Life is a process. Such a seemingly simple statement is demonstrated vividly through the process of producing our book, the 1996 Boulder. By the time you are reading this, the year-long chore of compiling photographs, meeting deadlines, and writing copy will have been completed. You are now viewing the end product.

We, the staff of the 1996 Boulder, view this year as both a finale and a stepping stone. For the class of 1996, the final curtain now falls upon their Houghton experience. But for those of us who will be returning to Houghton, this year has served as another stepping stone or another act in our personal dramas that will eventually lead to the completion of our time at Houghton.

Whether we be members of the graduating class of 1996 or returning students, the director of each of our personal dramas remains the same: the Lord Jesus Christ. Our relationship with Him, while extremely personal, has been stretched in the past year through our numerous interactions with fellow students, professors, staff, and guests. Being equally true of both of our spiritual and physical journeys is the reality that we never can actually settle on this earth but rather continue from one stage to the next. May we all pray and strive to produce an end product worthy of our calling.

HIGHLANDER

"Good morning, bright sunshine and 'How do you do?' The birds and the flowers are glad to see you," sang Davlyn Davidson. The green tents rustled with audible groans and an occasional, "Not already!" was heard. Time was meaningless to the nine frosh, but the shout of "You have five minutes to be up and ready to run," was clearly urgent.

As tousled, unwashed heads emerged from the zippered flaps, knowing smiles flashed across the campsite as if to say, "Yes, this is Highlander; yes, we are all still alive; yes, we are enjoying ourselves!" For, amidst all the sore backs and blistered feet, people's lives were changing. Talks of God and personal struggles flourished at campfires and climbing expeditions, as each person brought their own insight and problem-solving skills. All were learning about teamwork and self-reliance in very tangible ways. No one could imagine the lasting impact the Highlander Program had on their lives, but years down the road a new appreciation would grow for those stretching ten days in the wilderness.

The Residence Life staff arrived on campus to prepare for the incoming freshmen class and the returning student body. The staff managed to take a break from their campus responsibilities and spend a night at Camp Asbury located on Silver Lake. The retreat was an excellent time for the staff to bond and gain focus for the upcoming year. Some of the activities on the retreat included: basketball, canoeing, water skiing, and swimming. The events were followed by a pizza dinner at the Charcoal Corral and an evening prayer meeting. The staff bonding continued into the night for some of the members of the Residence Life staff with a night under the stars.

INTREAT

There were numerous activities to keep the freshman busy during the 1995 Intreat. On Friday, the students gathered together in the dining hall where they were welcomed to intreat activities. Soon they convened in the chapel for a movie, followed by an ice cream social and roller skating in Wellsville.

On Saturday the students were challenged with a devotional by David Lewis followed by an afternoon of games on the quad and a picnic dinner. Sunday came all too quickly. The closing service for Intreat was held on the ski slope where students were given time to reflect on the past few days. Intreat proved to be a fun time for the Freshmen and it allowed them time to grow in unity as they strive to find their place in the Houghton student body.

The first afternoon of the retreat everyone had a chance to relax and get to know one another better. Some decided to explore the woods around the camp or to sit by the shimmering lake, as others stayed in the cabins or went to the lodge to talk. That evening, the class met in the woods for a bonfire and a time of singing led by Rob and Wendy Jacobson.

The next morning another gathering was held. The time passed quickly and Saturday afternoon was filled with games by the waterfront. There were plenty of things to keep the group busy. In the evening the class met again around the campfire as they sang, laughed, and praised God.

Sunday morning they had the final meeting together. Rob encouraged the class to make time to pray together every week for accountability.

It is not hard to see that the sophomore class began the weekend as a group of people but ended it as a family in Christ.

JUNIOR RETREAT

The Juniors returned to Camp Troutberg on Lake Ontario for their retreat. The weekend of relaxation and fun with classmates was welcomed by all. Reverend Weuthrich, a 1989 Houghton graduate, spoke on "A Day in the Life of Christ." He offered advice on devotions, prayer, and trust in God, as well as entertainment through his enthusiastic approach to preaching!

Saturday dinner had a toga theme, and everyone wore their sheets and donned greenery -- from a mere flower behind the ear to entire vines wrapped around the head. The weekend ended with a bonfire and a night sleeping under the stars. The experience served both as an opportunity for old friends to catch up and as a chance to meet some new faces in the Junior class.

This year the Seniors spent their last class retreat at Camp Li-Lo-Li. They enjoyed sleeping in, playing volleyball, hiking, canoeing and swimming. At night they had many interesting discussions and sang some of their favorite songs while gathered around the campfire, making s'mores.

Dean Mannoia accompanied them for the weekend as their guest speaker. Reflecting on the words of Jesus in John 6: 25-59, Dr. Mannoia spoke on the importance of "becoming" instead of simply "doing". He also shared on the topic of brokenness, using David in I Chronicles as a prime example. The challenge he presented was especially relative for the Seniors. The retreat gave the class an opportunity to relax and start out the year with the right attitude as they prepare to finish their time at school.

HOMECOMING

This year's homecoming theme was "Best of Broadway." The weekend kicked off Thursday with a study break. Students were invited to perform songs from their favorite Broadway musicals. A group featuring Danielle Frink, Marc Falco, Kara Scott, and Greg Bayse won the $100 prize money for singing "How Do You Solve a Problem Like Maria" from "The Sound of Music".

An exciting addition to homecoming this year was a Friday night "Broadway Film Fest" which featured "West Side Story". Tickets were "purchased" at a ticket booth flanked on either side by live mannequins dressed as Broadway characters. Once inside, theater ushers in tuxedos seated guests and candy could be purchased from vendors.

The traditional Houghton homecoming parade began at ten o'clock on Saturday. Dr. and Mrs. Chamberlain crowned Jeremy Tracy and Lynn Rundell homecoming king and queen. The sophomore class was awarded first place in the float competition. Among the many sporting events of the day, was the ever-popular men's soccer game. In the end, the Highlanders defeated North Park four to one.

Dorm life is one of those never-to-be-forgotten experiences of college. Talks that last far into the night, water balloon fights in the hall, floor-wide pizza parties, fantastic Bible studies, fire alarms at 4:00 AM, and that special bond that comes through sharing the bathroom with 15 other people--it just doesn't get any better than this.

My favorite Halloween memory was the year when it really snowed. My best friend and I went down to South Hall where we coaxed some guys to come outside to sled and throw snowballs. It was just a group of good friends celebrating a chance to get together in an environment where we were safe (except for a few well aimed snowballs). Perhaps these are the aspects we should concentrate on when we celebrate Halloween. If it snows again next year, I'd love to have you join me in a snowball war.

12 Days at Houghton

On my first day at Houghton,
the professors gave to me a stack of thick syllabi.
On my second day at Houghton,
the librarian gave to me a list of the only two books she has on my topic.
On my third day at Houghton,
the Payroll office gave to me my check of a measly $30.00.
On my fourth day at Houghton,
the Records office gave to me a bill for four times my paycheck amount.
On my fifth day at Houghton,
Big Al gave to me five heaping spoonfuls of shepherd's pie.
On my sixth day at Houghton,
my RA gave to me a write up and a fine for causing a commotion at 6 a.m.
On my seventh day at Houghton,
my roommate gave to me all of her dirty laundry for the week.
On the eighth day at Houghton,
my parents gave to me a care package with a box of eight donuts.
On my ninth day at Houghton,
my advisor gave to me a list of the nine Gen-Eds I've been putting off.
On my tenth day at Houghton,
Dave and Dan gave to me a SPOT special Top Ten List.
On my eleventh day at Houghton,
the technical wizards gave to me a fully functional, non-exacerbating computer system.
On my twelfth day at Houghton,
Dr. Chamberlain gave to me my long-awaited, well-deserved diploma.

In spite of the hard work, Kathryn Heberlig, Jason Whing, and Sonya Dilworth prove fun is had by all at Madrigals. (Photo by S. Dobrenski)

One of the premier events that marked the celebration of the 1995 Christmas season was the performance of the thirtieth annual series of Madrigal Dinners by the Houghton College Chamber Singers. In her ninth year directing the Chamber Singers, Dr. B. Jean Reigles provided the expert leadership that has made this annual celebration of Renaissance music and costumes an event not to be missed.

As for the singers themselves, many expressed that they loved having the opportunity to perform rarely heard Renaissance music in authentic period costumes. The dinners are not only entertainment, they are also a ministry - presenting a deeply spiritual part of the Christmas season.

From the accompanists, to the cooks and from the trumpets to the decorators, many people deserve praise for their hard work in making the 1995 Madrigal Dinners a success. However, no one is more deserving of praise than Dr. B. Jean Reigles herself. Dr. Reigles' commitment to excellence and to the members of the group was key to the success of the dinners. She was greatly appreciated by all her singers (even those tenors and basses who fussed over having to wear tights)!

The 1995 Madrigals Dinner can only be deemed a smashing success, leaving all who heard them in great anticipation of the 1996 season.

What's the best way to beat the winter blues? Our "Winter Beach Weekend" stepped up to the challenge. Along with the traditional competitions in basketball, volleyball, swimming, football, skiing, ping pong, pool, euchre, pictionary, and storytelling, there were some new additions to spice up the weekend. Thursday we held a "Ms. Winter Weekend" Contest. If you've never seen Kyle Stevenson in drag, well...don't worry about it. Friday was packed with activities: the Sadie Hawkins Banquet, aptly named "A Mid Summer's Night Dream," was well-attended, and the Reader's Theatre rendition of Julius Caesar was quite enjoyable. And what better movie to show during a beach weekend than "Jaws"? Following the movie there was a coffeehouse concert featuring special guests from Messiah College, Nate and James. On Saturday our basketball teams hosted Geneva College. Following the game, our Winter Weekend SPOT, featuring Messiah College's "Komedy Klub", as well as several of our Houghton favorites, and hosted by Dan Lehning, was a great way to finish off the weekend.

DOUBLE TROUBLE

When I question people the consensus seems clear. We will remember most deeply the times spent with friends.

~Taking pictures of ourselves grinning in front of frozen waterfalls. . . Huddling beneath blankets for warmth at the last few frigid soccer games. . . Parading about gawking at each other during an 80's party. . . Eating lunch at Big Al's, discussing in quiet voices, professors who don't eat downstairs. . . Sitting in long rows during chapels, Spots, movies and concerts -- making the most noise at the Canadean Brass performance. . . Crowding around a television to watch this week's "ER" and "Friends" . . . Throwing a Frisbee around the quad, barefoot in the mud. . . Climbing cliffs and camping in the rain. . . Skiing the cross-country trails. . . Making a real meal in someone's kitchen. . . Discussing everything at every level of seriousness. . . Exchanging knowing glances in class. . . Walking the circuit, driving the loop. . . Shopping at the Market Basket, taking twenty minutes to discover the tuna fish. . . Running into people by the orange juice at lunch and discovering that you're having the same, old cereal once again. . . Spontaneous group decisions to go find coffee, journeys usually ending in Geneseo. . . Making an intermural team which contains no one skilled at the sport your team will be participating in, but contains all friends. . . Sitting with the same people in the same place at every basketball game. . . Going with friends to "study" in the library or on a blanket outside and doing nothing of the sort. We may not remember exactly our actions, or our conversations, but we will remember the company we were with, for our lives are richer for it.

Their faces tell similar stories, stories which portray the fiery world of sport that these patrons of competition call home. From the Hornibrooks to Berry, from Smalley, Lewis, and Lord, the names are as different as the personalities behind them. But behind each person rests a universal passion, a passion that thrives off success, yet learns from failure. Behind the strategy and preparation, behind the "game face," is a love, not just for their particular sport and not solely for the thrill of victory, but a love that transcends the sport itself, and reaches to the athletes involved in it. It is these athletes who make a team, but it is their coach who defines it.

Much More Than Coach

Coach. To those who only know them from the sidelines on which they stand, they are merely a figure of authority. But for those who sweat each day for hours on end in order to see their coach's words unfold on the field, on the track, and on the court, they are much more. The coaches at Houghton have a special relationship with each of their athletes. For some coaches, the faces that show up for practice are also seen in the classroom. This dual relationship of coach/professor emphasizes the role of a coach as not only a sport-junky, but an educator as well. It is in this teaching environment where another side of "Coach" is seen. It is this side that many athletes attach to. Instead of the fiery person that screams from the bench, there exists a calmer mind that cares not only how well an athlete shoots a jump shot, but also what an athlete learns. The relationship between athlete/coach at Houghton is a relationship built on the idea that anything worth having in life takes work. From winning a big game to passing an even bigger course, those things in life which seem the most important are meant to be in order to encourage effort and dedication, for it is in achieving life's difficulties that brings the most joy. This concept ties the athlete to his/her coach. It is in the sport that this is most clearly seen. The victories in competition don't just happen. Behind every win are hours of work and preparation. With "Coach" leading the way in more aspects than one, an athlete's most important lessons in life don't necessarily happen in the classroom. For this fact, an athlete at Houghton is eternally grateful for every moment spent sweating several months in practice and in games for their teacher, their friend, their coach.

Coming to Houghton as a freshman, I put a lot of pressure on myself to become one of the starting eleven players. I knew that it would take plenty of hard work to earn a spot among skilled and experienced returning players such as seniors Dave Eisenried, Bob Schwaner, Steve Clapper, Scott Reitnour, Kyle Stevenson, Mike Freace, Kevin Luce and eager freshmen like myself. It is ironic that these players I was competing with were the same ones that helped me along. Everyone who is a part of the Highlander Men's Soccer team looks out for one another and does whatever he can to help or encourage a teammate. This bunch of guys is more than a team;

that wins and loses together and plays the game for the love of our Lord and Savior, Jesus Christ.

In August a group of women soccer players arrived at pre-season to continue what had been accomplished in 1994. With eager hearts, a few new players, and goals set before them, the Lady Highlanders laced up their cleats and went to work.

Once again the ladies experienced a...

record breaking season.

Among the records broken were: Most Consecutive Games without a Loss (18), Most Goals Scored in a Season (94), and Most Shutouts in a Season (11). The team landed a slot in the national ranks as 13th in the country. Plus, the Lady Highlander offense was ranked 4th in the nation (4.95 goals/games average) while their defense was ranked 3rd, allowing an average of 0.53 goals per game. Also for the third consecutive year the ladies maintained their championship of the Keystone Empire Collegiate Conference. In addition, the team received the NSCAA Team Ethics Award for receiving no yellow or red cards, only one of four teams to do so nationally.

The ladies' final regular season record was 17-0-0. This, too, was a record since no Houghton team, men's or women's, has ever had an undefeated season. The ladies lost their first match in Regional play against Green Mountain College in Vermont, just missing the National tournament.

Senior forward, Heidi Gugler, was named to the NSCAA-Umbro All-American team. Heidi, Erin Warren, and Danielle Phillips were named to the Northeast Regional All-Star Team. Amy Lemon and Rebecca Outt were All-Northeast NSCAA-Umbro Team selections.

after the loss of key players from the 1994 season. Linda Peric proved to be nothing short of an outstanding addition to the game. Senior goal keeper, Jenn Todd, held the already strong defense steady from her position in the cage. With consistency, the mid-field Highlanders were a constant threat to their opposition. Hornibrook successfully led the hockey program to a new level.

As a young team, Field Hockey has proven itself with an excellent record and extraordinary potential. With the talent of incoming recruits and her current roster, Coach Hornibrook foresees a very bright future for Highlander hockey.

It would be easy to comment on the success of the 1995 men's and women's cross country teams in the jargon of wins and losses. Once again under the leadership of coach Bob Smalley "mouthed bass", the teams continued their rise over the past several years, enjoying their finest season to date. Yet, the sixteenth place national's finish by the women and the twenty-second place finish of the men were not the guidelines by which the successful season was determined.

Fleet feet...

do not supplant friendship, nor does a high winning percentage bear more importance than spiritual growth. All the victories in the world cannot change this simple truth. The success of this team was measured more in relationships and reliance on the Lord than in race times or mile splits. I have never been around a closer, harder working, more fun (and yes, faster) group of individuals in my life. I have never seen a more devoted group of people who realize more fully what it is that fuels their bodies and minds with the strength to endure. So where does the power come from to see the race to its end? It comes from within, through the power of the Holy Spirit.

of Westminster, St. Vincents and Carlow, the Highlanders were barely defeated in back-to-back games with Seton Hill. Their incredible season earned the team an automatic place in the Northeast Regional Tournament, as well as the privilege of hosting the games. The ladies again lost to the determined Seton Hill squad despite winning three consecutive games. This successful season brought not only the satisfaction of a job well done but also the camaraderie that grows when a group of dedicated athletes works toward a common goal. Coaches "Skip" Lord and Nancy Cole were pleased with the overall play and attitude of the team and look forward to a great 1996 season!

The men's basketball team was full of anticipation and hope for the 1995-1996 season, but a lack of desire and commitment by some players mixed with a few disagreements among members caused this season to fall short of the team's expectations.

The team's chemistry was good until the second semester, when the team lost two starters. With multiple point guards and small forwards, several guys were forced to play out of position. This became a source of frustration for some. The team tried to find its identity, but it seemed a little too late to regroup. But ...

*they didn't go down
without a fight!*

The players were in every game but didn't have the chutzpah to come out on top.

Despite the lack of team spirit, there were many bright spots this season: the leadership of Jason Weyforth, the outstanding play of Mike Brundige, and the addition of freshmen Tom Kersis, Todd Kleitz, Tim Vance and Dwayne Washington. Prospects for next season are encouraging. The returning players know their roles and will provide a solid base on which to build team unity. The coaching staff is great--now it's up to the players.

The Women's Basketball team entered the '95-'96 season with big shoes to fill. The previous year's team had finished the season with a 21-6 won/lost record and a first-ever appearance in the N.A.I.A. National Tournament.

The ladies rose to the challenge, and despite heavy losses to graduation and several serious injuries, recorded their ninth consecutive winning record at 13-13 and their ninth consecutive play-off appearance.

The Highlander women were led by senior captain Brenda Johnson and junior co-captains Charity O'Connor and April Batt. Batt was also named First Team All-Conference in the strong K.E.C.C.

There were many fond memories of this challenging first season at the N.A.I.A. Division I level, not the least of which was being snowed into a hotel in Philadelphia during the storm of the century (over 30" of snow). The team goal of...

"ministering to those we play against, and those we play in front of"

was really challenged that weekend!

Although we will miss our seniors, Brenda Johnson and Liz Buisch, a strong returning nucleus and a good recruiting year make the future look promising.

Although smaller than most teams against which they competed, this year's tight-knit track team cranked out quality performances. During the indoor season, Houghton traversed the continent to find...

the competition and conditions that breed success.

Ultimately culminating in the NAIA national indoor championships, the season was studded with new records for Houghton. Among these were freshman Krista Ruth's sixth place finish in the finals of the 3000m race at nationals, Houghton's first track and field All-American placing. In the short outdoor season, the track team set more records for Houghton and, with its youth, promises to improve upon them in years to come.

Coach Bob Smalley and captains Kristel Davis, Leslie Roberts, John Stiansen and Jason Wiens brought the team together as a single unit. Hours together in vans, hotels, airports and planes coupled with months of daily practice cemented the bond between members of the team. After all, track is more than running in circles; it's a whole lifestyle.

Many students take advantage of Houghton's four racquetball/walleyball/indoor soccer/whatever courts for keeping in shape while enjoying some friendly competition. Participants of all skill levels can be found at the courts throughout the day wearing oh-so-attractive goggles and whaling away at a little blue ball. This being my first year at Houghton, I was excited to be involved in intramurals. I love sports, but don't have the time to commit to one of the school teams. Houghton's intramural program gave me a chance to get some exercise as well as having a lot of fun. I have played indoor and outdoor soccer, and volleyball, as well as being a referee for soccer. The coordinators do a great job of organizing all the games and making sure things run smoothly. The players are competitive, yet maintain an attitude of...

I hope to be able to continue playing on intramural teams and to see the program grow through my years at Houghton.

The feeling that comes when I climb is more than just a feeling. It's a rush, a big surge of adrenaline. I know that many of you have experienced that while climbing, and hopefully many more will someday take that opportunity!

For me, climbing is an unique combination of perseverance, fearlessness, strength, agility and balance. Forcing my body to stretch as far as it can to the next hold while balancing on a foothold the width of a pencil calls upon all of these things and more.

Rock climbing becomes addictive. I guess it's like a drug in that the more I climb, the more I want to, especially when I'm out on real rocks and not at a gym. It's difficult sometimes to control...

that rush of adrenalin...

enough to make controlled, fluid movements from hold to hold. Like I mentioned, climbing is so much more amazing out on the rocks. Feeling the heat of the sun, seeing the blue sky above, the earthy smell of the rocks and lack of human noises (along with climbing itself) all make for an absolutely incredible experience.

Climbing up at the wall has also been a wonderful experience. I go up there for different reasons, sometimes because I need the release that comes with the physical activity. It is a really good way to take a break from school work. I also love to go up there to be with many of the friends I have made during my first year at Houghton. I have been encouraged and challenged a lot at the wall.

One of the things I enjoy the most up at the wall is seeing someone new walk in, try climbing and thoroughly enjoy themselves.

I hope that by reading this you may have a greater understanding and appreciation for this amazing sport of rock climbing.

Houghton College is proud to be one of the only Christian colleges in the United States to have an Equestrian program. The program started with a donation of seven horses in 1984. It now boasts sixteen talented lesson horses all of whom were donated to the school. The Equestrian Center includes five barns with 47 box stalls, multiple pastures ranging from three to seventeen acres, as well as an indoor ring and three additional outdoor riding arenas.

The Equestrian Center has undergone some major changes that began in 1993. Improvements began with the addition of a new outdoor Dressage arena. An existing barn is currently being remodeled in order to increase the number of students and community members who can bring their horses to Houghton. Last year the addition of a new barn was completed, thanks in part to the...

One of the intramural sports at Houghton that raises a few eyebrows is the Korean Karate class, part of the World Tae Kwon Do Association. Led by Eric Torraca, the group of between 10 and 20 students meets three times a week to practice techniques and to spar. Twice a year the class travels to the University of Rochester for belt ranking tests (and great Japanese food afterwards!).

To clear up some common misconceptions regarding Tae Kwon Do participants that may be circulating around campus: first, we are not ninjas in training aspiring to Jean Claude Van Damme greatness. Second, those yells that people mimic as they walk by our class are not theatrical, they are part of the art and force of the Karate patterns. Third, people who take Tae Kwon Do are not inherently violent. Reasons for being in the class range from physical fitness to self defense to stress relief.

and has the goal of teaching better control of the body and improved mental concentration. It also inspires a great amount of respect for the remarkable potential that God has created in the human body. Most of all, Tae Kwon Do presents us with a challenge to use our bodies to the best of their capabilities in God's service.

School of Music

What one can't help noticing about the music majors on campus, who sometimes seem to be seen more on stage than around campus, is their infectious enthusiasm and camaraderie. Unlike many of the other majors on campus, the School of Music's program brings its students together as they struggle through many of the same classes and ensembles, which often require that they travel together for long hours to perform around the country during breaks.

The School of Music presents many opportunities for the student body to appreciate the talents of their musically gifted classmates through concerts, chapels and recitals. While not everyone can participate in making beautiful music, all can at least enjoy hearing it performed. Furthermore, many classes are offered for the non-musically inclined, as well as the opportunity to take lessons under the instruction of the faculty or more advanced students. Although we may not see too many music majors in a majority of our classes, we are blessed nonetheless with their presence on campus.

Keeping the Arts in the Liberal Art education.

I know all the excuses. Believe me, you're not the only one who has reservations about the Art Building. I too consider myself more of an art appreciator than artist. However I urge you to venture into the mysterious realm of this other world, for I promise you can only reap benefits. I know all those art majors with their work in progress can seem intimidating, but I bet they'll welcome you into the fold. Once there you'll learn all about the secret passages that emit those elusive students even past building hours (gasp). And you'll find out before the rest of the student body what pieces will be appearing in upcoming art openings. Maybe even more tantalizing is the lure of getting a firsthand experience to better shape your opinion about the ongoing "nudity in art" debate. Whatever your reason, you'll find your time spent in the Art Building rewarding as you get to express yourself creatively and hang out with a great bunch of people (the rumors about artists is true - for the most part they are quite eccentric). So don't wait until you're forced to fulfill your Music/Art General Education requirement; wander in today and make the most of your Liberal Arts education.

Students Around the World

Even those of us who are perfectly content spending four years in this bucolic setting can understand why some of our fellow students desire to spend a week, summer, or even a semester in another part of the world. While most of us remained on campus, for some of our adventure-seeking classmates, the opportunity to learn firsthand about a different way of life was too good to pass up.

Students traveled to Egypt with the Middle East Studies Program, to England on International Studies internships, on mission trips to Russia, Africa, etc... Experiences ranged from the fantastic to the frightening and ran the gamut of everything in between. New foods, different clothing, unfamiliar customs, and foreign languages all face the Highlanders abroad, causing trauma as well as delight.

Many came away from their cross-cultural experiences with a deeper appreciation of the lands they visited and a more critical understanding of their roots. In visible and imperceptible ways, their lives will never be the same. It's no surprise that many choose to return to the places they visited.

Music Ministry

Ah, summertime. A time to recuperate from the rigors of academic life; a time for catching some rays, softballs, fish, or a favorite TV show. But not if you're a member of Dayspring. Six brave students made up this group that travelled to eight different camps around the Northeastern United States. Armed with a repertoire of several skits and fun songs, they set out to face the unknown.

It was a long two months, requiring a lot of flexibility from the group members because Dayspring never spends more than one week at a camp. Travel between camps became a coveted time for sleeping, as it was often the only time spent away from kids. Once in awhile, the team got a much deserved weekend off.

Was it worth all the effort, lost sleep, and weeks away from home? Dayspring gave these six students an opportunity to have an impact on many kids' lives, living in the cabins with them and leading devotions. Most found that they received more than they gave. And hey, they finished the summer with several free t-shirts.

Arsenic and Old Lace and A Thurber Carnival

The inaugural play in the new theater at Houghton Academy was presented on November 16-18, 1995. The famous comedy success, "Arsenic and Old Lace," by Joseph Kesselring was performed five times for well over 1,000 people. Directed by Bruce Brenneman, the play featured the charming and innocent Brewster sisters, played by Allison Bixler and Suzanne Scarborough, who populate their cellar with the remains of socially and religiously "acceptable" roomers; the antics of their brother who thinks he is Teddy Roosevelt, played by Michael Jordan; and the questionable activities of the older brother Jonathan, portrayed by Jason Dickerson, and his mysterious accomplice, Dr. Einstein, portrayed by Dan Lehning. A strong supporting cast, an outstanding stage set, and outstanding acting provided the audience with a truly delightful experience.

The spring production, "A Thurber Carnival," was presented March 14-16, 1996. This captivating revue was chosen so that the audience could appreciate the variety that the new theatre offers lighting, staging, and sound. The eleven member cast, directed by Bruce Brenneman, became a very effective ensemble as they presented sketches of tumbling American life written by America's leading humorist, James Thurber. These sketches included "The Night the Bed Fell," "The Unicorn in the Garden," and "The Secret Life of Walter Mitty." Audiences entered into the spirit of the show and responded with much laughter and delight.

Hansel and Gretel

This year's Opera Workshop production was Engelbert Humperdinck's Hansel and Gretel. This was the first opera to be held in the Academy's new auditorium. With its generous wing and fly space, the facility was a great asset to the performances. The show was directed by Dr. Jean Reigles and Mrs. Kelly Hijleh. Eric Williamson designed all of the sets and built them with students' help. Three performances were given by two different casts. Starring in the role of Hansel were Simby Leathers and Kara Scott, and Gretel was played by Tanya Iulg and Danielle Frink. The child-eating witch was played by Kathy Rundall and Alison Bixler. Jason Zehr, Todd Miner, Kathryn Farley and Echo Shiu played the roles of the children's mother and father. Other supporting roles were played by Amy Wallenbeck, Beth Pfeiffer, Christine Smith, and Melissa Lamoureux. Students also put in many hours of hard work as dancers, light technicians, and stage crew.

Guests on Campus

While we may not be able to brag about our proximity to any famed cultural meccas (unless you count the Bucket), we can argue that we were visited by many spiritually, intellectually and musically gifted folk this year. Through various chapels, concerts and lectures, students and faculty were introduced to the likes of the Reverend VaCountess Johnson, Randall Balmer, three Franciscan monks from the Bronx, the Buffalo Philharmonia, Julie Anderton and Peter Kreeft. Some brought with them new ideas that questioned the status quo. As a result we were forced to reevaluate our positions. Other guests entertained us through comedy, such as Curt Cloninger, whose many characters portrayed a strong Christian message. Musical guests that appeared in Artist Series and other concerts were a welcome addition on campus. We were blessed by all the guests who honored us with their presence and through them we can truly say that Houghton maintains its stronghold on providing the surrounding community with ties to the "outside world".

Students were recognized for their academic achievement in both the fall and spring of this year. The inductees Who's Who were named in a special chapel early first semester. Those chosen had to meet certain requirements and then be appointed by the administration. This year's inductees were Andrew Bonaventura, Jeremiah Frick, Heidi Gugler, Darrilyn Heisler, Anne Ingraham, Daniel William Lehning, John Lilley, Doreen Marshall, Kim Nichols, Heidi Oberholtzer, Naz Nozomi Park, Janelle Powell, Holly Sawyer, Bob Schwaner, Echo Shiu, Kathy Whitehead, and Jason Zehr.

In the spring the academic awards were presented. Dr. Schultz presented the Paul Timothy Anderson award to Leonard Luchetti and the American Bible Society Award to William Marshall. Dr. Robert Galloway presented the Presser Scholarship to Jennifer Price. Pi Kappa Lambda National Merit Honor Society memberships to Darrilyn Heisler, Tracy Puhala, and Amanda Stent.

Dr. Sue Crider presented the Arthur and Beverly Taylor English Award to Heidi Oberholtzer. Jo-Anne Young presented the Catherine Daggett trophy and scholarship to Laura Pelley. Rhea Reed presented the Lake and Amanda Hahn Pre-Law Award to Dan Bates and the Bruce Merritt Memorial Scholarship to Stephen Clark.

Dr. Daryl Stevenson presented the Christian Association for Psychology Studies Award to Diana Nichols. Coach Skip Lord presented the male and female Sportsmanship Awards to Stephen Reitnour and Brenda Johnson.

Further honors were announced during the Commencement ceremony when Beth Berger was named Salutatorian and Heidi Oberholtzer Valedictorian. Congratulations to all students who received honors.

SOUTH HALL DORM COUNCIL

South Hall has had a great year under the leadership of its new Resident Director Dan Noyes and his residence hall staff. Incredible things happened when the wit of Dan Noyes was combined with the fortitude of Jeremy Tracey, Resident Director Assistant, along with the creative energy of the dorm council, under the reign of President Andy McGrath. The dorm council successes included events such as the legendary Star Wars trilogy night in the fall and the follow up success of the Indiana Jones trilogy night in the spring. The South Dorm Council believes that this year will go down in the history of South Hall as "The Year of the Trilogy Night". The benevolence of the dorm council was once again demonstrated at the end of the fall semester as the council provided free donuts, coffee and hot chocolate for all South Hall residences during finals. "Long Live South Hall!"

LAMBEIN DORM COUNCIL

Lambein is probably best known for its ever quiet atmosphere and hotel like surroundings. In what other dorm on campus are stairs banned after 11:00? Even without the stairs however, the women of Lambein had plenty to keep them active this year. Roommates had the chance to discover just how well they really knew each other in "The Roommate Game" fashioned after the once popular television game show "The Newly Weds Game." And of course if you were bored on a Thursday night, "Friends" were sure to be found in the Lambein lounge watching their favorite shows like "Seinfeld" and "ER." With activities like that, who needs to waste their time with stairs!

SHENAWANA DORM COUNCIL

The Shenawana Dorm Council was led this year by the very competent Brent Wright. The first event was Octoberfest held in the foundation lounge. The highlights of the evening included the costume contest (pink shorts forever!), indoor leaf jumping, and root beer on tap. The annual Christmas party included the Santa Challenge Series. Kara Scott took home a Shenawana t-shirt for winning the musical chairs contest after beating third floor Lambein R.A., Sarah Buck, in the final round. The Superbowl party featured a multi-screen view thanks to Shen Dorm Council advisor Andrew Bonaventura. Shenawana also added a ping-pong table and a prayer chapel.

STUDENT GOVERNMENT ASSOCIATION

"Landmark" would be the appropriate adjective to describe the 1995-96 school year for the Student Government Association. Under a new constitution, the former Student Senate took a different form characterized by a division of powers between executive and legislative branches.

For most students probably the most dramatic change achieved by the SGA was the alteration of the college's housing policy allowing seniors to live in off-campus houses outside the college approved designation.

The more social students will be more likely to remember the SGA sponsored Winter Weekend Sadie Hawkins banquet. Profits from the semi-formal affair were donated to the renovation of the Campus Center basement.

Academically, the SGA took a stand on the 17 credit semester limit. Students frustrated by trying to find the perfect two credit class no longer have to worry; the limit has been expanded to 18 credits. Senior senator Kyle Stevenson observed, "Things got done. It was a good year to be a part of the SGA."

CAMPUS ACTIVITIES BOARD

During my first year with CAB, we decided that the goal of the Campus Activities Board was to enhance the quality of life at Houghton by providing opportunities for fellowship with friends, spiritual growth, and plain old fun. It was through the team work of the CAB volunteers, advisors, directors, and the Houghton College community that this goal was accomplished.

Throughout the year, CAB sponsored many traditional activities such as SPOT's and study breaks. In recognizing the need for more spiritual based activities, CAB sponsored concerts by Phil Keaggy, Rebecca St. James, and Testify, as well as some of Houghton's own musicians. CAB also worked hard to provide diversity by sponsoring events such as the "Blizzard of Bucks" game show and the unforgettable "Alpha Experience."

Looking back on the past year, I am thankful for the opportunity to gain more knowledge and more importantly grow spiritually, as God gave me the chance to serve and use my abilities to give back to the Houghton College community. However, I can not take all the credit, the Lord provided many talented, hard-working students to work with me.

THE BOULDER

The Boulder, as responsible for chronicling the 1995-1996 school year, has attempted to accomplish three fundamental goals. Of foremost importance to this year's Co-editors was to set the focus primarily on the Class of 1996 in the hopes of continuing in the tradition of the original 1923 Boulder. Secondly the staff decided to go with a distinguished look that would be carried throughout the book, from the cover, to the Stages theme, and all way to the final details. And perhaps most importantly we attempted to portray the vast spectrum of Houghton by having more faces in the book, so this year's Boulder can truly be said to be everyone's. Of course we struggled to meet deadlines but we also had the opportunity to interact with many helpful people along the way who were more than willing to lend a hand by cropping photos and identifying people. The Boulder perhaps more than many of the organizations on campus presents opportunities for students to immediately affect the student body and get to know many new faces.

THE STAR

The Star chronicles life at Houghton by producing a biweekly paper. Its focus is on events, issues, and ideas which significantly affect the Houghton College community. Editors Jennifer Watson and Matthew Essery worked hard to meet deadlines with the help of their dedicated staff made up of Mary Hemphill, Bob Price, A.J. Bunk, Dale Schuurman, Kathryn Farley, Alan Belford, Eric Jeffords, Rhett Stuart, Jeff Babbitt, Karin Francis, Ian Beam, Kelly Daugherty, Erich Asperschlager, Joshua Daniels, Matt Hirschhoff, Christine Black, Adria Willet, Rebecca Saxer, Joel Bennett, Adam Owen, Steve Gibbs, Diane Lewis, Marshall Merriam, Renee Dillon, Cynthia Smith, Caren Lavor, Alan Armes, Sonja Harshman, Holly Lawton, Sharon Givler, Mike Crosby, Richard Staine, Miriam Antolick, Eric Stroom and Andrew Bonaventura advised by their faithful leader James Zoller. Not only were the groups' writing and journalism skills put to the test but much was learned about servant hood and the feeling of a job well done. Special thanks to our hero William Greenway.

THE GADFLY SOCIETY

Ever since we started the Gadfly Society many people have approached me and asked, "What's a Gadfly?" Good question. Our goal is to be philosophically-minded people. That is, to question life and all it entails at its deepest roots; to know that we do not know; to be lovers of wisdom, one might say. This is what we aim for. How do we gain wisdom? We ask questions and then formulate possible conclusions.

Give an example, you say? Here's one. Who is God? You may claim to worship him, but do you really know who he is? Can one truly prove God's existence? We don't claim to have answers for such difficult questions, but we do know that we often use poor reasoning. We wanted to improve on such thinking. Hence, the Gadfly Society was formed.

Why the name? Well, we likened ourselves to Socrates (if there can be such a comparison) who said,

I was attached to this city by the god . . . as upon a great noble horse which was some what sluggish because of its size and needed to be stirred up by a kind of gadfly . . . I never cease to rouse each and every one of you . . .

Apology, Plato

With this in mind we try to stir up discussions and get people thinking about life, God, the self, or whatever. Our mission: to buzz on.

PSYCHOLOGY CLUB

Reflecting a growing interest in the field of psychology, this year's cabinet reorganized the psychology club in order to provide a greater variety of information and activities to the student community. Numerous changes in structure and focus enabled the club to highlight aspects of psychology not normally discussed in the classroom. Sponsoring a colloquium series in which both faculty and guest lecturers introduced their work, the club drew attention to social psychology research, neuropsychological practice, and work within the area of forensic psychology. Efforts were made to prepare students for the future by supporting informational sessions about graduate schools and psychology-related careers. Movies and discussions also raised awareness of psychological issues such as autism and post-traumatic stress disorder. By presenting a diverse collection of material, the psychology club plays a vital role in connecting classroom knowledge to contemporary work in the field at large.

INTERNATIONAL STUDENTS ASSOCIATION

Around ten percent of Houghton students represent countries in the Far and Middle East, West and East Africa, Europe, South and Central America, the Caribbean, and the South Pacific. The International Student Association seeks to serve and unite international and third culture students. These students hold a common bond and add a worldwide perspective to the campus.

Working closely with the International Student Office, the ISA planned trips, activities, and seasonal parties. A new aspect was open office hours for coffee, conversation, and prayer. The biggest event of the year was the April 20 International Dinner. Members of the Houghton community, students, and faculty came to taste a variety of international foods made by ISA members.

ISA officers were as follows: President Feei-Dih Wu, Vice-President Jessica Filkins, Secretary Joy O'Donnell, Treasurer Stephanie Denis, Public Relations Directors Shirley-Anne Barham and Lynsey Ring, Chaplains Marshall Merriam and Adria Willett, and Advisors Dr. Paul Shea and Helen Fail.

MULTICULTURAL STUDENT UNION

The Multicultural Student Union (MSU) was created to provide opportunities for students to participate in activities that promote spiritual and moral growth. We are concerned and committed to actions aimed at the elimination of prejudice and assumptions regarding people from different ethnic backgrounds.

This year through our many activities, such as cultural escapes, we attempted to bridge the gap between the many cultures represented on campus. We have had the opportunity to join with student organizations such as the International Student Association (ISA) to cosponsor activities for our campus. Our joint Christmas party was successful in bringing a diverse group of students together. In the future, MSU hopes to join efforts with other student groups in order to provide diverse interactive experiences.

The Cabinet of MSU would also like to thank CAB for their support in bringing to life our idea for a "Culture Fest." And we especially want to thank all the devoted students who took the time to represent their culture at our "Culture Fest."

As president, I congratulate my staff and the devoted members of the Multicultural Student Union for their fine job of bringing Houghton College students together.

-Richard Staine

SKI CLUB

The Ski Club, a brand new group on campus, formed with the purpose of bringing together students and faculty who were interested in skiing. Members ranged in skiing levels from first time skiers to mogul-speed racers. We traveled to enjoy skiing and grow in skill to Holiday Valley, Swain Ski Center, and Kissing Bridge. Fun was had by all who attended.

Also through the club, an independent group of 41 people met and went to Smuggler's Notch, a ski resort in Vermont, over Christmas vacation for a week of skiing. Next year, we are planning to start a ski race team to train at Swain Ski Center as well as provide more opportunities for students and faculty to go skiing. We encourage anyone interested in the thrilling sport of skiing to join.

RESERVE OFFICER TRAINING CORP

ROTC set a new enrollment record this year, with 35 cadets first semester. Houghton had three scholarship cadets returning to provide the core leadership of this group. Weekly classes on small unit tactics, hand-to-hand combat, first aid and military traditions, as well as planning class each week prepared cadets for future leadership roles in the active army, reserves or national guard. This year for the first time two Houghton cadets, Troy Nelson and Jason Yanda, competed with the St. Bonaventure Ranger Challenge Team and earned the prestigious black beret. In November, thirty people from Houghton attended the annual Military Ball at the Castle. Other highlights of the year included the fall field training exercise, rappelling at St. Bonaventure, the rifle marksmanship lab and the Operation Wolf Creek.

Next year will see big changes for Houghton ROTC. Senior and two year Cadet Company Commander Jonathan Pante will be graduating this year and attending the Air Defense Artillery Officers Basic Course at Ft. Bliss, TX. However two scholarship cadets will be returning next year after exciting summers; Jason Yanda will be attending ROTC Advanced Camp at Ft. Bragg, NC and Kevin Bedell will be attending Airborne School at Ft. Benning, GA.

After this record year, Houghton ROTC looks forward to reaching for even higher standards next year and an even higher enrollment. -Jason Yanda

One learns many new skills on a Habitat for Humanity trip as Annie Schaffner can heartily attest.

It's a tough job, but Andrew McGrath and Deb Hibbert are standing tall.

HABITAT FOR HUMANITY

Dirt, spackle, concrete, paint chips, long drives in Houghton vans, and nights on a church floor. Not exactly the ideal Easter vacation? For many Houghton students it is! Habitat for Humanity is an international organization that helps provide low cost housing for families in need. The Houghton Chapter focuses on one trip, usually over Easter break, when students come together to serve the Lord. This collegiate challenge provides students with a hands-on opportunity to reach out to God's people in a tangible way. The chapter also works with the Wellsville affiliate in fundraising activities. This is faith in action! "If one of you says to him, 'Go, I wish you well; keep warm and well fed,' but does nothing about his physical needs, what good is it?"

O Lord, how manifold are your works! In wisdom you have made them all; the earth is full of your creatures.

~Psalm 104:24

HOUGHTON ENVIRONMENTAL CLUB

Stewardship in some circles has become a catchphrase which is used to defend the support of the environmental movement by Christians. Our goal on campus is to challenge this common misinterpretation and to reinstate our proper God-given role towards the natural realm.

The Scriptures relate a relationship between man and nature which is very often ignored in our culture today. In Genesis 1:2, God tells Adam to "Be fruitful and multiply, and fill the earth and subdue it; and have dominion over the fish of the sea and over the birds of the air and over every living thing that moves upon the earth" (NRSV). Further, in the story of Noah we read of the covenant made between man and God. The interesting thing in Genesis 9:9-10 is the reference to the covenant being established not only between man but also between the living creatures that had been on the ark as well. We as Christians are therefore commissioned to be stewards to the earth and the lives that inhabit it with us. This does not mean we worship the creation and ignore the plight of our fellow human beings, but rather we worship the creator and work to care for the earth as we should which will benefit all of mankind.

HEC is a relatively new organization on campus but we have a lot of ideas about how to actively pursue our call to stewardship. We encourage you to join us.

MUSIC EDUCATION CLUB

The Music Education Club currently has forty-five members who are studying to be music educators. The purpose of the club is to give prospective music teachers opportunities outside the classroom to become more prepared for the teaching environment. The club also allows for more spiritual, intellectual, and social interchange between faculty and students.

The club also sponsored an organ workshop led by Dr. Judy Congdon, and participated in the Phonathon earning two hundred and fifty dollars for the club. In December, the student teachers from the fall semester spoke to the club about their experiences and gave them advice about how to be prepared to student teach. Applicable activities such as these are what the Music Education Club is about!

GOSPEL CHOIR

The gospel choir, Voices of Soulful Praise, has weekly rehearsals in order to prepare for various singing engagements including ministering to different churches in the area, as well as performing in CLEW and chapel services. This year the choir had the opportunity to attend a music workshop at Shiloh Baptist Church in Buffalo under the direction of Min. Melvin Bryant. As a result of this engagement, the group held its first gospel concert in April at the Houghton Wesleyan Church in the village.

The members of the choir are always excited about reaching out and ministering through a type of music that is usually not very familiar to the community.

W J S L

WJSL focused this year on ministry and a desire to increase professionalism. The staff of WJSL was made up of six student managers lead by Professor David Manney, the General Manager. Approximately 30 students contributed this year their time by working on WJSL. Students filled on-air shifts during the day and several students pre-produced special programs, such as "The Hot Top 10 Count Down" and "The Lad Sneezed". The managers of WJSL tried to more effectively reach the college community and the surrounding listening area with its Inspirational/Adult Contemporary format. The staff of WJSL covered for the second year in a row a special live broadcast of the Homecoming parade as well as many of the events that made up the weekend. The staff of WJSL prays that God was truly glorified through the radio station this year through the staffs' willingness to be used in ministry.

ALLEGANY COUNTY OUTREACH

Allegany County Outreach is the big brother/big sister program at Houghton College that serves the children of our county from the ages of four to twelve. Through eight cabinet members and about eighty volunteer college students, we are able to currently serve about ninety children. These children come to us from schools, churches, welfare agencies, and various other contacts ACO has made through the years. In addition to spending weekly time with their little brother or sister, the big brothers and sisters attend monthly parties and a monthly prayer meeting for the children and families involved with ACO.

This year's none of the cabinet members had ever held a cabinet position in ACO before. We worked hard to learn from those of the past as well as to make some needed changes for the expansion and improvement of the organization. We revised the constitution and rewrote the mission statement. We also began holding a monthly prayer meeting with the big brothers and sisters to cover the organization and children with prayer.

The goal and mission of ACO is love. That is what we strive to give and show to our little brothers and sisters. We count it a great privilege to serve these children and realize the magnitude of God entrusting them to our care and influence. To some children, the times spent with their big brothers and sisters are the few times they feel security and acceptance. It is our desire to bring each of the children involved closer to Jesus Christ, ultimately delivering them into His kingdom. What they remember of us may be all they remember of God. Our wish therefore is that these be memories of love, peace, and joy. Our purpose is to adopt the children of Allegany County as our own little brothers and sisters through ACO and ultimately through their acceptance of Jesus Christ.

IMPRESSIONS

Junior, Shannon Bates and sophomore, Gabe Wanck led this year's mime team, Impressions, as they ministered to churches and youth groups. With many new members bringing their ideas, we were able to create new ways of interpreting scripture through skits and music.

We took two weekend trips to Pennsylvania where we performed at some members' home churches. God has worked tremendously within our group as our ministry grew in size and effectiveness.

CLOWN MINISTRY

You are eating lunch in the cafeteria on Sunday when you notice a funny looking character with a white face, red nose, and wild yellow hair. Is this an experiment testing social norms or a stressed-out upperclassman? Neither- it's merely one of the "Jesters for Jesus." We have had a very exciting year with the addition of several energetic freshman. On Sundays we travel to area churches presenting skits centered on the themes of love, servant hood, prayer, patience, and faith. While we minister to others we also minister to each other through prayer and growing friendships. If you have a crazy streak, enjoy applying makeup, and love people we would encourage to become a part of this wonderful ministry team.

WORLD MISSIONS FELLOWSHIP

World Missions Fellowship found many ways to make its presence known on campus in 1995-96. In addition to its traditional emphasis of informing the college community about missions, WMF has increased its emphasis on student involvement in missions both at home and abroad.

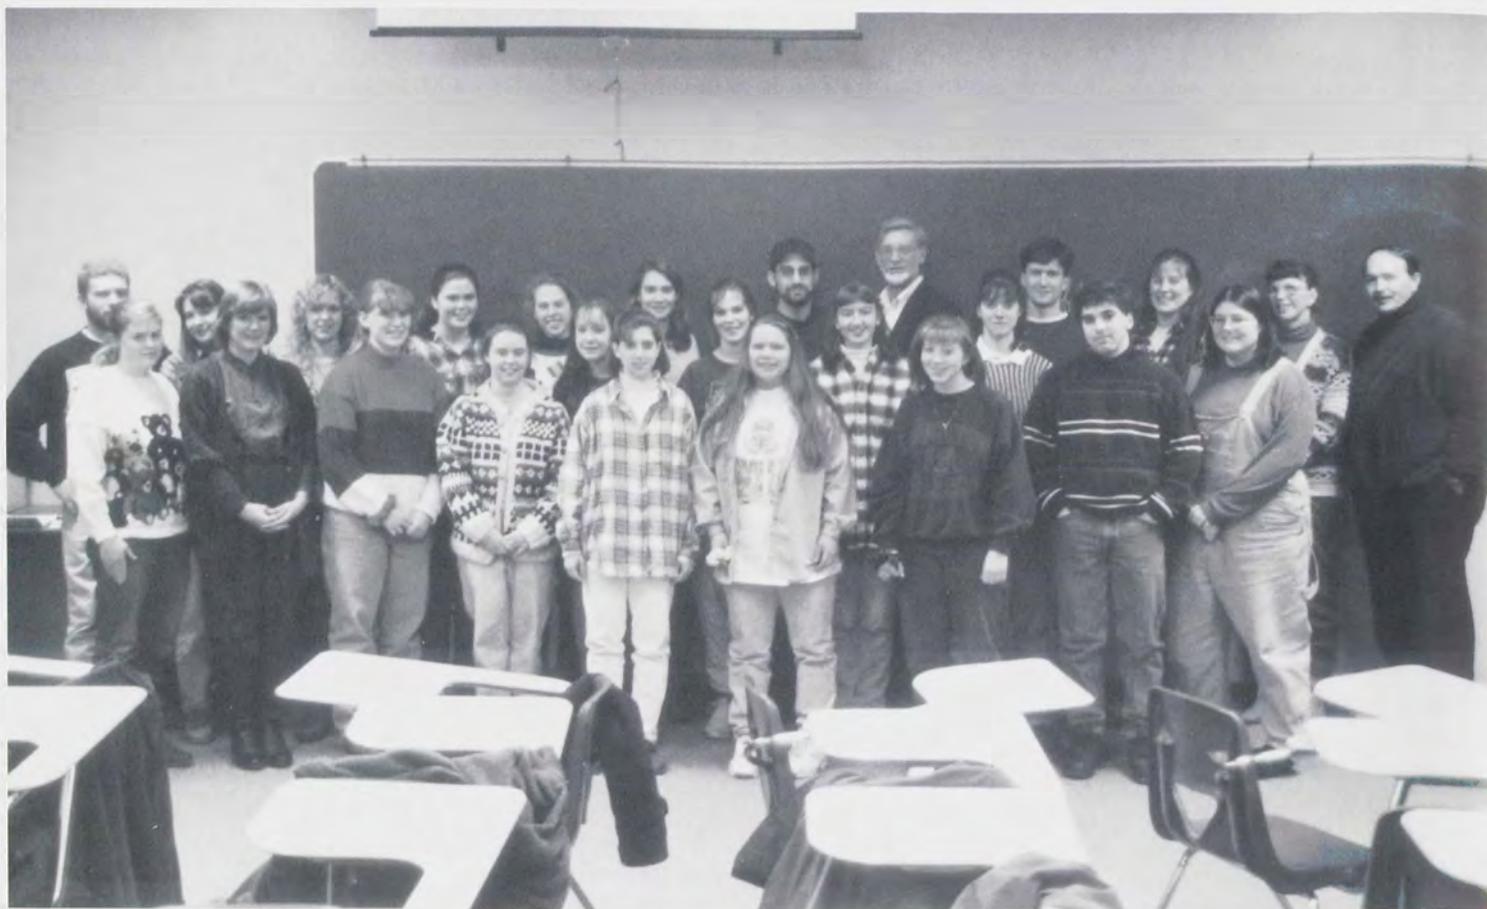

The regular activities of WMF included weekly meetings, prayer vigils, and outreach ministries. Students were exposed to missions through a trip to New York City over spring break and a trip to Mexico during the summer of 1995.

New Vision Week, a missions emphasis week sponsored and organized by WMF, was held from October 24 to the 27. WMF communicated the theme "Carry the Light" through evening services, chapels, and seminars. During the week representatives from twenty missions boards displayed information on short and long term missions opportunities. The Chamberlain Lecture Series and essay contest helped in the spring semester to place a similar emphasis on missions.

World Missions Fellowship rounded out its activities by providing financial assistance for a number of summer missionaries from Houghton and commissioning them during a chapel service. World Missions Fellowship looks forward to continued growth in numbers and commitment to missions throughout the coming school year.

YOUTH FOR CHRIST

The mission of Youth for Christ is "to communicate the life-changing message of Jesus Christ to every young person in Allegany County." YFC volunteers provide friendship and act as positive role-models for teens who desperately need to feel accepted and loved. This is mainly accomplished through weekly Campus Life club meetings that emphasize one-on-one relationships. Groups of five to seven Houghton volunteers travel to five different towns in Allegany County and run the club meetings. We play games, perform skits, and have lots of fun. We also lead discussions about issues that are important to the teens and share God's view on each topic. Most importantly, we build friendships and trust with the kids in our clubs. We try to show each teen Christ's love in both our words and actions and challenge them to give their lives to Christ. Houghton students have found YFC a wonderful opportunity to minister to the youth of Allegany County and to actively serve God.

EVANGELICALS FOR SOCIAL ACTION

"When the Son of Man comes in his glory, and all the angels with him, he will sit on his throne in heavenly glory. All the nations will be gathered before him, and he will separate the people one from another as a shepherd separates the sheep from the goats. He will put the sheep on his right and the goats on his left.

Then the King will say to those on his right, 'Come, you who are blessed by my Father; take your inheritance, for the kingdom prepared for you since the creation of the world. For I was hungry and you gave me something to eat, I was thirsty and you gave me something to drink, I was a stranger and you invited me in, I needed clothes and you clothed me, I was sick and you looked after me, I was in prison and you came to visit me.'

Then the righteous will answer him, 'Lord, when did we see you hungry and feed you, or thirsty and give you something to drink? When did we see you a stranger and invite you in, or needing clothes and clothe you? When did we see you sick or in prison and go to visit you?'

The King will reply, 'I tell you the truth, whatever you did for one of the least of these brothers of mine, you did for me.'" Matthew 25:31-40 (New International Version).

SALVATION ARMY STUDENT FELLOWSHIP

The Salvation Army Student Fellowship worships the Lord and works to show His love to others through their ministry. In the spring of 1995, they took a ministry trip to Florida. They stopped in various states along the way to hold meetings for local people. The SASF hopes to continue this kind of ministry on other trips. They also participate in local ministry at the Salvation Army Corps in Wellsville, in chapels and at other churches and nursing homes. All are welcome to be a part of this fellowship whether current members of the Salvation Army or not. They truly base their goals and activities on the Salvation Army motto: "A heart to God and a hand to Man."

Chi Alpha

Chi Alpha is a campus ministry under the Assemblies of God church. In Greek, Chi (X) alpha (A) is christou apostoli, meaning "Christ's sent ones". Here at Houghton we have a main meeting once a week where we have a time of testimony, prayer, worship, a scripture message, and fellowship. This year we also held a large prayer meeting to lift up the campus and met on four other days to pray with one another as well as with the campus.

Chi Alpha is a place of freedom where students can come and allow God to speak to them and move powerfully in and through their lives. Almost every week there is a guest speaker, from another campus that has a Chi Alpha chapter, who shares with us from the Word and encourages us with testimonies from their campus. We also travel to other campuses a few times a semester to evangelize and fellowship.

Since Chi Alpha is a national organization found on sixteen different campuses in New York. There are many retreats and conventions held throughout the year. In January there is a conference called XALT held in Syracuse; in March there are spring retreats held in each area of the state; in June there is usually a short term overseas missions trip; July hosts a leaders retreat called NYSICM, and in September there is a Singles Convention held in Binghamton. These functions are not only a unique time for great fellowship but they also provide excellent opportunities for students to be challenged in their commitment and knowledge of who God is and who they are individually in Christ.

All are welcome and greatly encouraged to come check us out! We need to step out and DARE to believe what God can do through us and is doing on this campus.

LORD'S LAYMEN

The Lord's Laymen is a group of Houghton students whose main goal is to minister and foster spiritual growth in the Houghton Community and the immediate area. In recent years, the group has sponsored a weekly small group Bible study, as well as various prayer vigils and the music ministry "Cloak of Zeal." Although they have undergone some minor reconstruction as to the group's immediate direction, the members strive to keep their common goal -- to serve Jesus Christ. Nowadays, the group's main focus is on music ministry, including new worship songs as well as original works written by group members.

Cha, we will never forget that Friday morning when you first arrived into this world. We had never seen a more beautiful 8 1/2 lb.
bundle. From that moment God just blessed us
beyond measure. We love
you Tadpole. Congratulations! Romans 8:38, 39
Love, Mom, Dad & Robyn

Melissa Garcia
 Congratulations to our daughter. May God bless you always.
 Love,
 Mom, Dad, and
 Tracy
 In all thy ways acknowledge Him and
 He shall direct thy paths. Proverbs 3:6

Congratulations to Megan,
 Our very own "Deedle Bop."

As we look back upon the years
 Filled with curls and Kitties
 and smiles and tears,
 We also look ahead and see
 A lovely you . . . being all you were meant to be.

Love, Mom and Dad
 Congratulations to my special sister. Love, Zachary

Kathy & Phil:

We sent you to Houghton for a first-rate education. You've achieved that and now it's on to graduation. We welcomed Phil into our lives and soon you'll be his beautiful wife.
 Our best wishes to the both of you,
 May you follow God's guidance
 your whole lives through.
 Congratulations and Love,
 The Hibbard Family

Dear Chrissy,
 Congratulations Graduate. At times the way was difficult and sometimes the end was misty and not in sight.
 But you have achieved the task set before you and have done it very well.
 We are extremely proud of you. As you enter this new chapter in your life, we know God has many wonderful things for you to do as you use this magnificent talent He has given you.
 We love you more than words can say.
 Love, Mom & Dad
 Philippians 1:6 "Being confident of this very thing, that He which hath begun a good work in you will perform it until the day of Jesus Christ."

Darrilyn Heisler
 Congratulations to our
 dear daughter. We
 truly love you and trust
 God with your future.
 Psalm 96:2
 Sing unto the Lord bless his name; shew forth
 his salvation from day
 to day.

Beth,
 We marvel at God's grace in giving you a gentle and sincere spirit of courage and perseverance as you have touched and experienced deep and wonderful things of God and life these past four years.
 We thank the Lord for every step, and with expectancy,
 wonder at the glory that is to come.

Love, Mom and Dad
 Zephaniah 3:17
 Romans 15:13

P.S. Definition of a "Putz"--the best sister a "Moron" could ever have.

I am so very proud of you child of my heart. With much love and prayers. Mom

Congratulations, Jason! May the great and glorious gift of music the Lord has given to you live forever in your heart.

Philippians 1:21

Bob Herrmann

Congratulations on a successful beginning to a long journey. May God bless you as you go on to share your faith and teach others what you have learned.
 We love you and are very proud of you!

Love,
 Mom, Dad, Vicki, and Chris
 2 Timothy 2:1-2

Jodi Lyn Mekeel

From the age of three, when your sister
 Beth, was a freshman at Houghton,
 you decided you would attend Houghton.
 You did, you made it through and we're proud of you.
 Congratulations, may God continue to bless you!

Dad and Mom

Heather L. Mazzullo
You've come a long way,
 Baby!!! To our wonderful daughter who made us very proud! Words can't express the joy we have in our hearts in seeing what God
 has done in you.

Proverbs 3:5&6

Love you,

Angels sent from heaven above,
 Now sent to serve God's child.
 Night passes while light of day
 Evicts the peril hiding . . .
 Take Hand, take Promise, take Compass.
 Today God's map and provision,
 Extended to God's child is received.

Congratulations, Jonathan Panté
 We are proud of what you have accomplished with the Lord's help. May God bless you always.

We love you!
 Mom, Donna, and Valerie

Proverbs 3:5-6

Valerie

You showed us your special uniqueness from day one, even though you came equipped with a look alike.

Thank you for sharing your faith walk with us.

Hebrews 11:1

ELIZABETH
 JENNER
 You are blessed with many gifts and creative abilities. Let your light shine as you use them for God's glory.
 We love you,
 Mom and Dad

Brent:

May you always hold to the integrity of Daniel 3:17-18,

If we are thrown into the blazing furnace, the God we serve is able to save us from it, and he will rescue us from your hand, O king. But even if he does not, we want you to know, O king, that we will not serve your gods or worship the image of gold you have set up.

Congratulations and love,
 Dad, Mom and Bryan

Christie-
Congratulations!
 Remember Proverbs 16:3
 "Commit to the Lord whatever you do and your plans will succeed."
 You are such a joy to us and we love you!

 Grandma. Isaiah 26:3&4

Nathan Brown

We are joyful for you and with you!

They who wait upon the Lord will gain new strength, they will mount up with wings like eagles Isaiah 40.

Whatever is true, whatever is honorable, whatever is right, whatever is pure, whatever is lovely, whatever is of good repute, if there is any excellence and if anything worthy of praise, let your mind dwell on these things. Philippians 4:8

Love, Mom and Dad

Congratulations Eddie!

I'm very proud of your hard work and effort. I praise the Lord for blessing me with such a loving and caring son. Continue to keep Him in the center of everything you do. Grandma and the family are also very proud. God bless you always.

Love, your
Mom

Dear Valorie Noel,

The Lord blessed me with a beautiful baby girl. What a joy it's been watching you grow into the beautiful young lady you are today. I'm so proud of the goals you've accomplished, and now as you begin a new adventure, I wish you all the Best life has to offer. May the Lord always be with you.

With Much Love,
Mom

Congratulations,
Holly Smith!

You have always made us proud, knowing your love for the Lord, and for anyone you meet. You always look for the good in others.

We love you.

Ange Szymanski

Servant hood - it's the new buzzword of the 90's. We are called to be scholar-servants or servant-scholars, whichever you prefer. We are told servant hood takes many forms, from holding the door for a stranger to writing a thought-provoking thesis. Too often though, those who most demonstrate servant hood are overlooked or taken for granted. We accept maintenance, custodial, kitchen, and support staff as part of life without stopping to thank or recognize these diligent laborers.

Amanda and I would like to reverse this trend. Specifically, we dedicate the 1996 Houghton College Boulder to Ange Szymanski, Custodial Department Head. During our year spent in the basement of the Campus Center, Ange has been a constant help and encouragement. From redecorating tips to opening the office door when we forgot our keys, his assistance was always timely and much appreciated. His commitment to the Lord Jesus Christ and to the students of Houghton College is evident in his daily work in the Custodial Department. Thank You, Ange! Surely God will one day say, "Well done, my good and faithful servant."

Some Closing Thoughts...

As I write this, the Boulder staff and I are in the process of finishing our final deadline and anxiously looking forward to going home. Serving as editor in chief has been a learning experience and a half and while I can't honestly say that it has ever been easy, I know that I've learned many valuable lessons. One such lesson was servant hood, a phrase we often hear around Houghton. I found myself surrounded by people, who though they would never say as much, can aptly be described as servants. My co-editor Mary Neterer voluntarily put just as much work into this book as I and without her I do believe I probably would have given up long ago. Mary kept me on track and helped organize the mass of information and photos that came our way. She truly was a blessing. Another important person that made this all possible was Carla Chapman. Appearing in our office her very first day here, she cheerfully agreed to teach Mary and me the ins and outs of putting together a yearbook. She conquered the computer and took on the massive responsibility of being our Layout Editor. She truly was our hero! "Super Steve" Dobrenski is yet another one of the many volunteers who went above and beyond the call to duty. Perhaps you may have noticed that a majority of the photos in this book are credited to him. Not only did Steve take photos but he has helped to develop many as well. These three people took a vested interest in the 1996 Boulder and invested much time and energy to make it a success. Other people have donated many hours and deserve my very heartfelt thanks.

To spotlight this idea of servant hood we dedicated the book to Ange for he is an inspiration as someone to emulate. Working year long to produce this book has taught me to appreciate the many unsung heroes on campus who quietly do their part. With this in mind, I'd like to encourage next year's editor, Jill Herman, as she prepares to pick up the reins. Further I'd like to encourage you, the students who may be reading this, to volunteer a few hours of your time to help her out next year. If you feel that this book is missing something, why not go down and make sure next year's Boulder is even better. I would also like to apologize first of all to the Hand bell Choir and secondly to all the Seniors who came out to get their photos taken in their majors. Due to unavoidable circumstances these photos could not be included. What can I say but "the best laid plans of mice and men...". I hope Stages adequately chronicles your year and I wish the graduating class of 1996 the best.

~Amanda McDonough

HERO!

When not hiding in the Boulder office, Amanda McDonough could be found hiking part of the Appalachian Trail with friend Mary. Once they found their way home, fun was had by all! (Photo by M. Neterer)

Taking on the responsibility of learning PageMaker on a Macintosh coupled with having to teach a bunch of ignoramuses how to put together a yearbook could drive anyone crazy, even the ever-patient Carla Chapman.

Not often seen in front of a camera, Steve Dobrenski repeatedly did the miraculous to save more than one deadline. (Photo by D. Delp)

~Special Thanks~

The 1996 Boulder staff would like to extend our gratitude to the numerous people who helped make this year's book come together. The following people deserve recognition for going beyond the call of duty ~ Ange, Dan and all the Custodial, Maintenance and Phone staff, for helping to keep our numerous messes and crises under control ~ Dean Danner, Rebekah Basinger, Christine Brain, Bruce Brenneman, Matt Webb, and Cynthia Machamer, for meeting with us throughout the year to offer suggestions and, in one particular instance, saving our sanity and deadline ~ Nathan Danner, for explaining the intricacies of the unfamiliar Macintosh computer ~ Shirley Jordan, for volunteering her advice and being a listening ear ~ the Mailroom staff, for cheerfully dealing with our massive amounts of mailing ~ Bill Greenway, Bob Smalley, and David Mee, for helping us with the sports section ~ Kim Gladden, Matt Webb, Greg Bish and all our friendly neighbors ~ Dr. Bressler, for editing copy ~ Dean Mannoia, for encouraging reluctant staff to get their photographs taken ~ Kin, for making us laugh ~ Mary Hemphill, for typing massive amounts of Senior quotes at the last minute ~ Denise Delp, Ann Burgher, and the many others who volunteered their time cropping photos ~ AJ Bunk, Christine Cogan, and Patty Sayre for rounding up photos for us ~ Kim Nichols, for his constant prayer and encouragement ~ And the many people who identified people and wrote copy. . . You're the greatest, THANKS!

~Colophon~

Volume 73 of the Houghton College 1996 Boulder was printed by Jostens Printing and Publishing Company, 401 Science Park Road, State College, Pennsylvania 16804. Larry McCullen served as the Jostens representative. This yearbook was produced on Aldus PageMaker 5.0 using a Macintosh Performa 636CD and the word-processing was done on ClarisWorks. The press run was 1250 copies at a trim size of 9 x 12 inches, with 256 pages including the inserted, Jostens produced, World Beat which covers the year in terms of world events and popular fads.

The cover is Maroon 490 with a Mission 1212 grain. The theme "Stages" is debossed in a Carpenter font and runs into a tool line on both ends. "Boulder 1996" is also debossed and written in a block font. Endsheets were printed differently front and back on Agate 268 cover stock. Both Carpenter and Block fonts were used on the front sheet and the school seal was printed at 30% black. There were 29 pages of process color that were placed in the opening Campus Life section. All body copy and captions were printed in 12 point Palatino and 8 point Palatino, respectively.

The photographs were taken by the Boulder's photography staff or submitted by either students or faculty. All portraits of the underclassmen, faculty and staff were taken by Knack and Richards Inc. which was represented by Mark Gabler. About 20 members served on the 1996 Boulder staff, assisted by numerous people throughout campus.
