest on our campus last week. Mr. Furbay is making a detailed study of the colleges of the United States which are Evangelical Christian in religious emphasis.

Mr. Furbay was introduced to the student body Wednesday morning at chapel. He congratulated the students of Houghton College upon their good fortune of having the privilege of attending a Christian college.

Friday morning Mr. Furbay gave a chapel talk on Success in College Life. In a recent compilation of data concerning the number of failures in the business world these were given as the causes:

Lack of application	37%
Discouragement	37%
Failure to follow instructions	12%
Dishonesty	8%
Lack of Intelligence	4%
Poor Health	2%

DIVIDENDS

Any company or corporation that does not pay dividends is always questioned. How About the Individual? Anyone who is not a dividend-payer can put himself on that basis by starting a bank account, setting aside a portion of his weekly or monthly income. This forms the reserve, and then the compound interest we pay places you in the dividend class.

These facts apply to school life as well as to the business world.

In his talk Mr. Furbay gave some good advice. Don't be impatient. It takes time for all things. If you think that you are going to fail you will. Success is in the mind first. Don't be sorry for yourself. Be thankful you are not in jail. Study and do all your work well. Don't expect anything from anyone else. Do it yourself. Be cheerful.

After chapel Mr. Furbay gave the students and faculty a questionnaire to fill out to help him in compiling data.

Friday evening Mr. Furbay showed the moving pictures which he took on his trip to Europe this last summer. The pictures took us across the Atlantic, to England with views of the professors riding on bicycles, to Holland with pictures of the people in wooden shoes and costumes as quaint as their wind mills, to Germany and to Oberammergau where the Passion Play was held, into the Alps and their beautiful scenery, to France and views of the Eiffel Tower, of the Louvre and of the streets of Paris, finally the return trip to America, the Statue of Liberty and the New York skyline.

We hope that Mr. Furbay enjoyed his visit at Houghton as much as we did.

"We gave the Book to you but we lost the Book. That is the reason for the greatness of your civilization and for our plight."

What it does for the nation, it will do for you. Don't neglect its study.
